Policeman's Daughter Raped by Gang

* * *

RESEDA, Calif. (UPI)—A respected, deeply religious police lieutenant whose 19-year-old daughter was raped in a home used as a hangout for motorcycle and hotrod club members shot and seriously wounded one suspect in police headquarters Friday.

Lieutenant Tom O'Neal, 41, a 15-year career officer, fired five shots with his automatic pistol as Carl Norman, 21, was being led down a rear hallway from the jail to a waiting car at the West Valley division of Los Angeles police.

"My God, Tom, no," cried Detective Sgt. John Shublette, who was escorting Norman and another suspect when O'Neal started firing. Norman was taken to Northridge Hospital wounded in the chest, arm and hip.

O'Neal, a plainclothes officer who heads the vice detail for the university division, was overpowered by a fellow officer and booked on assault with intent to commit murder. He broke down and became incoherent after the shooting.

Deputy Chief Thad Brown said O'Neal was distraught because of his daughter's overwhelming emotional collapse after she identified two men among those who attacked her five or more times Tuesday.

Buildup May Spur Big Red Reprisals

15,000 FROM KOREA?

SEOUL (UPI)—The government Friday approved a plan to dispatch 15,000 South Korean combat troops to Viet Nam, a move which could bring massive reprisals from Asian Communists.

* * *

The cabinet gave its backing to the proposal to send a full division and "necessary supporting units" to Viet Nam. It now goes to the national assembly for final passage. The legislators will begin a special session July 12.

South Korea now has 2,000 non-combat troops in Viet Nam. They include engineering units, a security force and medical teams. The Saigon government officially requested June 14 that more soldiers be sent.

UNDER UNITED NATIONS

Technically, all South Korean military forces are under the control of the United Nations Command. Informed sources said South Korea would ask the UNC to transfer operational control of the division sent to Viet Nam.

Such a move could lead to North Korea sending units of its army to aid the Viet Cong. Communist China also could be expected to react sharply to a South Korean troops buildup in Viet Nam.

ADDS TO SECURITY

A Korean spokesman said the war in Viet Nam directly and indirectly affects South Korea's security and that by sending Korean troops into the war the government could contribute to Asia's collective security.

Red Satellite

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia launched another unmanned satellite in its Cosmo series Friday to continue the study of space.

Dien Bien Phu

Historic Fort Bombed

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty U.S. Air Force planes worked over military targets Friday at Dien Bien Phu, symbol of France's defeat in the Indochina war by Communist - led guerrillas who are kin of the Viet Cong.

Strikes at the airfield and barracks of Dien Bien Phu, a jungle stronghold 185 miles west-northwest of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, highlighted a day of action on both sides of the Vietnamese border.

Pilots said they destroyed six barracks buildings, razed 12 other buildings and cratered the runway of the airfield in two 30-minute attacks.

NO OPPOSITION

They reported no opposition, air or ground, in that rugged area near the Laotian frontier where the surrender of Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries' decimated garrison to besieging forces of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap May 7, 1954, tolled the knell of the French colonial empire.

Big Wave Never Came

Beaches Deserted

Coast residents from Alaska to California fled beaches Friday evening ahead of a tidal wave that never came.

The tidal wave alert was spread following a major earthquake at Umnak Island in the Aleutians at 2:04 p.m. PDT. A wave, if it came, was expected to hit Vancouver Island about 7 p.m.

EVACUATIONS

In the U.S., Seaside, Ore., was evacuated, as was part of Crescent City, Calif.

Police in greater Victoria warned swimmers off beaches at 6:15 p.m.

On the West Coast, police, radio and telephone operators flashed the alert to isolated fishing, logging and mining settlements. RCMP officers warned more than 75 campers at Green Point on Long Beach.

ALBERNI IS WARNED

In Alberni and Port Alberni, hard-hit by the tidal wave of 1964, residents were alerted by radio, but there was no evacuation of low-lying areas.

Alberni Valley Search and Rescue Squad stood ready, along with auxiliary policemen.

The alert was called off shortly after 7 p.m. by John Erb, provincial civil defence coordinator.

"We got a good practice out of the thing, anyway," he said later.

Surfers Wait In Vain

GEARHART, Ore. (AP) — A resident of this Oregon coastal community reported that several teenagers refused to leave the beach when warned of a possible tidal wave Friday.

The resident said the boys—all with surfboards — told police they wanted to ride a really big wave if the tidal wave actually struck.

The wave never materialized.

Despite Holes

Robbery Worth Million

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Royal Bank of Canada accountant testified Friday mutilated money taken in a holdup here was worth its $1,200,000 face value—despite three dime-sized holes in each bill.

Gordon Smith told Magistrate Cyril White: "The fact that the money has holes in it does not in any way affect its face value."

He said money punched with holes remains worth face value until it is destroyed at the Royal Bank of Canada's Ottawa head office.

SPECIAL COURT

Mr. Smith was testifying at a special court sitting aimed at having two men in Scotland returned to Canada for trial.

Joseph Percival, 37, a former Vancouver police officer, and James McDougall, 32, were taken into custody by Scottish police last weekend on warrants sent overseas by detectives here.

The warrants charge the pair with the armed robbery of a downtown CPR warehouse Feb. 11 and possession of $12,000 of the money.

LEFT CANADA

A hearing will be held in Scotland under the Fugitive Offenders Act after Scottish authorities receive transcripts of the Vancouver sitting to determine if Percival and McDougall will be returned to Canada.

The pair left Canada after being committed for Alberta Supreme Court trial in Edmonton on the possession charge.

At Friday's hearing two CPR employees, shown pictures of Percival and McDougall, said they bore "a strong resemblance" to two of the four men who staged the robbery.

The bulk of the money was recovered June 11 in a Fairfield Road garage in Victoria.

Ranking Tory Charges:

Pearson Impairing Future Probes

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative frontbencher Gordon Churchill said Friday night Prime Minister Pearson has set a dangerous precedent in asking Chief Justice Dorion to make a change in his report on the Lucien Rivard affair.

Governments in the past haven't always been pleased with reports of royal commissions and special inquiries, said Mr. Churchill who held several cabinet posts in the former Diefenbaker administration.

But the Pearson government, as far as he can remember, is the first to ask for a correction in such reports. This might make it difficult for governments of the future to recruit prominent Canadians to serve on commissions.

"If reports of royal commissions are immediately to be found fault with by prime ministers, then this might make it difficult for royal commissions to act with that independence and objectivity that is desired," he said in an interview.

Mr. Pearson has written to the chief justice asking him to correct a statement in his report on high government figures seeking to get bail set for Rivard, who was being held here on extradition proceedings. He was to face narcotics charges in Texas.

Mr. Churchill, 67, a member of the Commons since the general election of 1951, said he thinks the report is correct in its interpretation of the matter.

Flash in the Pan, Pianist on the Run

VENICE, Italy (Reuters) — Russian concert pianist Vladimir Ashkenazy interrupted a Schubert sonata Thursday night to chase a bulb-flashing photographer from the stage.

The director of the theatre calmed the pianist, explaining that the photographer had only intended to honor him, and Ashkenazy resumed his recital.

Hanoi Radio Says:

Viet Cong Reject Wilson's Mission

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi radio said Friday the Viet Cong guerrillas have rejected the Commonwealth peace mission and branded its peace effort a trick to cover up U.S. "aggression" in South Viet Nam.

"The so-called 'peace initiatives' of (British Prime Minister) Wilson is but another trick aimed to extricate the U.S. aggressors from their predicament, to cover up their criminal acts of war and to divert the attention of world public opinion," the Viet Cong was quoted as saying in a broadcast heard here.

The Viet Cong stand put it in line with the Soviet Union, China and North Viet Nam in spurning the Commonwealth peace mission.

PEKING CONFIRMS

Peking's New China news agency also carried the report, made by a spokesman of the external relations commission of the central committee of the South Viet Nam National Front for Liberation (Viet Cong) Tuesday. Peking quoted the spokesman as describing the mission as a "trick of selling horse meat as beefsteak."

'IMPERIALIST SCHEME'

"The South Viet Nam National Front for Liberation holds the view that the 'peace mission' which Wilson is trying to form falls in completely with U.S. imperialism's scheme to check the advance of the national liberation struggle of the South Vietnamese people," the statement went on.

"This mission is only a signboard intended to hide the U.S. aggressive actions under cloak of peace."

To Go to War

Woman Walks 30 Miles

SAIGON (UPI) — A Vietnamese housewife travelled 30 miles to deliver four hand grenades to her soldier-husband and then fought side-by-side with him for their lives against the Viet Cong Communists, it was disclosed Friday.

The guerrillas were repulsed but both Pte. Nguyen Thi Nong and his faithful wife were wounded during the fighting.

* * *

The story began when Nong went home to Saigon from his post 30 miles northwest of the capital for a two-day leave.

Heading back to duty after his leave was up, Nong inadvertently left four hand grenades behind in his house. Mrs. Nong found them and went to the post to return them to her husband.

* * *

She arrived too late to get back home that night and Nong's commander gave her permission to remain overnight.

Early the next morning, Communist guerrillas attacked the outpost. The Nongs were in a foxhole. He fired his machine-gun while she hurled the grenades.

King Enters Fray: Peace for Asia

PETERSBURG, Va. (UPI)—Martin Luther King said Friday the United States must negotiate a settlement in Viet Nam and announced he was considering joining in "peace rallies" and "teach-ins."

"I'm not going to sit by and see war escalated without saying anything about it," said the Nobel-prize winning civil rights leader in his first venture into foreign policy.

The war in Viet Nam "must be stopped," King said. "It must be a negotiated settlement. We must even negotiate with the Viet Cong."

"We're not going to defeat communism with bombs and guns and gases," he said. "We can never accept communism. We must work this out in the framework of our democracy."

"We can beat communism with democracy, if we make democracy work," he told a rally sponsored by the Virginia branch of his Southern Christian Leadership Conference."

After Dorion Bomb Went Off

The Opposition Just Took Off

The House That Failed to Roar

By FRASER KELLY
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Members of Parliament have returned to their ridings leaving behind them empty halls and a session that ended with a bang — and a whimper.

The bang came Tuesday when the Dorion report exploded on the Commons scattering broken careers in all directions.

* * *

The whimper came Wednesday when the Opposition failed to mount a concerted attack on the government over the bombshell report, then sat on its hands while other business was rushed through the Commons.

But the reverberations of the report will be felt through the corridors for days, possibly weeks, to come.

Now there is an unseemly, and highly unusual fight between the government and the Chief Justice Dorion over one of its key findings. At stake is the integrity of Prime Minister Pearson. (See also Page 3.)

Charges will almost certainly be laid against several people as a result of the judge's conclusions. His scorching criticisms of the RCMP could prompt a major shakeup.

* * *

Guy Rouleau, Montreal Liberal, who was accused of "reprehensible" influence peddling while he was parliamentary assistant to Mr. Pearson, will likely resign, voluntarily or otherwise.

And the resignation of Guy Favreau from the justice portfolio will necessitate a cabinet change, if not a major cabinet shakeup.

The session that just ended was relatively short (85 days)

House Didn't Roar

but it was packed with important and controversial legislation.

Shortly after it started Milford Q. Sibley, an American college professor, appeared on the Canadian scene and refused to tell immigration officers whether or not he was a Communist.

They turned him back at the Winnipeg border opening a controversy that kept the government redfaced for weeks.

Pacifist Sibley, who had been refused entry as a security risk, was eventually allowed in. So he toured the country taking sheer delight in embarrassing the administration.

★ ★ ★

About that time the government introduced its long overdue measures to reform the rules and procedures of the House itself.

The reforms contained five basic measures: The allocation of time of debate; shorter question hours; longer sittings; more committee work and greater power for the speaker.

At first there were great cries of anguish from the Opposition which claimed the measures were designed to gag them through a "slow guillotine."

★ ★ ★

But the Opposition energies quickly dissipated when House Leader George Mallraith let it be known the government would call an election rather than back down.

It was also the session in which the government announced its war on poverty and established its company of Young Canadians—a watered down version of the U.S. Peace Corps.

It cut income tax 10 per cent and passed legislation which will encourage industry to locate in depressed areas.

Prime Minister Pearson introduced a major shift in the government's uranium sales policy which could pave the way for a $700,000,000 sale to France.

Canada will now insist that on all future contracts — even with United States and Britain—the uranium will be used for peaceful purposes only. Until the change Britain and the United States were exempted from the restrictions—much to the annoyance of France.

There were a great many other important, but less controversial matters.

State Secretary Maurice Lamontagne announced Canada would have color TV at Expo in 1967.

Defense Minister Paul Hellyer announced phase two—consolidation of commands — of his integration of the armed forces.

And there were always the bitter differences between the New Democrats and the rest of the house over U.S. and Canadian foreign policy in Viet Nam and Santo Domingo.

But the last major legislative battle erupted over Finance Minister Gordon's press tax legislation.

The legislation, which disallows tax claims for advertising in newspapers and periodicals which are more than 25 per cent foreign owned, is designed to keep the press Canadian.

Time magazine and Reader's Digest, the two largest publications in the country, were exempted.

While the members are resting—or politicking — in their ridings, the 10 provincial premiers and Prime Minister Pearson are preparing for the federal-provincial conference scedule to start July 19.

The conference promises to be one of the most significant and potentially explosive in years.

Highly contentious issues such as offshore mineral rights, medicare, more poverty programs, and international crime are on the agenda.

Shaw Letter Urged Prostitutes' Union

LONDON—A letter from the late George Bernard Shaw in which he suggested a trade union for prostitutes will be auctioned off here July 7.

Discussing what sort of a woman should be secretary of the union, Shaw wrote:

"No doubt the thing could be done by a very energetic, muscular and violent woman, with the devotion of a saint, and the arbitrariness and executive power of a prize-fighter."

The union was not formed.

Reds Staying Out Of Geneva Talks Until War Settled

LONDON (UPI) — The Soviet Union will not participate in further disarmament negotiations while the Viet Nam war remains unsettled, Communist diplomats said Friday.

The diplomats said the Kremlin sees no prospect for agreement on major disarmament questions at present and will turn down the latest request from the West to resume the 17-nation Geneva talks later this month.

LITTLE CHANCE

Western officials in Geneva said it was now unlikely the disarmament conference could resume at all this year because of Soviet opposition.

(They said hope had been abandoned for resumption of the talks on July 13 as proposed by the United States and the odds were worsening for any more talks this year.)

NEUTRALITY

British government sources said meanwhile Russia will not call an international conference to deal with Cambodian neutrality. On April 3 the Soviets proposed to Britain that the Geneva Conference be reconvened to guarantee Cambodian neutrality.

Britain and the Soviet Union are co-chairmen of the conference.

The foreign office said Friday, however, a "communication" had been received from Russia this week dealing with the Cambodian situation. No details were disclosed.

Authoritative sources said the note informed Britain that the Kremlin was not prepared at present to engage in the conference.

NO REPLY

The United States has proposed that the Geneva disarmament talks be resumed July 13, but there has been no reply from the Soviets. Authoritative diplomatic sources said there was no chance the Russians would agree to resume the session.

The diplomats said the Russians do not want to meet while the Viet Nam war is on and said the Soviets do not see any chance for concrete disarmament agreements.

SOLIDARITY

They said the Russians must show solidarity with the Socialist camp and cannot be seen publicly negotiating with the United States at present, ostensibly because the Chinese Communists then would accuse Moscow of joining "imperialist" forces.

The diplomats added, however, that the Soviets are anxious to resume the disarmament talks sometime in the future.

Pearson Defended

Implication of Lie Preposterous–Favreau

MONTREAL (CP) — Former justice minister Favreau said Friday night any implication or insinuation that Prime Minister Pearson "would have lied, indirectly or directly, to the House of Commons is preposterous."

Mr. Favreau also said in a radio interview he feels the references to him in the Dorion report have not weakened his political position.

At one point, he remarked, "next week I will be in a different cabinet post." But he did not elaborate on this remark in any way.

He said that if the Opposition had been led by Davie Fulton, Leon Balcer or Premier Roblin of Manitoba, the controversy over the case of Raymond Denis would not have been "personal as a way of destroying a man."

His reference to the prime minister touches on differences between Mr. Pearson and Chief Justice Dorion of Quebec Superior Court. In the report, the judge interpreted Mr. Favreau's testimony to mean that the justice minister told Mr. Pearson about the involvement of his assistant, Montreal MP Guy Rouleau, Sept. 2.

Mr. Pearson told the Commons he did not know of Mr. Rouleau's implication in the case until Nov. 23.

CORRECTION ASKED

The prime minister has written Mr. Justice Dorion asking for a public correction in the report. The judge said he would not change "one iota" of the document. Mr. Favreau himself issued a statement Thursday night denying he had said Mr. Pearson was informed of the Rouleau matter Sept. 2.

Mr. Favreau resigned his post as minister Tuesday as a result of the Dorion report on allegations of attempted bribery and coercion by federal officials in the extradition case of Lucien Rivard.

Raymond Denis, in 1964 an executive assistant to the minister for immigration, was said by the report to have offered a $20,000 bribe to promote Rivard's freedom on bail. The report questioned the wisdom of Mr. Favreau for his decision not to take the original bribe allegation to court when he was first informed of it, but Mr. Favreau's integrity was not questioned.

The former justice minister said that the MP who first broached the Denis affair in the Commons, Erik Nielsen, could have come to see Mr. Favreau with the facts he had gathered and he could have "been given the minister's views or the minister could even have revised these views."

In the English language interview on the CBC radio network, Mr. Favreau said a minister of justice "can and must make decisions upon his own responsibilities."

He said he didn't feel it was necessary to consult with the other experts in his department before making his decision.

"I have no regrets," he said, concerning his decision two years ago to enter federal politics. But he added, "there are things that I should much prefer had not happened."

Body's Vitamin A Content Absorbed by Mineral Oils

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: Does taking mineral oil destroy Vitamin A? If so, could you recommend some other oil which might not have that result? I am 50 and have a duodenal ulcer. I miss the roughage and raw vegetables that I used to eat and this leaves me with a problem of bowel irregularity or constipation at times.—E.B.

I wouldn't say that mineral oil destroys Vitamin A. Rather, it absorbs it, Vitamin A being one of the oil-soluble vitamins. Since mineral oil is not absorbed by the body, it thus carries away some of the Vitamin A which otherwise you would be getting.

However you have quite a variety of other methods which give good results and will not irritate your ulcer or any other part of your digestive tract.

Various bulk-producing and moistening agents (medications containing dioctyl sodium sulfosuccinate, or such things as psyllium seed preparations or agar) are excellent and safe.

Milk of magnesia, with its mild laxative effect, is preferred by some people. Prune juice is another useful one: It is well tolerated by ulcers and is a good laxative.

Dear Dr. Molner: What is an angiogram? Just what is done and how does it differ from an ordinary X-ray?—MRS. E.G.

Ordinary X-rays will show bones and cavities in the body very clearly, such as in chest X-rays, for example. However X-rays do not show blood vessels very well, unless these are hard and contain calcium in the walls. Hence the blood vessels appear to the X-rays to have approximately the same density as surrounding tissues. In other words, they don't show up very well.

However, a small amount of a special dye can be injected into the bloodstream and this casts a heavy shadow in the X-ray pictures.

Then a series of X-ray plates are taken rapidly as the dye flows along, and you get a very useful picture of the blood vessels—any narrowed places, etc. These are angiograms.

Dear Dr. Molner: Can you tell me anything about Hoffman-Werdnig disease? My youngest died of it at five months. We have three normal children, and cannot trace this disease in either of our families.

Will our children have babies with this disease, or can it appear in them later in life? Our doctor said he had never seen the disease before.—MRS. A.G.S.

That's understandable because it is a rare disorder which occurs in infants under the age of one year. (It is featured by a wasting of the muscles of the trunk.)

The cause is not known but it appears to be a defect in the nerves supplying these muscles.

The disorder is known to occur in families, but I have not seen any data indicating that geneticists have been able to trace it to any specific defect in the genes.

The other children are older; I doubt that any of them will develop the disease. Whether they might transmit the condition to their children is problematic; all I can say is that we have no reason to think they will.

Suspect Shot After Rapes

The attack occurred at a house in this quiet San Fernando Valley city where the girl had gone to sell cookbooks. Police said 12 to 20 men were inside, all members of different speed groups, including three from the notorious Hell's Angels.

Since Thursday, when the O'Neal girl made the identification, "she has been in such a state of shock that she is acting like a child."

Brown said medical examination confirmed Miss O'Neal's story that she was raped at least five times and was "subjected to other mistreatment. Only her father could get anything from her, but after Thursday she could not say anything and is having psychiatric treatment."

Norman and Allen Smith, 18, were to be taken to municipal court for arraignment of narcotics charges that arose in connection with discovery of marijuana in their room during interrogation regarding the O'Neal case. Norman had not been charged with rape although he was a suspect, police said.

From what police have been able to reconstruct about the rape, they were told the girl knocked on the door and a man named Rick opened, inviting her inside. She said there were five men in the room and Rick, along with a man she identified as George, said "we are going to rape you."

She said she was taken to a bedroom where she was attacked by all five.

Historic Fort Hit

Twenty U.S. Navy pilots hit the Nam Binh oil tank farm in a raid that sent up 12,000-foot smoke columns that should have been clearly visible in Hanoi, 40 miles to the northwest. This strike was five miles closer to North Viet Nam's capital than any previously announced.

In Saigon, a U.S. spokesman said South Vietnamese troops killed 120 Viet Cong guerrillas and captured eight in three ground operations. Most of the casualties were reported inflicted in a fight in South Viet Nam's Thua Thien province, 400 miles north of Saigon.

Air strips at Cheo Reo and Soc Trang came under Communist mortar attacks before dawn. Briefing officers said three helicopters were damaged at Cheo Reo, 220 miles northeast of Saigon, and one helicopter crashed due to mechanical failure after it took off to evade the shelling at Soc Trang, 100 miles southeast of Saigon.

Some of the 500 U.S. marines newly-landed at Qui Nhon, 270 miles northeast of Saigon, swapped shots with guerrillas for 10 minutes in a clash near the town's air strip.

There were no casualties among the marines.

Lt. - Gen. Victor H. Krulak, commander of the U.S. 7th Fleet marine force in the Pacific, said more marines could join the force of nearly 17,000 whenever they are requested by the commander of U.S. forces in South Viet Nam, Gen. Wil-

About One Sentence in Report

Neither Pearson, Dorion Yields on Differences

OTTAWA (UPI) — The government and Chief Justice Frederic Dorion Friday remained firmly at odds over a one-sentence statement in the Dorion report questioning the integrity of Prime Minister Lester Pearson.

"A misunderstanding," said Pearson on his way out of a three-hour cabinet meeting.

"There is nothing to change," snapped Dorion in Quebec.

"I don't have to discuss this matter with everyone," added Dorion.

Dorion up to late Friday appeared even unwilling to discuss it with Pearson. He had not yet replied to a letter written him Tuesday by Pearson.

A Pearson aide said a telegram was received from Dorion but all it did was "acknowledge receipt" of a copy of the seven page denial of the Dorion sentence by former justice minister Guy Favreau, who resigned his portfolio Tuesday because of some other sentences in the Dorion report.

'MAY BE ERROR'

In Pearson's letter he asked the judge to point out evidence substantiating the questioned statement in the report. "It may be that the passage is in fact in error," wrote Pearson.

The new eruption over the Dorion report evolves around the question of whether Favreau actually told Pearson on Sept. 2 that his parliamentary secretary Guy Rouleau was involved in the bribery and coercion scandal.

Dorion says he did. Pearson and Favreau say he didn't.

Cabinet Changes Shortly

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson said Friday he hopes to announce cabinet changes next week.

He made it clear the changes will include appointment of a new justice minister to replace the resigned Guy Favreau.

Did he plan to announce some cabinet "re-adjustments" he was asked.

Yes, very shortly, he replied. There is now a vacancy in the justice portfolio and it should be filled.

Residents Evacuated

Fire Rages Near Lumber Town

NEWCASTLE, N.B. (UPI)—A rampaging forest fire skirted the nearby lumbering community of Douglastown Friday and raced in an easterly direction through rich timber about six miles from this Miramichi valley community.

A sudden shift in the wind carried the flames away from Douglastown, where residents had been prepared to evacuate their homes. The fire, one of 42 burning in the province's parched woodlands, had galloped unchecked over more than 2,000 acres of dense forest. It had burned to within 500 yards of Douglastown.

Weary forestry personnel were concentrating their efforts on three major blazes, all in northern New Brunswick. Every available piece of fire fighting apparatus was being marshalled for the battle, which has been raging for five days.

Federalism in Danger

ONE OF THE GRAVE dangers facing Canada's unity at the present moment is that its minority government at Ottawa has neither the strength nor the determination that is characteristic of the majority of the separate provincial legislatures.

The inability of the Pearson government to operate the affairs of the country is not entirely its own fault. In its minority role it has to tread softly where it should be showing a firm decision.

This unhappy state of inertia at Ottawa is in sharp contrast to the powerful regimes headed by Premier Stanfield in Nova Scotia, by Premier Lesage in Quebec, by Premier Roberts in Ontario, by Premier Roblin in Manitoba, by Premier Manning in Alberta, and by Premier Bennett in British Columbia.

All of these provide strong governments outshining in endeavor and initiative the national government, and perhaps on a personal basis the prime minister himself.

Under this set of circumstances there are many close observers of the Canadian scene who will declare without equivocation that too many provincial tails are wagging the national dog.

The result of such a state of affairs must be a weakening of federal influence to the detriment of national concord and unity.

At a recent talk to the members of the Investment Dealers Association of Canada, its president Mr. R. Bruce Shaw said that Canadian unity was the most important requisite to a successful Canada. He disapproved of provincial tactics in which each attempted to outdo the other in vieing for political favors, and in creating subsidies and other gimmicks to attract new industries in spots where they are not economically suited.

The federal government has gone into its summer recess leaving behind an alarming pile of unfinished business of national importance to be squeezed into the fall and winter sessions.

How this backlog of business is ever going to be caught up by a minority government, even under the new speed-up rules to which the House has subjected itself, remains to be seen, but clearly no great progress can be expected so long as a minority rule at Ottawa remains.

Until that is ended, the figures of Lesage, Bennett, Robiln, Roberts and even Joe Smallwood will tend to overshadow Canadian affairs to a degree that could be far from good for the state of the nation as a whole.

The Picker-Uppers

MEMBERS OF THE British House of Commons have been accused of lacking in chivalry because none of them attempted to help 61-year-old Labour Party Whip Mrs. Harriet Slater to her feet after she tripped and fell flat on her face during Thursday's parliamentary session.

How different things are in Canada's House of Commons!

Here, every time the prime minister falls flat on his face he is immediately set right side up not only by his own followers but by members of every other party represented in Parliament.

True, in many instances, the help rendered Mr. Pearson over his frequent stumbles may not be prompted by any sense of chivalry on the part of those who seem interested in keeping him on his feet at all costs.

But whatever their other reasons may be they are apparently sufficient to guarantee that Mr. Pearson remains in his present position for as long as he chooses.

Among Mr. Pearson's most ardent helpers are those 30-odd Conservative Party members who consistently absent themselves from the House whenever there is a vote of confidence.

Second only to these major Pearson picker-uppers is the large group of NDP members who, regardless of their much advertised high principles and ideals, rush to the prime minister's aid every time he totters.

Nor can the Social Credit and Creditiste joint team of upsy-daisy boys be forgotten with their devotion to the game of knock-down-the-government-on-the-hustings-but-prop-up-Pearson-in-the-House.

With such political enemies as these Mr. Pearson hardly needs friends.

What Is Freedom?

HOW TO MAINTAIN the freedom of the press has been the subject of legislative interest recently in more countries than Canada, but nobody seems to know what the real definition of "freedom" really is.

In Canada, Finance Minister Gordon appears to think that the freedom should be for Canadians to own their own papers, and to make that ideal stick he has introduced a much criticized advertising tax gimmick that will make it almost impossible for a foreign-owned newspaper to operate competitively.

In other countries, particularly those on the other side of the Iron Curtain, the freedom of the press is the freedom of the government to use it in what it considers the national interest, although in this case the national interest and the government interest are almost invariably likely to be identical, true or false.

In Britain, the legislative worry about the press of that country is the fact that the leading newspapers are relentlessly being absorbed until the ownership of nearly all the nationals has fallen into the hands of one or two firms.

To prevent the last of the independents disappearing in the same way as their contemporaries, the British House of Commons has unanimously approved a bill that will make it a criminal offence for anyone to sell a newspaper, or other periodical, without first winning the approval of the Board of Trade—a government department.

Anyone who transgresses this law will be liable to not only an unlimited fine but also a jail sentence.

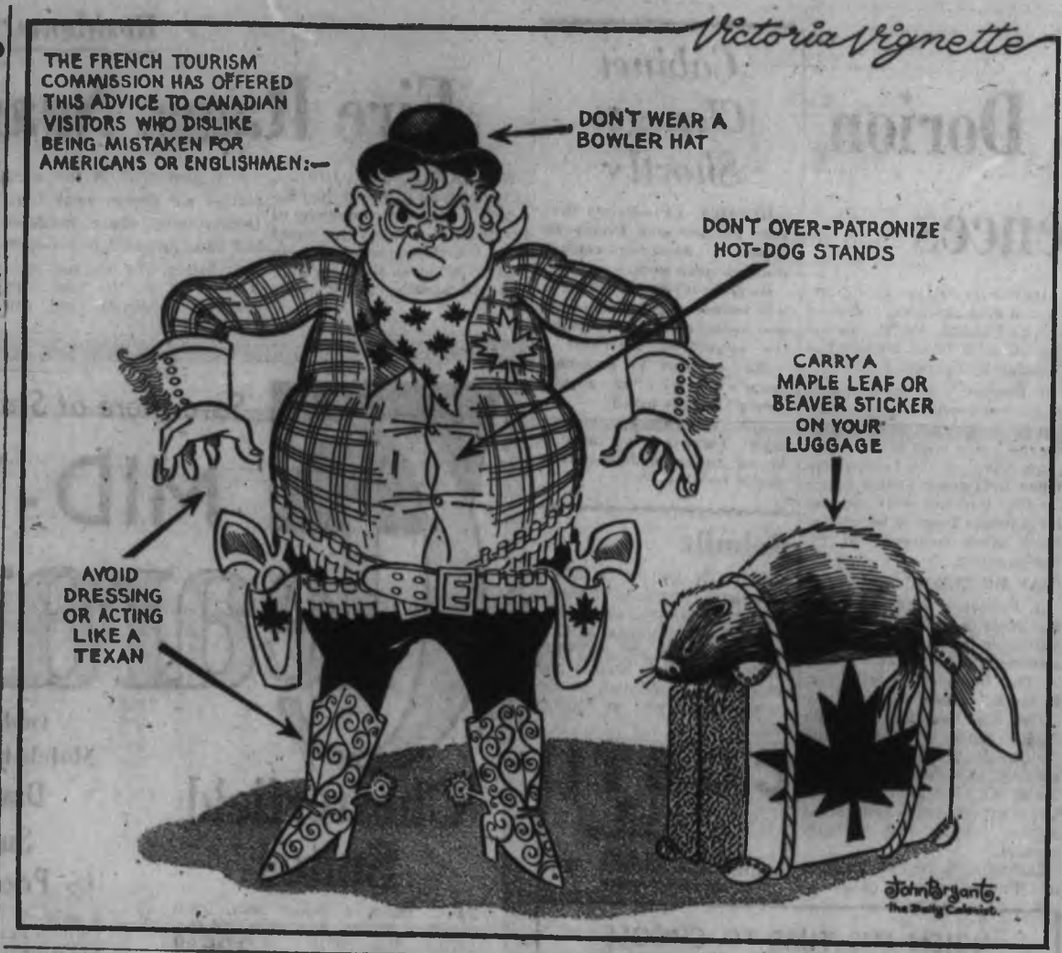

When some Conservative members in the House demurred against the harshness of the mandatory imprisonment, it was pointed out that a fine alone would not deter some of the press barons in their plans. In other words the British government is putting offenders to the full rigor of criminal law.

There will be many, however, who will disagree that either the Canadian or the United Kingdom government has the average man's interpretation of the freedom of the press. Indeed it is a point on which Mr. John Doe might not be able to give a very clear answer himself.

But if somebody in authority said that comics, or some other widely read newspaper feature had to be abolished, he might take a more positive view.

Too often the freedom of the press is taken for granted. It does not become an issue until it is either threatened or lost.

Paradoxical Situation

Yugoslav Liberals Win the Day

By JOHN RUTHERFORD from Vienna

WHILE Yugoslav President Tito is busy consolidating old party ties and ideology with the Soviet leaders, his country is committed to a more daring move economically than it or any other Communist state has so far contemplated.

It is a paradoxical situation in one way. The country's economic ailments are forcing it from orthodoxy towards drastic reforms in line with a Western-style market economy. The problems have become so acute that the "liberals" advocating such reforms seem now to have finally defeated the party "conservatives" who still talk of capitalism and its methods as untouchable.

But politically, ideologically, the country is being more closely identified within the general Soviet alignment than at any time since the Stalin-Tito split 17 years ago this June.

That feud ended in 1956 with Khrushchev's admission of the dead Stalin's errors and misdeeds. There was a "honeymoon" until Yugoslav sympathies with Poland and Hungary, and Belgrade's controversial party program, again disrupted Soviet-Yuvoslav relations. A year or so later harmony was restored under the pressure of the Sino-Soviet dispute.

Since 1962 — the year Tito followed up Khrushchev's meddling with the arts with a furious attack on Yugoslavia's own cultural avant garde — the two Communist parties have moved steadily forward to the sort of intimate relations already established at the state level.

Today the past is not only forgiven but intended to be forgotten, as young Mihajlo Mihajlov discovered when Tito hauled him before the court for his candid surveys of current Soviet life. (On appeal Mihajlov's nine-month sentence has been cut to a five-month suspended sentence.)

For all his approval of Mr. Khrushchev, Tito—like others—seems now to be regarding his successors as an improvement; and he is not going to have anyone in Yugoslavia antagonizing them.

In his view, Messrs. Kosygin and Brezhnev are, in their quieter, cautious way, likely to achieve two things:

(1) Creation of a better relationship—and, through it, better discipline—within the Communist world—at least in that two-thirds of it which recognizes the "seniority" of Moscow's experience; and

(2) Giving the Communist system per se a better world image.

But Tito himself these days has to be something of a split personality. The old revolutionary in him still hankers for the once traditional solidarity grouped around the Soviet Union. For him, Russia is still very much the revered "cradle of the revolution."

He may be a "revisionist." But when he finds the authority and prestige of his party wearing thin and shrugged off by a younger generation which cares nothing for the "revolution" and the "partisan struggle," then he leans more towards the ideological disciplinarians — the orthodox Russians—than to the Yugoslav philosophers who are plaguing him with demands for intellectual freedom.

He is, on the other hand, compelled to embrace domestic economic policies far, far advanced beyond Liberman-ism or any other managerial relaxations the men in Moscow are now conceding. Tito, the "conservative" party traditionalist, once complained there were more "economists" in the party than Communists. But there is no denying the present economic mess and the need for change. A system half-controlled and half-free has run into chaos.

Sweeping reform to remove old doctrine has long been pressed by men like Vladimir Bakaric, the able and flexibly-minded Croat party leader and one of the "younger, modern-minded" men of the Yugoslav leadership. In a recent speech, he insisted that only the "laws of the free market" and non-interference by the state can solve the country's economic ills. He condemned the present overhang of the old "state capitalism," as a result of which efficient enterprise is crippled because of the state's excessive interest demands on capital provided to make them efficient.

According to Bakaric, it is false economy to bleed the country's advanced republics to help the backward ones. He wants the latter aided not just on the basis of "how much" (from the others) but in method —how they can develop themselves under a free market.

Boldness now is to be the order of the day, even to the point of a further devaluation of the dinar — expected this autumn or early in 1966 — and opening up the country to outside investment. It will not be long, in fact, before Yugoslavia has its Hilton-owned hotels; or one of the big oil companies galvanizing its tourist services.

The "liberals" say these things have been talked about too long. Action is planned to let the home market find its own levels and to give the dinar a realistic rating in the open world market, in place of the present system of subsidizing the currency to give export a totally artificial boost.

The "liberal" economists agree that this process will be painful for a time, that the adjustment will be hard and complicated. But they insist it is the only one offering a chance of balancing the economy and at the same time raising living standards.

The Silken Glove Treatment

By RICHARD JACKSON, Colonist Ottawa Bureau

THE Grits, rumbled Old Tory Chief Diefenbaker matter-of-factly the other day, should ship the PM out of the country more often.

In taking this jab, he obviously thought he was needling Prime Minister Pearson.

And perhaps he was.

But at the same time, and perhaps not quite unintentionally, he was complimenting his old House of Commons friendly-enemy External Affairs Minister Martin.

★ ★ ★

Apart from dispensing the parliamentary brickbats and bouquets, though, what he was really getting at was this:

In the two weeks or so that the prime minister was over in London at the Commonwealth conference, Parliament got more real, good, hard and productive work done than in perhaps a month of ordinarily routine fumbling and stumbling.

Even the atmosphere of the House was different.

There was an incredibly amiable air about it.

Instead of the usual snarls, unusual smiles.

And at times the Opposition—all four sections of it, Tory, New-dem, Socred, Creditiste—seemed in danger of falling over itself in the co-operative rush to "me-too" the administration.

So how come? What happened?

Paul Martin happened, that's what.

That old smooth-as-country-cream "Oom Paul" took charge and with his political and personal expertise transformed the place.

The contrast was so marked — not just this most recent time, but on a couple of previous occasions, too — a whisper of gossip made the Commons rounds that Mr. Diefenbaker was master-minding a campaign of what they were calling "co-operative parliamentarianism" to undermine the PM.

The idea was to make "Oom Paul" look so good the PM would look bad.

But while it might have been an intriguing, even entertaining possibility, it simply wasn't so.

They didn't have to conspire to make Paul Martin shine.

For he hasn't become the Old Pro of all parliamentary pros in his 30 years in the Commons because he didn't bother to learn the finer tricks of the political trade as it's plied here on The Hill.

★ ★ ★

As acting prime minister he gets things done in the House simply because he knows best how to do them.

Knows instinctively how, when, in what circumstances to apply the old butter oil to whom.

And when to spread a little horseradish into the parliamentary mix.

He co-operates with the Opposition—even appears to, when, in fact, he really isn't being understanding and helpful at all.

But he has the infinitely skilful knack of sounding as if he believes the Opposition is being sincerely constructive in its criticism and questioning.

And lo, doesn't it find itself being just that, co-operatively constructive? No longer, now, to its astonishment.

★ ★ ★

He turns this trick, and it's a nifty, with some pretty fancy political and parliamentary sleight of hand.

He may be vastly irritated, but never shows it.

He could be deeply worried, but who could tell?

When the Opposition asks a question he listens, and leaning forward like the clever actor he is ever, gives the clear, sharp impression that nothing could possibly be quite so important as that question.

And when he answers it's with studied care and consumate courtesy.

Never flustered, never panicked, always calm, invariably considerate, he long ago discovered, human nature being what it is, that appreciatively, the Opposition responds to this silken glove treatment with respect often approaching affection.

He warms the cockles of the House heart with intimate little flattering references to MPs who question him, throws in the odd "in" parliamentary joke, and conducts the Commons in pleasantly knowing manner of a gifted professor presiding over and sharing in the discussions of a senior university class.

And what a switch from a couple of years ago that is.

Then, "Oom Paul" in Opposition was bombing the Conservative government with all sorts of outrageous questions and daily kicking up such a considerable commotion in the Commons as to contribute, perhaps more than any other Liberal MP, to the downfall of Mr. Diefenbaker.

He made an art of infuriating the prime minister, irritating the cabinet collectively and sandpapering the nerve-ends of the ministers individually — just as he anoints these same men, now in Opposition, with a gently soothing touch of sweetly smooth verbal oil.

What an operator!

Today in History

By The Canadian Press

General George E. Pickett's division of 15 Virginia regiments made their charge up Cemetery Hill at the battle of Gettysburg 102 years ago today—in 1863—and breached the Federal army's first lines before they were wiped out. The charge, in which 3,393 of 4,800 officers and men died, marked the turning-point of the American Civil War and became one of the most famous events of military history.

323—Constantine won the battle of Adrianople, reuniting the Roman Empire.

1620—The Treaty of Ulm secured the neutrality of the Protestant Union in the early part of the 30 Years' War.

First World War: Fifty years ago today—in 1915—J. P. Morgan, the American financier, who acted as Britain's financial agent in New York, was shot at and wounded by a German professor, who later committed suicide in prison; German aircraft raided Harwich, England.

Second World War: Twenty-five years ago today—in 1940 — Britain interned French naval ships in British ports and bombarded the French fleet at Oran, sinking a battleship, an aircraft carrier and two destroyers and damaging others; the torpedoing of the Arandora Star, with the loss of 1,600 out of the 500 British crew and 1,500 German prisoners, was announced.

Washington Calling

Lesson of Algerian Decline

By MARQUIS CHILDS

THE rush of world events threatens to obscure the bitter lesson of Algeria. It is, above all, the lesson of a leadership neglecting the gravest problems at home for revolutionary adventures in the Communist and non-aligned worlds.

The score as it is being added up here in the aftermath of Ben Bella's overthrow is a massive defeat for Red China. If and when the Asian-African summit conference is held it will fall far short of the goal set by Chou En-lai.

For two years or more Chou has personally directed an effort to rally all African and Asian states behind the Peking line. The conference was to be a sounding board for intensive denunciation of the United States. Chou himself travelled thousands of miles in Africa and Asia to persuade leaders of newly independent states to follow his revolutionary, anti-Western policy and support rebellions in the Congo and elsewhere.

On his recent visit to East Africa he was rebuffed by Kenya's Jomo Kenyatta and no other state welcomed him. Now with the collapse of the regime he backed in Algeria—a regime that has seen the rapid decline of a once-prosperous country—his plans are frustrated temporarily at least.

But it is the lesson of decline and decay that is significant. Algeria while it was a French colony exported large amounts of grain and wines. Large farms cultivated under the colonial system were highly successful producers.

In recent years food supplied for the most part by the United States has fed up to one-third of the Algerian population. Without it there would have been mass hunger and perhaps even famine. This help through PL 480, the law covering the disposal of American surplus farm products for local currencies, went on while Ben Bella was trying to establish his leadership in Africa by delivering arms to the Congolese rebels.

France through these same years has been providing aid at a rate of about $100,000,000 annually. Of that amount roughly half has been provided without strings so that it could go to make up budgetary deficits or for any purpose.

In assessing the failure of Ben Bella the background of independence achieved in 1962 must be taken into account. Independence came after a seven-year Moslem revolt against French forces at one time numbering more than a half-million. The horrors of what was, in effect, a civil war—torture, violence, widespread sabotage—were perpetrated by both sides.

Once a truce had been signed and the Algerians voted for independence, Ben Bella as head of the new government moved rapidly to replace French managers and technicians. This was understandable in light of intense nationalistic feeling and the hatreds growing out of the war. But, unfortunately, Algerians lacked the skills and the discipline to take over. That was true on the farms as well as in industry.

The number of French in Algeria has dropped from about 1,000,000 to less than 100,000. With this more or less forced migration — the French were made to understand they had no place in the new Algeria—went virtually all the trained personnel that had kept the country running.

Granted this great handicap, the fact remains that Ben Bella never faced up to the reality of beginning again with training programs as part of a determined effort to build the country on a new basis. Those who know best say that he spent about 70 per cent of his time on the attempt to make himself a world leader and the balance on Algerian problems which he scarcely comprehended.

Despite the country's desperate needs, he spent large sums on grandiose ventures. According to one estimate, he put $25,000,000 into preparation for the Asian-African conference. This included new hotels, a whole colony of luxurious seaside villas and a big conference hall. This was also an investment for tourism and they were to be used for a Communist dominated international youth festival in July. But they took scarce resources and skills at a time when the country's economy was rapidly slipping.

★ ★ ★

The estimate of the specialists here is that Ben Bella's overthrow by Col. Houari Boumedienne had little to do with the crisis of food and employment. It was a power struggle with Boumedienne moving before he was himself removed. Like so many other newly arrived leaders, Ben Bella apparently believed there was a kind of magic in words—the slogans of nationalism and the incantations of Marxism-Leninism. They were of no avail against the stern realities.

Faster, Anyway

Making Progress?

By SHAUN HERRON from Lowell, Mass.

EVERY man should have a friend. I have a friend. Her name is Helen. She is rich, generous and one of the most beautiful women I have ever known. We spend a great deal of time together, at her home in town in the winter and in summer at her farm in New Hampshire. Sometimes my wife and children tag along. My wife is tolerant. Helen is 74.

In the year 1772 her great-great-grandfather set out for New Hampshire from Harvard to found a congregation in the hills. His young bride rode with him. Two hundred acres awaited them on which he would build a home and a church. All of which he did. The land grant was made by a man named Hill who had a large royal grant, some of which he was willing to spare for the public good. So Hillsborough, New Hampshire, was born and still is.

Great-great grandfather had a family, was struck by lightning riding on his pastoral rounds, and died. His son opened a store in their little town, married and had a family. There were seven children of which Hammond was the eldest.

I drive to Hillsborough from here in one and a half hours. When Hammond was a boy, barter was business and when they had produce to ship to Boston in exchange for goods, they took four days to make the journey, in a wagon. The stagecoach did it in three.

When Hammond was 12 his father sickened suddenly and died, at the age of 42. Next year, Hammond shipped out, a boy of 13, to earn his living. He travelled two days to Nashua —now one hour from Hillsborough—and was apprenticed as a tailor to a Mr. Dean.

He learned his trade and worked at Mr. Dean's new establishment in Lowell; in time he married, had children, one of whom was Helen's father.

He did not remain a tailor, however. He saved, placed his money shrewdly, helped various small local enterprises to the capital they needed, and not by inadvertance, became a banker.

When Helen's father was ready to go to work, he went to work in her grandfather's bank and in time owned it. He was a man of power and substance and in his day you could drive to Hillsborough in about six hours if the car would stay mobile that long. So, in one generation Helen's family could return to their roots in less than one-quarter of the time it took 13-year-old Hammond to leave them.

When they returned to their roots they found brothers, cousins and kin in every house in Hillsborough.

There still are fewer than 24 houses in the village. This year, cousin Francis died. Now Helen is the only founding kin in the village and executives from Bethlehem Steel or equivalent industrial complexes own the others and no doubt will soon own the now empty house in which cousin Francis spent her summers. Helen still holds the original 200 acres and a vast accumulation of family wealth.

I have been spending some time with her in Hillsborough, reading grave stones in the village burying ground, and for hours on end deciphering the carefully kept handwritten records of an honorable Yankee family.

I love these Yankees. Now and then somebody writes me, with light knowledge, about "these godalmighty Americans" and there are Americans and Americans just as there are Canadians and Canadians, not all easy to love. But these Yankees were a breed apart and their remnant is a breed apart. To some it may be a dreadful thing to say of say one, but to me it is a word of honor to say of them: they are comfortable people to live with. By which I mean, for those who hate all comfort, that you can trust them. They are that exceptional thing today: men and women of the word—their word. One can turn one's back on my Old Yankees. And that's a nice feeling.

I was sitting by a wood fire reading grandfather Hammond's account of his boyhood and of his trials as an apprentice tailor—and 12-hour a day general help — when news-time came on the radio.

There was news from Weir, New Hampshire, of a motorcycle rally, over to the East, by the sea. These modern cowboys — or saddle tramps—of the age of rapid transport and subsidized delinquency, had taken over the town.

A group of Canadian motorcyclists were set for a drag race on the commandeered main street when along came an impudent family motorist, expecting to get through. With him were his wife and their two children, one aged two and the other seven months. The enraged sportsmen overturned their car, set it on fire, separated father, mother and children, and the riot was on. Cars were burned, stores wrecked and it took the National Guard to put down the lunacy.

Great-great-grandfather went from Harvard to Hillsborough on horseback. His children and grandchildren came and went by wagon and stage coach, then by train and automotive device, quite slowly. Helen in her Buick makes her stately progress to and fro on good highways in one-and-a-half hours.

Those young Canadian and American motorcyclists could do it in 35 minutes.

And they get 90 miles to the gallon.

We are making progress, don't you think?

100 Years Old Tomorrow

Centenarian Looks Forward to Future

At 100 years old, most people look back.

Richard Guest does quite a bit of this, all right, but he also looks forward.

Today, Mr. Guest looks forward to entertaining a host of friends and relatives who will be there to help him celebrate his first century.

GARDENING

Throughout the summer he looks forward to harvesting the vegetable garden that he put in at his home at 1819 Lillian Road this spring.

"And I hope to do a little gardening next year, too," he said Friday.

He will actually reach his 100th birthday on Sunday, and he is not particularly excited by it all. "But I never thought I'd live to be 100," he said.

He and his wife, Edith, 88, have been married 68 years, and they have nine children, all living.

There are 10 grandchildren and 21 great-grandchildren, but no great - great - grandchildren can be expected for a few more years.

Mr. Guest came to Canada at 23, but returned to the old country for a visit before he came to stay at the age of 25.

STAKED FARM

He staked out a farm in Manitoba and stayed on it until he was 80 years old. He was still helping pitch the sheaves the year he retired.

He attributes his long life to abstinence from smoke and drink.

The open house today will be held from 2 to 4:30 p.m. for all relatives and friends.

When the family gathers, it will come from all corners of North America. His daughters include Mrs. William Maclin of Miami, Mrs. Kenneth Harbur of Seattle, Mrs. William Page of Manitoba, and Miss Viola Guest of Victoria.

His sons are Garnet, who is a 67-year-old Winnipeg man; James, Gordon and Clarence, all of Victoria, and Cecil, from Vancouver.

Federal-Provincial Meeting

Victoria Host for Parley

Victoria will be the site of the first federal - provincial conference ever held outside Ottawa, it was learned here Friday.

The conference will be held here sometime in 1966.

Premier Bennett, back from an inspection trip in the Prince George area, made the disclosure yesterday. He said Prime Minister Pearson had agreed to a proposal B.C. made some months ago.

The move is the start of "a great drive I am making for Canadian unity," Mr. Bennett said. No date has been set.

The premier suggested the idea originally to mark the centenary next year of union of the Crown colonies of Vancouver Island and the mainland.

Several weeks ago, he complained that there had been no answer from Ottawa on the B.C. request, and said such major meetings held in various parts of Canada would help unify the nation.

B.C. BANK

Mr. Bennett didn't want to talk about his government's bank plans.

Asked why he said in Prince George that he would not seek to buy any shares in the proposed Bank of British Columbia, the premier replied: "You know very well that I won't defy the laws of the country in any way."

But when asked what his next move will be regarding the bank, he said: "I don't want to show all my cards at once."

Indian Troops Withdrawing

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — Indian troops began withdrawing Friday along the entire Indo - Pakistan border, an Indian defence ministry spokesman said here.

The spokesman said the move was part of a continuing process — started Thursday with the lifting of leave restrictions — following Wednesday's Indo-Pakistan agreement on a formal ceasefire in the Rann of Kutch border area.

Pulp Team Studies Japan Mill

Resources Minister Williston said Friday the B.C. pulp industry has sent a technical team to Japan to investigate reports of odorless pulp mill operation.

He received a cable confirming that Honshu Paper Co. would co-operate with the B.C. group by opening the Kushiro mill to them and discussing smell-suppressing methods.

Mr. Williston's report of the absence of the usual kraft process odors was greeted with some skepticism by the industry here. He said he was glad technical men are going to check his findings.

TV Employees Get Bargaining Agent

The National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians has been certified bargaining agent for employees of CHEK-TV Victoria, by the federal department of labor.

Local 73 president James O'Brien announced Friday. The association represents all technical employees at both CBC and CHAN-TV in the Vancouver area, he said.

RUSSIANS STUDY HARD

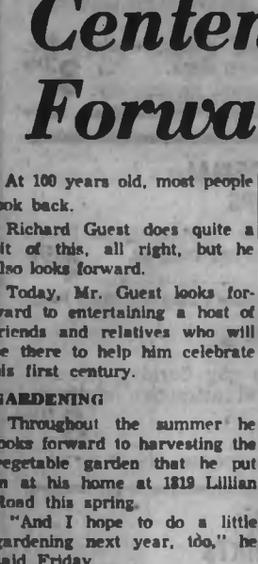

Before the Second World War 15,900,000 Russians had completed secondary education, as opposed to more than 76,000,000 today.

World Champ Enters Competition

The holder of four world championship chopping contests is the latest entry for All-Sooke Day sports July 10.

And if H. D. Jeer of Jawett, Conn., should win the seven contests he signed up for, he will be richer by $500.

Officials of All Sooke Day celebrations have set prizes in a higher category this year and from the entry list it looks as though the manoeuvre is going to pay off.

HIGH HOPES

Mr. Jeer has entered in tree-chopping, timber-chopping, peavey log-rolling, power saw bucking, log-bucking, axe-throwing and a new contest called hard hitting, based on an Australian contest. Object of the hard-hitting contest is to see how few axe strokes it takes to go through a log.

Smashed Prairie Gang

Famous Officer Leaving RCMP

Retirement of an RCMP officer who served in Victoria for a number of years was announced Friday.

Supt. J. T. Parsons, 58, well-known in RCMP circles for practically wiping out a gang in a 1932 gunfight in Saskatchewan, will retire here after a six-week trip to England this summer.

He was posted here in 1953 and also was in charge of the RCMP's Whitehorse subdivision before going to Ottawa in 1960.

25-YEAR CAREER

"It was the only time I had to do any shooting," Parsons said in an interview at the end of a colorful 35-year career.

Three men, brothers Mike and Ed Kuryluk and ringleader Bill Miller, had been raiding Prairie stores when Cpl. L. V. Rail stepped into their path one night in Foam Lake, Sask.

They shot him down in the street.

"He left four or five kids and we went after the gang in a big manhunt," Supt. Parsons said.

He was a constable at Kelvington with only two years on the force, but he and an old hand from Wadena moved north into the poplar bush in the Kinlock region.

The 25-year-old constable and his companion surprised the fleeing desperados, captured young Mike Kuryluk and engaged in a wild gunfight with the other two men.

The constable wounded Kuryluk in the hip, slowing him down to the point where he was easily caught later and sent to the gallows. Mike got 15 years.

Bill Miller got away and committed suicide in the bush.

Vatican Hints at Visit

Pope Invited to UN

VATICAN CITY (A.)—Pope Paul, history's most-travelled Roman Catholic pontiff, has been invited to visit the United Nations. Vatican sources said Friday he well may go, probably next year.

The Vatican broke weeks of official silence on published speculation about such an unprecedented papal visit to the United States in a press office communique which said Pope Paul had expressed his appreciation to UN Secretary-General U Thant for the invitation.

* * *

The communique said it is premature to say when, or whether, the Pope might go to New York. But the fact that the announcement was made by the Vatican at all was taken as an indication that the Pope has the trip under serious consideration. General belief is that he has not definitely made up his mind, but is inclined to accept Thant's invitation.

* * *

Vatican sources commented that if he does not intend to go to New York, the Vatican press office probably would not have been authorized to make an announcement that might later cause disappointment.

There was no indication whether he would travel in the U.S. beyond the United Nations.

* * *

No reigning pontiff has visited the Western Hemisphere.

Msgr. Alberto Giovannetti, Vatican observer to the UN, said in New York Thursday it is hoped the pontiff would visit the UN during its coming 20th session. That session convenes Sept. ", recesses for Christmas, and resumes next year.

Glimmer Of Hope For Market

BRUSSELS (Reuters) — The gloom hanging over the Brussels headquarters of the European Common Market lifted slightly Friday as France agreed provisionally to a meeting of ministers of the six member countries July 26-27.

Reliable sources said Thursday that France would block further development of the Common Market by not sending ministers to meetings, following failure to agree on agriculture prices and tariffs. Important decisions affecting the market have to be unanimous.

French Ambassador Jean Marc Boegner said he has not received instructions to stay away from the council of ministers' meeting. Another meeting of the council with Turkey, was also scheduled Friday, for July 28.

There was no assurance, however, that France would actually send a delegate or that if one was sent he would be empowered to consent to any important decisions.

France refused to agree to a proposal by the executive commission which would turn over the proceeds of agricultural and industrial tariffs to the Common Market's parliament, which would have to be given added powers to spend the money.

Coronary on Highway Goes Unnoticed

EUREKA, Calif. (UPI)—Car after car swerved around the pickup truck blocking one lane of a busy two-lane highway near here Thursday.

Inside the truck Kenneth E. Frank, 40, was dying of a heart attack.

Authorities said Frank suffered the attack about 9:30 a.m., and brought his truck to a halt in the road.

It was 2:30 p.m. before a motorist stopped to investigate and found Frank dead.

Is the pocket-book sized Olds really as easy to own as it is to park?

It certainly is!

And for a very good reason—this Oldsmobile is slightly shorter. This makes the F-85 easy to handle. And easier to own. That's why we call the F-85 the "pocket-book" sized Olds.

Mind you, you're still buying an Oldsmobile. And you're still getting Oldsmobile value. With Oldsmobile luxury and power. Make no mistake, F-85 is every inch an Oldsmobile. You just get fewer inches, that's all... to give you a greater choice of parking spaces.

See your Oldsmobile dealer soon. Find out how easy it is to put an F-85 in your driveway.

Extreme Caution, Campers Warned

Forest Fire Fear Gathers Momentum

B.C. Forest Service officials, fearful that they may find themselves coping with a disastrous forest fire season, Friday issued a new appeal for care in the woods.

All woods users, officials said, should use extreme caution with campfires and cigarettes.

During the past seven days, 118 new fires were reported in the province, and the majority of these were blamed on careless campers and smokers.

The hazard is high in Vancouver forest district, which includes Vancouver Island, and predicted high temperatures over the weekend are expected to increase the risk of fire.

There were 43 new fires in the district during the past week, and estimated fire fighting costs so far are $26,500, compared to $3,400 at this time last year.

At last report all forest fires in the province were quiet. Some 80 fires are still burning.

Throughout B.C. there have been 870 blazes this season costing an estimated $456,400.

The Noise Is Gone

ATLANTA (UPI) — Mrs. Lucy McDonald, who has been hiccuping since July 8, 1963, underwent surgery Friday and a hospital spokesman said shortly after she was taken from the recovery room that "she is not hiccuping at this time."

Vacation School Keeps Them Busy

Some 150 Victoria children have deserted swimming pools, backyard swings and baseball fields every morning for the past week, in favor of attending the vacation Bible school at Hill Memorial School.

Coming features in the two-week session include new crafts such as making beach bags and scissors, for girls, wax carving for boys, ceramics and shell pictures.

The school closes down Thursday. The closing exercises program includes demonstration songs, a Bible quiz, and numbers by a 100-voice choir.

Rally Reaches Fourth Day At New York

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market put on a surprising show, rallying in late trading to score its fourth straight advance.

Little had been expected of the market in advance of the three-day Fourth of July weekend. The market will be closed Monday.

In the final hour of trading, many key issues rang up good gains.

Although it had a hugh gain under its belt from the previous three days, the market ignored such negative signs as a drop in the U.S. gold reserves to lowest level since October 1938, a rise in unemployment in June and a drop in factory bookings in May.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials up 3.56 on Thursday rose again by 3.57.

General Motors advanced 1⅞ at 98⅛, American Telephone 1 at 68⅛ and Ford Motor ⅜ at 53⅜.

Chrysler gained ⅜ at 47⅜ and Studebaker ⅛ at 20⅛.

International Business Machines and U.S. Smelting gained more than 3 points.

Standard Oil (Indiana) advanced about a point while Texaco and Royal Dutch were ahead by about half a point. Jersey Standard lost around half a point.

Boost for Burns

TORONTO (CP) — Higher main list prices and light trading marked stock exchange activity Friday.

The rise was a continuation of Wednesday's advance, the largest of the year. Canadian exchanges were closed Thursday, Dominion Day.

In the main list, Texaco and Levy Industries each gained ⅞ to 49⅞ and 14⅛, and Price Brothers ⅜ to 40. Stelco, Domtar and Calgary Power each tacked on ⅜ at 28⅞, 20 and 30⅜, respectively.

Burns gained 1¼ to 25¼, and Harding Carpets A was ahead 1 to 29. Moore Corp. rose 1⅛ to 70⅜ and Interprovincial Pipe 1 to 91½. Bell Telephone, Canada Iron Foundries and Chemcell each advanced ⅛ to 59⅛, 50 and 18, respectively.

Senior base metals bounced ahead. Mattagami Lake rose ⅜ to 17 and Hudson Bay 1 to 69. Inco tacked on ⅜ at 91 and Cominco ⅛ to 41⅞. Noranda rose ⅛ to 48⅛.

Golds were higher with Kerr Addison up 10 cents to $8.10 and McIntyre Porcupine ahead ½ to 78.

Senior western oils advanced with Canadian Superior up ⅜ to 20⅛ and Central-Del Rio and Home A each ahead ¼ to 11⅞ and 17⅜. Dome fell ⅛ to 16½.

Mines Make Gains

VANCOUVER — Trading was quiet but prices continued to pick up from recent low levels.

MacMillan and B.C. Forest each gained fractions and Massey rose to 30 among industrials.

In mines Endako was strong at 14.75, and gains were also recorded in Bethlehem, Granduc and Western.

Speculatives also advanced including Texmont, Arlington, Kamloops, New Cronin, New Imperial and Sunshine Lardeau.

Textiles Stronger

MONTREAL (CP) — Banks were off despite the general trend.

Canada Cement added one point to 54 and Chemcell ⅜ to 18. Dominion Textile was up ⅛ to 34.

In senior oils Texaco added ½ to 50 and Shell ⅛ to 15⅞. BA lost ⅜ to 31½ and Imperial ⅛ to 52⅜.

Metals were higher. In the base section, Hollinger added 1⅛ points to 26⅜ and Hudson Bay Mining and International Nickel rose one point to 68½ and 91⅛. In the primaries, Steel of Canada added ⅜ to 28⅜ and Dominion Foundries ¼ to 27¼. Algoma fell ⅛ to 67.

Woollens Expert Says:

British Shrunk from Japan

By HARRY YOUNG
Business Editor

Those who like to back long shots should have a word with John Balcon, the man who represents the British Woollens industry in Canada.

He is willing to lay 100-to-one be used by any woollens manumarked London Shrunk will be made in Japan and not in Britain.

During a visit to Victoria Friday, Mr. Balcon explained that London Shrunk has nothing to do with the place of origin of the material.

"Lots of people don't know that London shrunk is a method used in treating cloth that can lens manufacturers are taking a facturer," he explained. "If a woolen fabric is made in Britain it will almost invariably carry a "Made in Britain" label.

Mr. Balcon says this is one of the reasons why Japanese woollens manufacturers are taking a bigger share of the Canadian market.

The Japanese are concentrating on lightweight woollens and in the past three years their concentration has paid off.

In 1963 they sold 1,667,556 square yards of material in Canada, or three times as much as the 549,325 square yards they sold in 1962.

During that period British woollens sales have dipped from 7,027,681 pounds in 1962 to 3,938,475 pounds in '964, and the British share of the Canadian woollens imports is down from about 70 per cent to less than 50 per cent.

The British are not the only ones to have lost to the Japanese. Even more harder hit have been the Italians whose Canadian sales have dropped from 2,497,353 pounds to 2,004,878 pounds.

Mr. Balcon says that Canadians regard British woollens as the best they can buy and when they see an imported label they believe it must emanate from Britain.

'MISCONCEPTION'

"This is a misconception" he said. "We would like the Canadian government to insist that all woollen articles imported into Canada should identify the country of origin."

Canadian regulations insist on this in cotton goods and many other lines, "so why not woollens too?" asks Mr. Balcon.

The main offenders he says are not the foreign manufacturers but their Canadian distributors.

Mr. Balcon pulled a swatch of cloth out of his pocket and showed on its label a map of England and Scotland.

FROM JAPAN

"This cloth was imported from Japan, and the label was put on by a Canadian firm of distributors. Obviously it is an attempt to create the impression that a British article is being offered."

Despite the difficulties besetting his industry, Mr. Balcon remains an optimist.

"Fortunately people in Canada realize that for quality and endurance British woollens are the best in the world," he said. "That's one thing nobody has been able to take from us."

Coffee House

Really Down Under

MELBOURNE (AP) — You know how some people like their coffee houses to be dimly lit caverns isolated from the rest of the world? If a group of young Australians get their way they'll have a beauty—500 feet under a dam near Melbourne.

A bearded classical guitar teacher, Geoffrey Bird, 23, is the leader of a syndicate which plans to establish a coffee house deep down an old gold mine, disused since before the turn of the century.

They plan to set up a chamber in the mine to seat 30 persons who will sip their coffee in the light of antique kerosene lamps. The mine is close to where gold was first discovered in Victoria in the middle 1800s.

The group will have to get approval of the mines department and various other authorities before they can put the scheme into action.

OTTAWA (CP)—Traffic records are being set on the St. Lawrence Seaway this season. More than 14,300,000 tons have passed through the eastern section of the seaway in the first three months of the 1965 season, a four-per-cent increase over the record set last year.

Parnell Stones Rocks With Six-Goal Effort

NEW WESTMINSTER—Paul Parnell got back at Victoria Shamrocks here Friday night.

Held to one goal in Victoria Wednesday night under rugged checking, Parnell came back to score six last night, three in the final period, as New Westminster O'Keefe's beat the Rocks, 15-12, in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Shamrocks, who won that Wednesday night game, 13-6, had appeared to have everything going for them Friday. New Westminster was without scoring star Cliff Sepka and had to replace goalkeeper Les Norman with junior graduate Ken Ridd. Both Sepka and Norman are vacationing.

But they couldn't stop Parnell.

Ahead 2-0 at one point, the Rocks trailed 5-3 at the quarter and 10-6 at the half as goalkeeper Skip Chapman had one of his coolest nights of the season. Alf Shuker replaced Chapman in the second half, and the Rocks struck back to trail by only one goal, 11-10, going into the final period.

ALL PARNELL

Then it was all Parnell. With three goals already, Parnell brought his season total to 40 by beating Shuker three times on bounce shots. Each shot killed a Victoria rally, one of which brought goals by Reg Foster and Nirmal Dillon just four seconds apart.

Larry Clarkson scored three times for the Rocks, Reg Foster, Terry Davis and Larry Biggs twice. Ron Jay had five assists.

Japanese Swimming Hole More Like Doughnut

Unique Japanese swimming pool, 25 feet wide and 1,500 feet in circumference, allows bathers to float in rubber rafts or swim in water that moves at rate of three feet per second. It's five feet deep and surrounds regulation diving and racing pools. — (Fednews)

Some people are birdwatchers. I'm a fanwatcher. And there is one type of fan I detest above all others.

For purposes of identification, I have tabbed him the Flap-Tongued Lookbacker, genus Loudmouth.

The Lookbacker is readily recognizable by his loud voice, belligerent attitude and incessant cry of "Knock, Knock."

For that is his purpose in life. He knocks things.

Nothing about sports today is as good as it was when he was a boy. Without waiting for an invitation he'll flap up to an unsuspecting target, scream "Lookback! Lookback!" and tell you no player today could play on the same team with the iron men of his youth. No one today, coach, player or official, is doing anything right.

The Lookbacker flies from game to game, rapping everything in sight. Constant exposure to the Lookbacker has been known to contaminate a guy in the next seat, who goes home an apprentice Loudmouth and by next game is a full-fledged Lookbacker.

Victoria is infested with them. This year they are attacking Victoria Shamrocks.

Today's Tempting Target

Shamrocks are a tempting target. They've never been higher than a third-place tie in the four-team Inter-City Lacrosse League all season. They are beset by injuries, their team is spread all over Vancouver Island, and they've got a coach young enough at 24 to give the Lookbackers great sport.

You can hear them any night at Memorial Arena, cawing idiotic questions. Just for the record, here are a few answers:

Why isn't Jim McNeill playing instead of coaching? He's too damn young to coach.

McNeill isn't playing because his employers prefer that he does not. Although he is dying to play, he has quite sensibly put his career ahead of his interests.

And no one can justifiably question his coaching ability, because he's never really had a chance to prove it one way or the other. How can you coach a team that has one player in Vancouver and four in Nanaimo? Just try running a practice half your club can't attend.

Why wasn't Tom Druce made coach after his fine record with the Junior Shamrocks?

Druce isn't coaching the Shamrocks because he was not the Shamrocks' choice. There has been too much bitterness between senior and junior clubs in the past to make such a move feasible.

When it came time for the directors to pick a coach, Druce's qualifications were acknowledged, but his name was not put up.

What's the argument between Ranjit Dillon and the Shamrocks, that he won't come up from the junior team?

There isn't any argument, and never has been.

Dillon is playing his final year of junior lacrosse, and prefers to stay down and try for a trip east to the Minto Cup final. Shamrocks would love to have him, but club president Bum Morgan promised Dillon at the start of the year there would be no pressure. There has been none.

Two Left to Play

Dillon has already played five of the seven senior games he is allowed without forfeiting his right to play junior lacrosse. He will play the other two whenever he is asked, providing it does not interfere with the junior schedule.

Did McNeill get the coaching job because his father is team manager?

McNeill was named coach because he was the best man available. There was no other reason, and none needed.

★ ★ ★

Those are the answers, but they will not satisfy the Lookbacker.

He'll go on screaming, and his more volatile brothers will go on slipping the knife into McNeill and the Shamrocks as long as the season lasts. Some of those knives are being finished, guardedly of course, by people in lacrosse who are putting petty jealousies ahead of the game.

McNeill will be blamed because lacrosse hasn't produced as many outstanding players as it has in the past; because junior players are drifting off into baseball or football; because the club is still suffering financially from the spend-it-all days of the past.

The Lookbackers are getting troublesome, and when predators get troublesome the only answer is to eliminate them. Maybe that's the answer—a bounty.

One free ticket for every muzzled Lookbacker. Dead or alive.

Rocky Back on Road to Success

When Kansas City gave Rocky Colavito back to the Indians, the female population of Cleveland did everything but declare a holiday.

To them, Colavito is a glamor boy of movie star stature. And, oh yes, he just might win them the American League pennant. That would be nice, too.

Colavito was at his John Wayne best Friday in Baltimore. He drove in five runs with his 19th homer, a double and a single to beat the Orioles 8-0 and allow the Indians to maintain their one-game lead over Minnesota Twins.

Lee Stange throttled the Orioles on four hits as the Indians won their sixth game in the last seven and 18th in 21.

Colavito gave Stange all the help he needed with a run-scoring double in the first inning. He added a three-run homer in the third and singled in another run in the fourth.

Jim Grant threw a five-hitter and Tony Oliva drove in two runs as Minnesota edged Kansas City Athletics. Third - place Chicago lost 5-4 to Los Angeles Angels.

For sheer muscles, though, you couldn't top New York Yankees.

They collected a total of 21 hits and stunned Boston Red Sox 16-2. Rookie Roger Repoz, starting only his second major league game, led the way with a homer, a single and a sacrifice fly to drive in four runs.

Los Angeles Dodgers lost again — for the sixth time in eight games — but despite the 4-3 loss to Houston Astros still held on to their two-game lead in the National League.

Don Drysdale took his fifth straight loss, giving up a single to Walt Bond with bases loaded and two out in the ninth to break a 3-3 tie. Joe Morgan had singled and Drysdale walked the next two men, the first intentionally.

But second-place Cincinnati again failed to take advantage of Dodger misfortune. Philadelphia Phillies won their sixth straight, beating the Reds 4-3 on a two-run homer by Dick Stuart in the eighth inning.

Colts Beat Connies In Tourney Opener

Clutch pitching by John Knowles, who retired the opposition with bases loaded in the seventh inning to preserve Colt "A" team's edge, led the Colts to a 4-1 victory over Connie Mack "A"s in a loosely-played opener of the minor league baseball tournament at Royal Athletic Park Friday.

None of the runs scored by either side was earned. Colts got three runs on walks, one on an error and gave up a run on a walk in the fifth inning.

Tom Sallaway pitched for Macks.

Interior Sniper Leading Shoot

NORTH VANCOUVER — Harold Palmer of Enderby won the qualifying stage of the Lieutenant-Governor's match at the B.C. Rifle Association championships here Thursday and also took two other matches in shoot-offs.

Palmer shot 103 out of a possible 105 in the Lieutenant-Governor's match which cuts the field trying for places on the Ottawa team to the top 41. Others have a chance to qualify in the consolation shoot today.

Team will be named tonight.

Palmer's other two victories came in the Macdonald Tobacco Match at 300 and 600 yards, in a shoot-off after he and Maj. Jack Roberts of Canadian Scottish both shot 96.

Then he won a shoot-off for the aggregate total of the Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster matches, in which he totalled 145x150.

Blood Disease Finishes Rower

HENLEY ON THAMES (CP)—Olympic champion Oarsman George Hungerford was advised Friday night by doctors to give up rowing, at least for the rest of the season, because of a recurring blood disorder.

Hungerford consulted a Henley regatta doctor after he and crewmate Roger Jackson were eliminated Thursday from the Silver Goblets competition for pair-oared shells. The Vancouver athlete weakened towards the end of the race, causing the Canadian shell to slew off course.

Hungerford, 21, was stricken by mononucleosis last year and the blood disorder scratched him from the Canadian crew in the eight-oared competition at Tokyo Olympics. However, he teamed up with Toronto-born Jackson, 23, and they won the Gold Medal for pair oars at the October Olympics.

In Thursday's Henley heat, Hungerford weakened after a mile of the 1 5-16-mile race and his wrists tightened up, causing the rudderless shell to veer off course and finish 1¼ lengths behind Londoners Ray Easterling and Jerry McCarthy. The Londoners were eliminated in a subsequent heat Friday.

Dave Gillanders, University of British Columbia graduate who accompanied the Vancouver rowing club oarsmen as coach, disclosed Friday Hungerford was ill during the race. He and Jackson had thought at first Hungerford was suffering from an influenza virus.

However, the Henley doctor sent Hungerford to a hospital in nearby Reading Friday for a thorough checkup. He was examined there by a pathologist.

"They found George's hemoglobin count was away down," Jackson said after receiving the medical report Friday night. "The doctors advised George to give up rowing, at least for the rest of this season and maybe for good."

Jackson said the low blood count means Hungerford's system becomes deprived of oxygen under physical stress, putting a heavy load on his heart.

Egyptian Waitress Waiting for Clay?

CAIRO (UPI)—A weekly magazine circulated in Cairo reports heavyweight champion Cassius Clay "may soon announce" plans to marry an Egyptian waitress.

Clay is seeking an annulment from his present wife, Sonji, on grounds she has not lived up to alleged promises to follow practices of the Black Muslim sect.

The magazine Al Musawar said Clay fell in love with waitress Enayat Mustafa while in Egypt last year. He was married in the United States later in the year.

Al Musawar said Clay plans another visit to Cairo this summer and recently wrote Miss Mustafa "describing his difficulties with Sonji and saying he will soon be on his way to Cairo."

Shawnigan Lake Oarsmen Surprised by Eton College

HENLEY ON THAMES (CP)—Eton College rowers surged from the starting gate with unexpected speed to lead a surprised schoolboy eight from Vancouver Island all the way in a quarter-final heat Friday of the Henley Royal Regatta's Princess Elizabeth Challenge Cup competition.

Shawnigan Lake School, carrying out coach Joe Grey's orders to "get out in front at the start," took off at a blistering 46-stroke-a-minute pace, but the powerful Eton crew opened a one-third length lead on only 42 strokes a minute.

PULLED AWAY

The English crew, maintaining a slower stroke than the Canadians throughout the race, had its lead reduced to a "canvas" at the one-mile mark of the 1 5-16-mile heat. Despite a finishing burst of 37 by Shawnigan, Eton was pulling away at the end, with a half-length separating the bows. Eton's time—six minutes, 50 seconds—was the fastest of the day in the schoolboy competition but fell short of the record 6:44 set by Emanuel School of London Thursday.

"We closed on them at the mile mark but couldn't take them," said stroke Paul Baylis, 19-year-old Vancouver native who rowed here two years ago with Shawnigan. "They just had more at the end."

PAY OWN WAY

The Shawnigan crew, which paid its own way over and used a borrowed, English-built shell in its three heats, was the last of four Canadian entries to be eliminated in the four-day regatta, which ends today.

Shawnigan eliminated an eight from St. Catharines Collegiate Thursday, evening a month-old score. The Ontario school had defeated the B.C. eight by half a length in the finals of the Canadian scholastic championships May 28 on the old Welland Canal in Ontario.

In Friday's pair-oar heats, Peter Gorny and Gunter Bergau, European champions from East Germany who set a pairs record Thursday at 7:35, ousted Ray Easterling and Jerry McCarthy of East London.

Gorney and Bergau meet Herman Boelen and Jim Enters of the Netherlands in today's Silver Goblets final.

Thursday, the unheralded Easterling and McCarthy had skimmed over the finish line 1¼ lengths ahead of George Hungerford and Roger Jackson of Vancouver Rowing Club, Canada's Olympic pair - oars champions. Rick Crooker and John Ferguson of St. Catharines Collegiate had been eliminated from the Silver Goblets competition Wednesday.

In the premier Henley event, the grand challenge cup for eights, the Olympic-winning Vesper crew from Philadelphia outclassed Nautilus club, the pride of British rowing, to set up a repeat today of the Tokyo games final.

The hefty U.S. oarsmen, coached by Grace Kelly's brother Jack, will meet their Olympic opponents, West Germany's Ratzeburg.

In the schoolboy event, Eton, unpressed in either of its earlier heats, apparently caught Shawnigan cox Paul Iverson, 16 of Vancouver, off guard at the start.

"We wanted to try to get a jump on them," Iverson said. "A crew noted for its fast finishes doesn't usually take off so quickly."

AL-Stars Picked

All That Power And No Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — The American League obviously hopes to club the National League into submission in the annual all-star baseball game in Minnesota July 13.

The Americans chose to sacrifice speed and defence for power in their selection of a starting lineup.

The league players, coaches and managers who did the voting selected power-hitters Bill Skowron of Chicago White Sox for first base, Felix Mantilla of Boston Red Sox for second, Dick McAuliffe of Detroit Tigers for shortstop, Willie Horton of Detroit for left field and Rocky Colavito of Cleveland for right field.

Third-baseman Brooks Robinson of Baltimore Orioles, centre fielder Vic Davalillo of Cleveland and catcher Earl Battey of Minnesota Twins rounded out the starting team, exclusive of the pitcher.

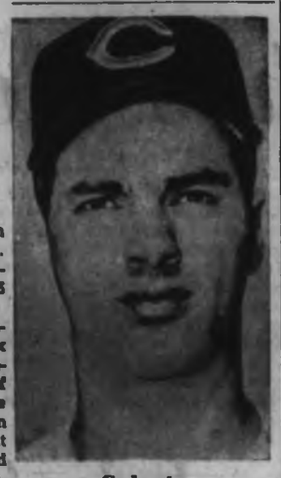

For the first time in the 33-year history of the all-star event, not a single member of New York Yankees was selected. Los Angeles Angels, Washington Senators and Kansas City Athletics also were shut out.

The biggest surprise was the tremendous margin by which Mantilla defeated Richardson for the starting second base job. A New York Met reject, Mantilla received 180 votes to 56 for runner-up Richardson.

The starting lineup gives manager Al Lopez of the White Sox a slugging array which includes six .300 hitters, four of the American League's top five home runs and runs batted in leaders. As a unit, the eight men have hit 79 home runs and driven in 288 runs through Tuesday's games.

The American League has lost six of the last seven games, which enabled the National to even the series at 17 victories apiece. One game ended in a tie.

The National League starting lineup will be announced Sunday.

Emerson Keeps Singles Title Then Apologizes for Dull Show

WIMBLEDON (CP) — Defending champion Roy Emerson easily retained his all-England lawn tennis singles crown Friday with a crushing 6-2, 6-4, 6-4, victory over fellow - Australian Fred Stolle.

The dull, one-sided match on a dull and chilly day, made Stolle the champion runner-up in post-war Wimbledon history. It was the third year in succession he has been on the losing end of a singles final on the centre court.

Not once was the issue in doubt, and Emerson's victory was even more complete than his four-set triumph in 1964.

In 1963 Stolle lost to Chuck McKinley of the U.S.

Emerson became the eighth Australian to capture the men's singles in the last 10 years.

The women's final today matches defending champion Maria Bueno of Brazil and powerful Margaret Smith of Australia.

EMERSON APOLOGIZED

The victory was so complete that Emerson apologized to the 15,000 who thronged the court because he felt they must have considered the final disappointing. Some lined up all night to get in.

If the petite Brazilian wins, it will mark the first time in the 88 years of Wimbledon that both defending champions repeated.

Billie Jean Moffitt gave the U.S. a hope of a share of a title when she combined with Miss Bueno to defeat the American team of Nancy Richey and Mrs. Carole Graebner in a women's doubles semi - final match.

The Moffitt-Bueno pair will meet the French team of Francoise Durr and Nanine Lieffrig in the final.

The men's doubles became an all-Aussi affair when Ken Fletcher and Bob Hewitt trounced Clark Graebner and Marty Reissen of the U.S. 7-5, 6-4, 6-4. The winners will meet fellow Australians John Newcombe and Tony Roche for the title.

It became all-Australia also in the mixed doubles final. Fletcher and Miss Smith eliminated Miss Bueno and Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif., 7-5, 6-4. In the all-Aussie second semi-final, Roche and Judy Tegart ousted defending champions, Stolle and Lesley Turner, 6-3, 11-9.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Firefighters took their revenge here Thursday by defeating Vancouver Columbus, 4-2, and winning the British Columbia soccer championship.

Two early goals by the Firefighters paved the way for victory. The Firemen never fell behind.

Jim Blundell, Don Boyd, Louis Trischuk and Tom Miller scored for the Firemen. Errol Crossan scored both Columbus goals.

Composer of Snowfall

Big Band 'Name' Dies of Attack

CALDWELL, N.J. (AP) — Band leader Claude Martin Thornhill, 56, died of a heart attack at his home Thursday.

Thornhill rose to fame in the era of the "big bands," the late 1930s and the 1940s. An arranger as well as a composer and band leader, his best known song was Snowfall, his theme.

His springboard to success was the Austin Wiley orchestra, which he joined in Cleveland, after studying music at the Cincinnati Conservatory and the University of Kentucky.

Thornhill and a young clarinetist named Artie Shaw left the band together in 1931 for New York. There, both joined the Benny Goodman band.

★ ★ ★

Thornhill broke with Goodman in favor of Hollywood, where he wrote arrangements for Judy Garland musicals. In 1939, at the height of the big-band craze, he formed his own group.

That group lasted until 1942, when Thornhill disbanded it to enlist in the U.S. Navy.

He served as chief musician until his discharge in 1945, when he reorganized his band.

Geologist Wins Car

A B.C. government geologist won the 1965 Pontiac in the Victoria Kiwanis raffle drawn Thursday. John Horcoff, 2100 Vancouver, said he was just about to trade his car for a new one and will keep the $4,200 two-door hardtop. Proceeds of the draw go to Kiwanis charities.

Symphony At Gardens

Tacoma Youth Symphony will bring 55 young people from its membership of 80 to play concert at Butchart Gardens Sunday afternoon, July 4. Conductor, in centre, is Dr. Paul B. Oncley. The concert will be held on Butchart open-air stage.

Police Riot-Jittery In New England

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—Riot-jittery police patrolled beaches and bistros to keep the jazz fans cool during the hot licks of Friday night's Newport Jazz Festival performance.

Thousands of jazz enthusiasts crammed this fashionable city by the sea for the second night of the festival which ends today. Thursday night 17 persons were arrested for revelling or drunkenness.

Friday's featured performers included the Thelonious Monk Quartet, the Miles Davis Quintet, the Art Blakey Quintet, and Carmen McRae.

POLICE BEEFED UP

A beefed-up police force of some 3,500 men maintained a wary eye on the visiting jazz lovers in an effort to prevent a riot such as erupted at the jazz festival in 1960.

The uneasiness of law enforcement men here was mirrored elsewhere in New England this Fourth of July weekend. Rumors of potential teen-age disturbances have swept the six-state area since the rioting of thousands of motorcyclists at Weirs Beach, N.H., two weeks ago.

From Newport and Massachusettts' Cape Cod to Old Orchard Beach, Maine, and Hampton, N.H., authorities set up emergency precautions to snip trouble before it starts.

Advance planning in Newport paid off last night: There were no major disturbances among festival fans. Police blockades turned back crowds of teenagers who wanted to sleep on the beaches.

Perhaps another reason for the relative calm was that only 3,500 jazz buffs turned out for the initial show, one of the smallest crowds in the 12-year history of the big bash. But a sell-out gate was promised by the sponsors for most of the remaining nights. Festival field has a 12,000-seat capacity.

However, one young man was arrested Thursday night on a knife-carrying charge and another for allegedly having a bullwhip wrapped around his waist.

IMPENDING TROUBLE

The uprising at Weirs Beach, a resort on Lake Winnipesaukee, gave rise to rumors of impending trouble this weekend at communities in neighboring Maine and Massachusetts.

Col. Robert Marx, chief of the Maine State Police, told lawmen in his state: "If they look like troublemakers, treat them like they were going to be."

Friday Dances

Musicians Engaged For First Cabaret

A musician who has played extensively over radio and television will provide the entertainment at Victoria's first Friday night cabaret style dance.

Doug Goldsmith and his trio will play in the McMorran's Seaview Room each Friday as the popular Cordova Bay establishment expands its scope. With Doug, an accordionist, are drummer Darryl Brooks and Ted Walford on clarinet and saxophone.

★ ★ ★

The management also announced a change in catering, formerly done by themselves. Now catering will be done by Alice Monaghan and Lillian Smith.

"It's an experiment," said manager Eric McMorran, "and we think we'll be able to prove that Victoria can support a Friday night dance."

Mr. Goldsmith described his style of music as "an easy-going full sound. We're just a trio, but we make lots of music," he said.

He worked for CBC in Calgary and Edmonton, and has also done musical engagements for CHEK-TV since his arrival in Victoria three years ago.

King Fisherman

Pace Getting Hotter

The fish to beat in the Colonist King Fisherman Contest are a 5:12-pound bass, a 13:11-pound river trout, a 8:4-pound lake trout, a 39-pound spring salmon and a 9:8-pound coho.

Last year's Compleat Angler Sid Upton has taken over the spring salmon lead with a 39-pounder from Beechey Head. This fish was actually caught June 16 but the entry form has been delayed in its delivery to the Colonist.

A. L. Taylor of the Comox RCAF station took over the coho lead with a nine-pounder caught at King Coho Resort at Little River in Strip-Teaser. It was one of a limit of four June 28.

But at Campbell River Harry Gates of Kahoka, Missouri, who subscribes to the Colonist, weighed a 9:4-pounder in at Ferndell the same evening and took the lead from the airman.

That is the way the coho and spring salmon divisions leadership may be expected to change now, almost every day while Island fishing gets better and better.

University of Victoria

Student Council Endorses Dean

The University of Victoria student council Wednesday endorsed the appointment of registrar Ronald Jeffels to the newly-created post of dean of student affairs.

Paul Williamson, president of the council, said following a meeting:

"The importance of this appointment is that the administration has recognized the importance of student affairs. There will now be an official channel of communication.

"Mr. Jeffels is an outstanding man—very much liked by the students," said Mr. Williamson.

NUMBERS 3,000

The council represents a student body estimated to number 3,000 this September.

On Wednesday the cabinet also appointed Mr. Jeffels to the student aid loan committee.

The committee, headed by UBC Dean Walter Gage, consists of Mr. Jeffels, William White of UBC; Norman Barton of Simon Fraser University and Edwin Espley and Harry Evans, both of the department of education.

Water Pollution

Group Will Study New Constitution

The Portage Inlet and Gorge Waterways Association, up to now an association in name only, will probably formally approve a constitution at a meeting next Tuesday.

The meeting is tentatively set for Strawberry Vale Hall.

The association was formed in a rush when Gorge waters were threatened by fouling from treatment plants on Colquitz Creek, and members never did get around to drawing up a formal constitution.

CONSTITUTION

But at the last meeting of the group, a committee was struck to make a tentative constitution.

Members felt they would like to remain as a group despite the fact Saanich and the provincial government, which had originally made application to discharge the treated effluent into the creek, have indicated they are planning an alternative solution.

POLLUTION

A film on water pollution was shown at the last meeting, and a talk was given by University of Victoria botanist Dr. Alan Austin.

Dr. Austin stressed that while the treatment plants would undoubtedly contribute to algae in the Gorge, a certain amount of algae is good since it is the basis of all other water life.

"We can't do without algae," he said. "If we get rid of all algae, we will be in real trouble."

Members nevertheless felt the current amount of algae in the Gorge was carrying things a little too far.

Mother Watched Children Burn

THOMPSON, Man. (CP)—Two young brothers died when the car in which they were sitting burst into flames and burned before the eyes of their mother.

Dead are Terrance McCorriston, two, and his brother, Reginald, 3½.

Police said Mrs. Harvey McCarriston had just left the children in the older model car while she went into a friend's home. Mrs. McCarriston was in Thompson Hospital suffering from shock.

Fire Damages Post Office

A fire in a coal bin in the basement of the main Post Office Thursday morning caused an estimated $300 damage.

Fire Chief John Abbott said it was caused by "spontaneous combustion." Mail was not touched by the flames.

Mormon Film to Have Outdoor Showings

The Mormon trek to Salt Lake Valley and the beginnings of the Mormon Tabernacle Choir are the subjects of a film to be shown at the Beacon Hill Park Bandshell at 9:15 p.m., July 5, 7 and 9.

The film, They Came Singing, is being presented by Elder Paul Ehler of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Elder W. N. Hadlock, Mesa, Arizona.

Elders Ehler and Hadlock are serving as missionaries in the Victoria area for the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The movie covers the trek of the Mormon pioneers and the start of the now-famous Mormon Tabernacle Choir. Interwoven into the picture are a number of the choir's best selections.

Ontario Scout Gets Medal

OTTAWA (CP)—Scoutmaster J. Norman Humphries of Agincourt, Ont., has been awarded the top boy scout award for bravery, Governor-General Vanier announced today in his annual Dominion Day list of scouting honors.

Mr. Humphries wins the Bronze Cross, "for special heroism with extraordinary risk," for rescuing two children from a burning home.

Immersion Rites Assembly Highlight

High point of Jehovah's Witness assembly was immersion Friday of about 150 new witnesses. Immersion is sect's baptism ceremony, based on Biblical stories. Witness assembly winds up Sunday.—(William Boucher)

Vancouver Man

Archbishop Names Anglican Rector

A Vancouver man has been chosen to succeed Canon George Biddle as rector of St. John's Anglican church, archbishop Harold Sexton announced Friday.

The new rector will be Canon Graeme Baker, 38, now serving as preceptor and organist at Christ Church Cathedral, Vancouver.

"Mr. Baker was an organist before he took holy orders," Archbishop Sexton said.

DIPLOMAS

"He holds many high diplomas for his music. I feel that he will be a great gain to the musical life of Victoria.

"He is a man of pleasing personality, and a worthy successor to Canon Biddle."

Mr. Biddle retires July 31, after serving St. John's for the past 25 years. Mr. Baker will take office sometime in August.

NEW CHURCH

Archdeacon A. E. Hendy, rector of the parish of St. Dunstan, Gordon Head, will have a new church within the next few months, Archbishop Sexton said.

Construction has begun on St. Dunstan's Church, Gordon Head, which will accommodate members of two former mission parishes. The church is being built at San Juan and Tyndall Avenues.

New System in Church

Hard of Hearing Can Tune In

Everyone in the congregation can hear Rev. H. Gordon Walker preach at St. David by-the-Sea Church, Cordova Bay, including those who have to use hearing aids.

A parishioner who wears a hearing aid got a little tired of straining to hear Mr. Walker, so he gave $100 to the church convener, J. M. B. Nicoll, the money to go to wards installing some kind of public address system.

Mr. Nicoll called on a Victoria radio supply store for assistance, and they provided him with an audio inductive loop system for the church.

It was installed two weeks ago, but Mr. Walker has kept quiet about it to see how it works.

The system was tested last Sunday.

"It was fantastic," said Mr. Walker.

"A person wearing an aid adjusted to the telephone pick-up system can hear the service, from 15 feet away from the church building, but a person not wearing an aid cannot.

"In addition, a person wearing an aid can clearly hear the service from a nearby room. From now on, if we get an overflow crowd, we can put them into the rooms, and they will still be able to take part in the service."

Members of the congregation who have difficulty in hearing but do not normally use hearing aids found they heard every word more clearly.

"The loop audio system gave a lift to the whole service, enabling everyone to hear much better," Mr. Walker said.

Now the church would like a supply of discarded hearing aids. These would be reconditioned and given to hard of hearing people, for use at church services.

Mothers at Bat To Aid Children

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Irate mothers are continuing their baseball bat patrol of France Park to protest vandalism and protect smaller children from harassment by older boys.

About 30 women, armed with base ball bats, began patrolling the park Monday following an increase in vandalism and an incident last week in which two recreation counsellors were harassed by a group of young toughs.

Symposium To Discuss Moral Issues

Jehovah's Witnesses will discuss morality in the modern world at a symposium today, as part of their assembly in the Memorial Arena.

The symposium will feature three speakers: R. E. Ferguson of North Vancouver, Charles F. Martin of Vancouver and C. P. Clarke of White Rock.

The session will cover Christian morality and responsibilities of parents and youth.

R. W. Arnett, of Toronto, will deliver the feature lecture of the assembly Sunday. His subject is World Government on the Shoulder of the Prince of Peace.

Anglican Minister Says:

Clergymen Must Surrender Preferential Treatment

Clergymen cannot possibly become mature Christians unless they surrender the "little crumbs of authority" to which they "cling so tenaciously," says Ernest Harrison, clergyman author of Let God Go Free.

Mr. Harrison feels the time may be ripe for a church in which there is no distinction of quality between clergyman and layman—a common ministry.

"Such common ministries are becoming numerous and, whenever they are accepted, there comes a sense of freedom, which leads quickly to deeper spiritual awareness."

'TAKE OUR CHANCES'

The Anglican minister and an author of the church's new curriculum courses says, "Freedom means that we have to move into the market-square and take our chances with anyone else.

"We can no longer be carried by the rest of society.

"I am thinking here of the way clergy are sometimes given preferential treatment, allowed to jump lines of people waiting for some service, admitted into the doctor's or lawyer's office by some special arrangement, given ten per cent off in stores, given preferential income tax arrangements, protected from unemployment, invited to head tables.

CRUELTIES

"At a deeper level I am thinking of the cruelties practised against clergy who do not toe the line of their superior's moral principles, of the closed doors presented to men who have been dubbed failures—and all without the sort of public criticism which would befall any government leader who did the same thing."

Mr. Harrison says further, "When we speak foolishness, we cannot complain if it is printed in the newspapers or protested by other clergy and people.

"It is a freedom which comes directly from Christ, who claimed no privileges for himself, who took his chances, and who never stood upon his dignity."

They are designed to appeal to those who like to worship in the open air during the warm summer nights, and to persons just enjoying the beauty and peace of the park.

Each sevice will be conducted by a different church. Rev. A. E. Hornby, of Glad Tidings Tabernacle will conduct Sunday's service.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

A young man appeared before a committee interviewing candidates for Rhodes Scholarships. Asked his attitude to the conflicts and problems of the time, he lapsed into sentimentality, quoting a verse that deplored "so many faiths, so many creeds, so many roads that wind and wind, when just the art of being kind is all this sad world needs."

★ ★ ★

His creed was quickly exposed as both shallow and untrue. One finds these faults in many discussions, where members have failed to read the minutes of previous meetings! If anyone is going to hold an opinion, he has a moral duty to be informed on the thought and history of previous creeds.

★ ★ ★

If he is composing a creed, he should strive for communication.

Dr. A. C. Craig of Glasgow University told of a professor addressing a freshman group at the university with the opening words, "In religion there are always present two moments, simultaneous but antithetic, which we may respectively call the anagogic and the apoltropaic. "This is why a wag defined mysticism as a word that began in mist and ended in schism!

The great peril of a writer of creeds is "religion-in-general" which Eisenhower described as "a very fervent faith in a very vague religion."

The search for a creed on which nearly everybody can agree has led to an amiable syncretism in which believers assert "All ways that lead to God are good," or sing desperately, "The more we get together the happier we'll be." all the while knowing tragically that they have not found a way to God and are members of the loneliest era in the history of the human race.

★ ★ ★

We are living in a period of erosion of religion. In building suburban churches, aggressively striving for membership and money, not one member in fifty has any real idea of what the Christian faith is about or in what the Christian ethics consist.

★ ★ ★

If you open a discussion on Christian morals, you soon find that morality is confined to sex, though Jesus put the sins of the spirit — pride, covetousness, cruelty, selfishness, and failure to use one's talents—as more serious than the sins of the flesh.

★ ★ ★

I listened to some professors and university students discuss Christianity. They had gone to church all their lives, but had less understanding of it than intelligent, informed Buddhists and Moslems whom I have met. The Church had failed tragically to educate her members. For this reason the Sunday School may come to be regarded as a fatal weakness, since it creates the illusion of an education.

★ ★ ★

What passes for much Christian faith today, is a vague humanism that has more relation to Herbert Spencer and Comte than to Paul and the Apostles. It pretends to neither height nor depth, and confuses a desert for a desirable breadth.

Curtis Reese in his book, "Humanism", speaks of a "humanistic mysticism" and the aim of religion as the quest to discover and live the inherently desirable life, for which theological convictions are not necessary. What happens then to the New Testament declaration of "Christ, the power of God and the wisdom of God"?

Humanism is vacuous and vague, with no more power to redeem the world than a grin on a Cheshire cat.

Fire Indicators: Serious Season

The B.C. Forest Service said Friday all indications "point to a serious fire season" in the province's forests with a total of 870 outbreaks reported so far this year.

Fighting the blazes has cost the service a total of $626,000, compared with $41,500 spent battling 488 fires by this point last year.

Eighty fires were still burning Friday, with 128 new fires having been reported and 103 extinguished.

The service said all fires still burning are "quiet."

"However, predicted high temperatures for the weekend are expected to increase fire hazards in most parts of the province."

Mars Bomber Grounded For Repairs at Base

One of the giant Martin Mars water bombers will undergo a two to three-day repair job at Fairey (Canada) Ltd.

Fairey will replace a probe on one of the aircraft's water tanks. The probe is part of the apparatus that scoops up the water.

While this is going on, employees of Flying Tankers Ltd. will be cleaning out a fuel tank and system which took in water and gelgard—the crystals that make dropped water stick to trees—when the probe broke.

Another Mars bomber is on standby at Sproat Lake.

Travellers

Cheques Bad Police Warn

Counterfeit $100 traveller's cheques are circulating in Canada, Victoria RCMP said Friday.

The counterfeit cheques, marked Bank of America, are "fairly deceptive," RCMP said. It is not known how many have been passed. They are printed completely by the offset method and bear serial numbers 803-870-100 to 803-870-199 inclusive.

They are embossed from behind to give a raised effect to the Bank of America title. The embossing is done in different style letters and not lined up with printed letters. The paper bears the watermark Earnscliffe Linen Bond with the Rolland Paper Company shield.

Local police should be notified if suspicious cheques turn up.

Victoria Man Takes Cup In Sports Day

CAMPBELL RIVER—Victorian Ron Pappenberger Thursday was named best all-around logger at the revived Campbell River loggers' sports day.

Mr Pappenberger, of 124 St. Andrew Street, showed spectacular form as he won the speed climbing event by scaling a 66-foot timber in 19 seconds flat.

He won the Tahsis Cup, presented by the Tahsis Company. If he or any other contestant wins it three times running, it will be theirs for keeps.

SPORTS REVIVED

Logging sports were revived at Campbell River after a lapse of several years.

World champion log-burler Jube Wickheim had little trouble winning his event, though two local entries gave him a good run.

Bill Baikie stayed with Wickheim for a total of 23 minutes and six seconds before losing the semi-final round in two straight falls.

In the final, Heinz Kleiner kept up with Wickheim until the log was shortened, then lost in straight falls.

Other results: Chokerman's race, D. J. McKenzie and Allan Woodruw, both of Campbell River; eye-splicing, Ernie Alexander and Jim Taylor, both of Campbell River; speed climbing, Stan Cox, Campbell River; exhibition drag saw, Harvey Dye and Braidy Brown.

SALMON DERBY

The day began with the Jaycee salmon derby. The final weigh-in at 10 a.m. gave first prize to Mrs. A. Focht of Campbell River with an 11-pound, eight-ounce spring salmon.

Top coho was caught by Sam Nazaruk at eight pounds, five ounces.

An hour-long parade at 11 a.m. had three bands. First prize for a commercial float went to the Elk Falls Company. The non-commercial float prize was won by Job's Daughters.

Best in Years

Sidney Swings, Jumps

Costumes, songs and dances from around the world and across time kept Sidney hopping in its annual Sidney Day celebrations Thursday.

Take strawboater hats, the Fred Usher Orchestra, and a few people with memories, and the town jumps to the Charleston beat.

TEEN DANCE

The space age thundered into Sansoha Hall, as the younger set wiggled, quivered and shook to the frug, and other neo-barbaric rhythms put out by the Regents.

Youngsters frantically licked at ice-cream as temperatures soarded into the 80s.

REAL 'BASH'

The adults' wind-up dance in the evening was a real 'bash' according to several teen-agers who smuggled themselves in.

"A real swinger," described what some officials said was the biggest Sidney Day dance in years.

GUIDE FLOAT WINS

In the parade, the Girl Guide float was judged best over-all.

Other winners were: Wax Museum, best commercial entry; 302 Unit, Army, Navy and Air Force Veterans, best service entry; City of Victoria, Queen of Sidney, honorable mentions; Polish Club of Victoria, best unclassified; Mrs. Colleen Hague and Rick Bailey, best horse entry; Laurie Langtry and her goat, best children's entry.

Oil Drillers Guard Secret

EDMONTON (CP) — The Journal says all hands on an oil drilling rig in the Rainbow Lake area of Northwestern Alberta are confined to the drill site to prevent information from leaking to competitors.

The well is on an Imperial Oil exploration lease nine miles square and is surrounded by acreage on which the Alberta government will accept bids for drilling reservations Tuesday.

"Imperial is anxious to keep knowledgeable bids by competitors to a minimum, if not altogether eliminated, and the only hole drilled in the area is the one on which the Imperial crew is working," the Journal says.

MERRITT (CP) — The bodies of three persons who drowned in nearby Nicola Leake earlier this week have been recovered.

Police said the bodies of Mr. and Mrs. George Graff, 50 and 38 respectively, and Myrel Alexander, 45, were 40 yards from shore in about 15 feet of water. Graff's 12-foot boat was found adrift on the lake.

Taylor's Big Headache

* * *

Shortage of Good Faculty Members

By BILL STAVDAL

A chronic shortage of first-rate faculty members is the biggest problem at the University of Victoria, says president Dr. Malcolm Taylor.

Unifying the campus and getting more money are also major concerns, but brains is the biggest need, in the opinion of the president.

This fall he could use more teachers for mathematics, economics, political science, public administration and philosophy, he said yesterday.

WILL GET WORSE

"The shortage is going to continue and will probably get worse," he declared.

Reason for the lack is a shortage of graduate schools in Canada, he explained.

"Canada's universities need about 1,200 new PhDs each year. We're producing about 400.

"Industry and government are demanding more PhDs too."

DRAWS SCHOLARS

Dr. Taylor believes that as the young university adds years and gains in reputation, it will draw scholars to the staff.

"We've got some good people now, and good people attract more."

Simple statistics indicate the urgency of Dr. Taylor's problem. Registration in 1960 was 1,415. Last fall it was 2,540. This September it is expected to hit 3,000—twice the number of students five years ago.

FORCED GROWTH

The forced-growth expansion creates problems in almost every area of the university. One department, English, has 10 new staff members for the coming term.

Dr. Taylor's No. 2 problem, also related to expansion, is administering a split campus. The move to the new Gordon Head campus will be complete in a year or two, but in the meantime it's inconvenient and expensive to shuttle students back and forth from the old Lansdowne buildings.

Money?

"We can always use more," said the doctor, "but I imagine we'll get by."

Holiday Death-Toll Sets a New Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

At least 40 persons died in Dominion Day accidents across the country, the highest on record for a one-day holiday in Canada. Deaths last year totalled 24.

Traffic mishaps took 32 lives, more than twice the 15 predicted by the Canadian Highway Safety Council. Only British Columbia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland had no road deaths.

FOUR DROWN

A survey by The Canadian Press from 6 p.m. Wednesday to midnight Thursday, local times, also showed four drownings and four deaths from miscellaneous causes.

Quebec reported 11 fatalities, nine in traffic, including three in one accident. The province also had a drowning and a boy killed under a sandpile.

Ontario reported four road deaths and a drowning.

Alberta reported six road deaths while Manitoba and Saskatchewan each reported five. Saskatchewan also had a child fatally scalded at his grandparents' home.

Nova Scotia had two traffic deaths and a drowning while New Brunswick had one road death and a drowning.

LBJ Guardians

Delayed Alert

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal and local police guarding President Johnson were thrown into a flurry of excitement Friday because of a policeman's mistake in processing a month-old FBI alarm.

An alarm went out soon after the president arrived at Kennedy Airport for a man "armed and considered dangerous" in connection with a threat on the president's life.

LETTER THREAT

According to the FBI, a former printer wrote a threatening letter to the president early last month and a federal warrant was issued. The man stole a 1965 automobile from a New York renting service, headed west, and was last seen in Las Vegas, Nev.

As the police detail was awaiting Johnson's arrival for a speech to the National Education Association, an FBI agent suggested that New York City police send a stolen-car alarm on their shortwave radio for the car as a routine precaution.

Garden Notes

Odd Daisy Out

By M. V. CHESNUT

Now that the pyrethrums or Painted Daisies have passed out of bloom, this is the one time of the year when it is really safe to dig up, divide and replant this fine perennial.

It always seems a bit strange to be performing this piece of major surgery in midsummer and on a plant in full growth. Nearly every other common perennial handles best when dormant or when just starting into growth, but the pyrethrum will sulk or even die if it is disturbed at any other time than immediately after the flowers fade.

These plants require rather careful division. The roots form a compact mass of fibre and chopping the clump apart with the edge of your spade, as you might do with less sensitive plants, is far too crude a method for the delicate nervous system of the Painted Daisy.

The plant should be eased out of the ground gently with a digging fork and freed of soil by shaking or washing, so you can see what you're doing and recognize the individual crowns in the clump. In dividing, I think it is best to pull the pieces apart with the fingers, although if the roots are very matted and tangled, it may be necessary to help the work along with a sharp knife.

Each portion or division for replanting should contain three or four of these crowns or tufts of foliage. It doesn't pay to break up these plants into VERY small pieces, as these little single-crown bits take several years to build themselves up to flowering size.

However, if you have a particularly choice variety and you want to get a lot of plants from it, it is permissible to separate the clump into individual crowns. It would be best to pot these up and grow them on in a coldframe, for potted specimens can be set out in the garden at any time through the growing season.

The Painted Daisy enjoys plenty of moisture at the roots when in full growth, but it cannot tolerate a site which is soggy and sodden in winter when the roots are dormant. Choose a planting location in full sun, dig over the ground to the full depth of the spade, incorporating a reasonable amount of old rotted manure or ripe compost—say, about half a bucketful per square yard.

A little extra phosphate will make for a stronger root system and better flowers, so it is a good idea to supplement the manure or compost with a sprinkle of bone meal raked into the surface. One cupful per square yard will be enough.

After raking, make the ground moderately firm by treading, as these plants cannot produce their fine roots in loose, spongy soil. Plant firmly but not too deeply—the crown should be just level with the soil surface, as with strawberry plants, for there is a tendency for the crown to rot if covered with soil. Make sure the roots are well spread out in the soil, not clumped together and dropped into a narrow hole.

Pour a little water in the hole as you plant, using a few drops of vitamin B-1 in the water to help counteract transplanting shock, and give each plant about half a pint of the solution.

When this drains away, complete the filling in with loose, dry soil on top. Don't go firming it around the plant with your fists or fingers—the water has done all the firming necessary, and packing down the surface soil will only lead to the formation of a crust.

Father Gets Canned Tie

A friend of mine named Howard got a canned necktie for Father's Day. The necktie, in other words, was actually canned, like so many beans.

"Isn't that fantastic?," Howard said, showing me the can. "It must be the latest thing."

It was certainly fantastic enough. He didn't show me the necktie, but the label on the can was bright yellow with orange and purple polkadots. I imagine the tie was more conservative than the can, since it was given to Howard by his wife.

In the bottom of the can there was a round card, gummed to the tin. It was inscribed, in blue ink, "Howard from Babe."

★ ★ ★

"How you account for that?" Howard asked me.

"Did the can have a removable lid?" I asked.

"No," he said. "It was all sealed. Just like a can of beer. I had to open it with a can opener."

Nobody can keep up with everything new these days, but sometimes you just have to know the answer. I phoned Howard's wife.

"I just picked out the tie I wanted," she said, "and they canned it for me—right there."

I realized I was on the trail of something really nouveau. I phoned the store she mentioned. A woman answered.

"Listen," I asked her, "do you know anything about a canned necktie a friend of mine's wife bought there? He had to open it with a can opener."

There was a moment's silence. "Would you mind repeating that, Sir?" she said.

I went through it again.

"Sir, are you making a complaint?"

"No, no," I said. "I'm only trying to get some information."

She finally put me through to a department where a man told me he had can openers, all right, but no neckties.

★ ★ ★

"They're mostly electric nowadays, you know," he said.

Eventually we found a man who knew all about the canned neckties.

"Oh, yes," he said. "I think we're the first."

He explained that the customer picks out the article she wants, selects the wrapper she likes, and then the gift is canned and the wrapper is gummed on.

"It's actually sealed right there in front of her," he told me. "You can't get at it without a can opener."

★ ★ ★

Right now they only have two can sizes. "One about the size of a normal spaghetti can, I would say," he told me, "and the other—oh, about like a large tomato juice."

But it could get bigger.

"If this takes off," he assured me," the possibilities are unlimited. We may be canning heavy sweaters and—who knows?—maybe full-length minks."

"Why?" I asked him.

"That," he said, after a long pause, "I wouldn't know."

Recruits for Chaos

By SYDNEY HARRIS

One of the most extraordinary things about society is its unwillingness to do for itself what it does for its children. What we call "education" for children consists mainly (apart from specific learning skills) in preparing them for the next stage in their development.

We are aware that our children will change from year to year, in needs, interests, and abilities. Education, both at school and at home, is designed to help them cope with these changes and master the new enviroments as they come to them.

Society, too, is always changing—more slowly than a child, but just as inevitably. But we do not prepare ourselves for change, in any rational and orderly way; we face the future either with the outmoded attitudes of the past, or with bewilderment and blind resentment.

I was particularly struck by a paragraph in Eric Hoffer's fascinating essay, A Time for Juveniles, in the June issue of Harper's magazine. He is talking here about the coming of automation to the advanced industrial countries, and the way in which social dislocation keeps our world in a state of perpetual shock.

Hoffer concludes: "The banishing of workers by automation from factories, warehouses, etc. will fill the cities with millions of unemployed workers waiting for something to happen. Condemned to inaction, and deprived of a sense of usefulness and worth, they will become receptive to extremism, and to political and racial intolerance."

★ ★ ★

We are rapidly entering a new era of social organization. This era will call for very different skills and attitudes on the part of individuals, and different strategies on the part of government, business, labor and agriculture. Just as our old machinery has become obsolescent, our old philosophies must be drastically revised.

Yet, we are not even trying to devise an overall approach to this massive problem.

Nobody knows what to do with the millions of school dropouts; we are puzzled and frightened at a crime rate that has grown four times as fast as the population; the cities are decaying and the countryside is polluted; richer than ever, we do not agree on how to allocate our resources; more powerful than ever, we are overwhelmed by a sense of our personal impotence.

We are preparing our children—the luck ones among us, that is—for individual skills of a high order; at the same time, we are turning them over to a new society that is confused, contradictory and chaotic.

It is we, not they, who need to study the face of the future.

Alec Guinness Back to Comedy

PARIS (NANA)—"The most important thing about Hotel Paradiso is that the film will bring Alec Guinness back to comedy," said director Peter Glenville. It was a sunny day in Paris and we were lunching on the green-enclosed terrace of the Berkley. "People have forgotten that Alec is the best interpreter of comedy in the English language," continued the debonair Glenville, who was an actor for seven years himself before turning his talents to playwriting and directing. "Alec has a certain streak of poetry in his work that gives depth, that takes away any coarseness," said the man who last directed him on the New York stage in Dylan, which won the Tony for Sir Alec last year.

Carol Lynley and Keir Dullea gave a radio interview here, praising the fabulous Sir Laurence Olivier who stars with them in Bunny Lake Is Missing. Director Otto Preminger heard it and said, "It is ridiculous to go to such extremes," tossed it out and made them start again—more objectively. But how can anyone who has seen Sir Larry in, Othello be objective about him? The night I went again, to be enthralled again by the best Othello of this or any other generation, there was Keir Dullea again. I think I could spend the rest of my life watching this performance. And I have never seen a better Iago.

The Stampede, Western Canada's biggest outdoor summer attraction, drew some 573,000 persons last year and officials hope the total will move closer to 600,000 this year as spectators take in the rodeo, midway and grandstand.

Mr. Hays' breakfast, held Sunday at the agriculture minister's farm in southwest Calgary, is highlighted by a multi-ingredient brew called "Silli-bub." It's guaranteed to "give the world a rosy hue," an invitation reads.

MAMMOTH FEED

Guests will gulp down hundreds of gallons of fruit juice, coffee and ginger ale, thousands of scrambled eggs, sausages, and potatoes.

Among guests invited are cowboy star Rex Allen; Air Commodore R. J. Burns, Royal Air Force attache in Ottawa; Sir Leon Gotz, New Zealand high commissioner to Canada, and Lady Gotz.

HONORARY GUEST

Film and television producer Walt Disney, honorary guest of the Stampede this year, is scheduled to arrive in the city aboard his private plane Sunday afternoon with his wife, son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Brown, and is not expected to attend the breakfast.

Mr. Disney, is to ride in an open convertible near the head of the huge Stampede parade Monday. Marty Woods of suburban Bowness, 1964 world champion saddle bronc rider, will be honorary parade marshal.

Thirty - one marching bands, precision drill teams, floats and a display of North American jeep clubs will fill out the parade through downtown Calgary.

AIR SHOW

Heading the air show Saturday at McCall Field are two RAF Vulcan jet bombers and a Comet transport; two USAF B-52s; and RCAF T-33 Silver Star jet trainers and CF-104 Starfires.

Among those expected to attend the annual barbecue and dance sponsored by the Calgary Press Club Saturday night are Douglas Bader, Second World War air ace; M. J. Coldwell, former CCF party leader; and John Hagen, U.S. consul-general in Calgary.

600 TO COMPETE

Six hundred cowboys from all over North America will compete for $80,000 in prize money. Colorful attractions are the chuck wagon races and brahma bull and bucking bronco riding. More than $70,000 will be offered this year in livestock judging.

But Nothing Personal

Bob Baker's Friend Admitted Call Girl

WASHINGTON (AP) — The mysterious West German beauty whose name figured in the Bobby Baker case has been described in a justice department document as an admitted call girl.

It said Ellen Rometsch admitted knowing Baker but denied intimacies with him or any government officials, including Congress members.

WEST GERMAN FILE

A summary of the department's file concerning Mrs. Rometsch, released by the Senate rules committee as an appendix to its report on the Baker case, said: "West German authorities are satisfied that Mrs. Rometsch has no intelligence connections and have closed their file in this regard. However, because of Rometsch's conduct they withdrew her husband's security clearance."

The summary, submitted to the rules committee last Dec. 7, told of some admitted prostitutes who claimed associations with men "high on the Washington scene, but hid their identities by referring to them as "Mrs. A," "Mrs. B," "Miss C" and so on.

MEN'S REPUTATION

Attorney - General Nicholas Katzenbach, who submitted the report, suggested publication of the entire file on Mrs. Rometsch "would serve to destroy the reputation of several individuals on the basis of allegations which may be false or which are wholly unrelated to the subject matter of the committee's inquiry."

A minority report by Republican rules committee members complained that the Democratic majority had refused to investigate deeply enough allegations about party girls.

Charges Follow Negro's Death

SEATTLE (AP)—The fatal shooting of a Negro by an off-duty police officer has resulted in charges against another officer and four Negroes and the suspension of both policemen.

Mayor J. D. Braman announced he would conduct an investigation to determine whether Seattle police are prejudiced against minorities.

An all-white coroner's jury ruled Wednesday the shooting of Robert L. Reese, 41, by patrolman Harold J. Larsen outside a Chinatown cafe June 20 was excusable homicide. Larsen, 34, and his companion, Franklin G. Junell, 28, were said to have been drinking and used offensive language and Reese and four other Negroes assaulted them.

Prosecutor Charles O. Carroll charged Junell with provoking an assault. The four surviving Negroes were charged with assault. Larsen was not charged.

Acting police chief C. A. Rouse called the two policemen "fine young officers" but said they were suspended for eight days pending investigation.

Jack Tanner, Northwest head of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said he would file a civil suit seeking to make the city liable for actions of the off-duty policemen.

Chance to Lift Embargo

Lab Offers to Check Island Produce Soil

Farmers and nurserymen who have been hit by an embargo on Vancouver Island products may be able to find early exemption from the regulations.

Dr. W. P. Campbell, who is in charge of the recently-opened Patricia Bay Airport laboratory to fight the Saanich golden nematode infestation, said Friday that his staff will give top priority to any requests for help.

'DO BEST WE CAN'

"We'll do the very best we can to check out fields of those affected by the ban," he said, "but they will have to come to us."

When the infestation was discovered recently at a Saanich farm, a ban preventing export was placed on all south Vancouver Island root crops, such as potatoes, and nursery products.

Dr. Campbell said that if the growers co-operate, there is every chance that individual fields can be certified as safe in advance of general lifting of the embargo.

"It is a matter of assigning priorities," he said. "We have so much work to do, and only a limited staff.

"To complete the whole soil survey will take at least until September, but if the growers get together and indicate which fields they would like to see checked first, we will probably be able to certify certain operations as safe.

"We have sent out letters to various organizations and groups such as the nurserymen, asking them to help us in this."

He warned, however, that some fields might be quarantined for a long time.

In an effort to step up the survey, meanwhile, holiday leaves for 100 plant inspectors across Canada have been postponed to make more men available.

TO BE DRAFTED

Those who have knowledge of the golden nematode will be drafted into the fight.

Dr. Campbell indicated that similar soil surveys will be carried out throughout the Lower Mainland, on the chance that the Vancouver Island outbreak has already infected farms on the mainland.

Bags of Dirt, Microscopes

By IAN SMITH

Dr. W. P. Campbell was just out from Ottawa and looking forward to a B.C. vacation when news of the Saanich golden nematode outbreak reached him.

By the end of the summer he may wish he'd never heard of the whole thing.

Dr. Campbell will probably be forced to remain in Victoria at least until September, because he happened to be the federal authority closest to the scene when the infestation was discovered.

Expected Holiday

"I came to B.C. expecting to spend a couple of weeks working in the Okanagan before taking a holiday," he said ruefully Friday.

Some holiday.

"I heard about the outbreak one day, and the next day I was told to get to Victoria," said Dr. Campbell. "And now . . ."

And now he has his work cut out for him, organizing the government program to combat the disease.

Bermuda Shorts

On Friday he was standing in his Bermuda shorts in the midst of a converted paint shed at the Patricia Bay Airport, managing to look calm and competent in the confusion of the first day of operation of the government's soil laboratory.

Along one wall stood a bench loaded with bags of dirt, collected at various locations throughout Saanich. In a corner, Don Chapple was washing the dirt through a soil machine especially imported from the U.S. department of agriculture.

"We're having two more made up," said Dr. Campbell.

They're quite the rig, and well-designed for their work—separating the nematodes from the dirt. But they have their problems, too.

Soil Washed

The scientists wash the soil with water, but they cannot allow the water to simply run out a drain, since it would then perhaps spread the infection.

Outside the shed stands the solution to the problem—two large water-filled holes which have not yet even been covered over, having been constructed so hurriedly.

In another section of the shed a number of technicians were busy with microscopes, checking out the washed samples, and overseeing the operation was the chief nematologist, Mohammed Waseem.

Dull Summer

Those on the microscopes are looking forward to a pretty dull summer, looking at dirt.

At least, they hope it's dull, because that will mean an absence of nematodes.

One of the girls, Linnet Lannon, actually spotted one Friday, but it was in a sample from the same farm on which the nematodes were first spotted.

Other Types

"One of the main problems of the soil analysis is that there are two other types of nematodes on the Island," said Dr. Campbell.

Right now there are about a dozen people in the lab, but it will be trebled within three weeks.

"We were criticized for moving slowly on this," said Dr. Campbell, "but we had to get things ready. It's not that easy to set up an operation such as this.

"We couldn't hire people until we had the equipment for them to operate."

But now that the operation is in progress, Dr. Campbell expects it to continue for a long time.

"We'll have to keep surveying for years, even if the outbreak is just in one field. We have to assure our markets that we're on top of this thing, and the only way to do this is by continual surveying."

Bracewell To Meet Officials

A meeting between retired deputy minister of municipal affairs H. C. Bracewell and officials of Esquimalt and View Royal will be called in the near future.

Mr. Bracewell's name was put forward as the man to make an independent survey of the possibility of amalgamation of View Royal and Esquimalt.

Gravenor Raps City Attitude

What a Way to Run Theatre—Disgusting!

The way the city is running the McPherson Playhouse is "disgusting," according to Kenneth Gravenor, producer of the noon concerts series.

"There is nothing booked for the theatre until Aug. 14, except noon concerts," Mr. Gravenor said Friday.

"This is terrible."

Mr. Gravenor said he was not annoyed with council because of the hall rental increase, but because of its whole attitude in running the theatre.

"Take pianos, for example. The theatre has no grand piano. The city has paid $750,000 to build the place, and you can't tell me they can't afford another $2,000 for a piano."

Mr. Gravenor says it costs him $80 every time he has to move a piano into the theatre for a noon concert.

"Rather than encouraging me, they discourage me with their attitude.

"I've been asking for a formal declaration of their intentions for weeks, but have received no reply.

"I feel the noon concerts have added something to Victoria. They have built more goodwill for the playhouse than any other productions."

Attracting people to the theatre is the main purpose of the concerts, Mr. Gravenor said.

"If I was just in for the money, I would run the concerts once a week, on Friday night."

In August, the noon concerts will be held in conjunction with the Festival Theatre Society productions.

Mr. Gravenor is waiting for city council to act, before he decides whether to run the series in July.

"The city is willing to run the concerts with me, on a percentage basis. This is just marvellous, as long as they are as willing to underwrite the losses as to divide the profits.

Police Seek Witness In Hit-Run

A witness to a hit-and-run accident at Cedar Hill Cross Road and Cedar Hill Road Friday afternoon is being sought by police.

Two boys were knocked from their bikes in the crash. The car then left the scene at high speed.

Ronald Cain, 6, 1525 Louise Place, and Paul Doutaz, 7, of 1531 Louise Place were released from Royal Jubilee Hospital after treatment.

Saanich police said the witness, a woman driving a late-model blue Ford or Chevrolet station wagon, left the scene before they arrived.

Icebreaker Heads for Arctic

Camsell Beats Heat

By TONY DILLON-DAVIS

The crew of the coast guard icebreaker Camsell left Victoria Friday, to spend the hot summer months in the shade of sheltering icebergs in the western Arctic.

On the wharves, wives, children and friends gathered to say goodbye to the crewmen, whom they will not see until the ship returns in September.

It was a perfect day for the sailing, the sun not too hot, the wind not too fresh.

* * *

About 150 people were there to see the 51 officers and men off.

One woman kept a firm grip on a German shepherd dog, which strained on its leash trying to get aboard and see its master.

Officers and men leaned over railings to shake hands with men who had come to see them go.

* * *

A few small children began to cry, there were the last embraces on the dock, the ship began to pull away, and there was a last chorus of goodbyes and a flurry of handwaving.

On the Camsell, the men took a last look at Victoria. On the wharf, the spectators began filing into cars.

In a month's time, the crewmen will see no trees or mountains or cities.

* * *

To them, scenery will mean ice, cold water and endless tundra plains.

They will be in the Arctic Ocean, smashing ice for channels for supply vessels, setting up buoys and supplying DEW Line stations.

The transport department has supplied the vessel with 20 full-length feature films, to entertain the men during the long voyage.

They will trade these films for films used at DEW Line stations.

The ship will travel 10,000 miles before it pulls into Victoria again.

Free Tickets For Tourists

Victoria Jaycee tourists of the week will get free tickets to the Show Parade 1965 productions in the McPherson, starting Aug. 14.

During four weekends, tourists of the week will see The Fantasticks, Hobson's Choice, or the Winslow Boy, all major evening productions in the Show Parade repertory.

Clack's Aides Follow Chief Out

City Planning Power Clash Comes to Head

By AL ARNASON

* * *

A City Hall power struggle over control of civic development project planning burst into the open Friday at a special meeting of council's personnel committee.

Rapid-fire developments in the wake of resignation Wednesday of architect Roderick Clack, special projects consultant and the brain behind widely-praised redevelopment projects in Victoria were:

- Resignation of Mr. Clack's staff of two architectural technicians, Peter Atkin and Ted Larsen, charging ". . . plotting and interference by the city engineer, in attempts to discredit this office and its work."

City engineer James Garnett was not available for comment.

Should Accept Offer

- A personnel committee recommendation that council accept "with regret" the Clack resignation. It added the suggestion "that council take advantage of Mr. Clack's offer to assist the city" by working on a consultation basis on continuing city programs for development.

- A protest delegation asking the mayor to rehire Mr. Clack in a special planning position responsible to the mayor and council, rather than to the city manager.

- Criticism by Mayor Wilson, who said Mr. Clack had ". . . found it difficult to conform to the normal chain of authority and lines of communication . . ."

- Disclosure of the previously withheld text of Mr. Clack's resignation letter, which says, ". . . I cannot understand the attitude of civic management which, regrettably, is steadily eliminating the opportunity for initiative in this field and discouragng effective creative work within the special projects office in City Hall."

In his resignation statement, Mr. Clack's technical assistant, Peter Atkin, charged the city engineer had tried "to discredit" the special projects division.

Mr. Atkin added, "I'm resigning because I don't want any part of what is left. There is no future in it for me now."

Mr. Clack's resignation letter contradicted earlier statements from city manager Dennis Young. Mr. Young had indicated the function of the special projects division had almost come to an end.

Mr. Clack's letter stated: ". . . It is my opinion that we should be considered on the threshold of our work of creating specialized urban design and imaginative planning projects. These can significantly contribute to the future growth and betterment of the environmental quality of Victoria."

Referral of the Clack resignation to city council indicated to insiders the depth of concern stirred up in City Hall by the events of the past three days.

Some sources had earlier indicated the matter might not go to council at all, but instead might be within the authority of the city manager.

In discussions Friday with a delegation from the capital region branch of the Community Planning Association, Mayor Wilson said city hall friction involving Mr. Clack went back to 1962.

Main function of the Community Planning Association is to encourage effective and imaginative planning throughout the nation.

Conflict Three Years

Mayor Wilson told the influential delegation's members that Mr. Clack and the city engineer had fallen into conflict three years ago. At the time Mr. Clack worked under Mr. Garnett's supervision.

He said an independent investigation indicated both men were "very capable men in their own right" but that there seemed to be "very little hope their personality differences could be resolved."

"To get around this problem, Mr. Clack was removed from the engineer's department and placed in a special office from which he reported directly to the city manager.

"We hoped that this would solve the problem," the mayor continued.

"Mr. Clack is a very brilliant creative person, and I think it is safe to say he operates on an individualistic basis.

"He found it difficult to conform to the normal chain of authority or lines of communication, without which any large organization like the city could not operate efficiently.

"His resignation was his initiative — not ours."

The mayor told the delegates he had felt it was a good time to discuss with Mr. Clack the opportunities in City Hall for an architect, in view of the approaching completion of many of the special projects.

"It was agreed the Broad Street mall should be one of the first projects he would tackle when he comes back from Ottawa," the mayor said.

Future Need Doubtful

The mayor said he felt at the time it would only be fair to indicate there would be "very little on the plate for a full-time city architect" after the present projects were completed.

"It is unusual for a city to have a full-time architectural consultant," the mayor remarked.

"And most other cities look it," interjected delegate Ian Sherwin.

"Mr. Clack felt he should play a major part in urban renewal," said Mayor Wilson, "but most urban renewal is just a matter of destruction of old buildings and placing new roads. We already have a planning officer and a very capable one."

The mayor also said, "I think the reasons in the letter (the Clack resignation) are not all the reasons. He may have found a whole new future opening up for him."

Delegation spokesman T. Foster Isherwood said the group would not be making its request for Mr. Clack to be placed in a special job position had he not resigned.

He said his group hopes that its suggestion of a special job independence for Mr. Clack will be adopted "while we have this present council — the best in memory — in office."

Developer Says:

Planning Loss Hurts Standing

Victoria City Hall attitude to long-range planning, reflected in the resignation Wednesday of city architect Roderick Clack, could cause financial houses to look twice before investing in city development, says a city developer.

James Mace, president of Mace Homes and Investments Ltd., of Victoria and Edmonton, who has completed $7,000,000 worth of development in the James Bay area and has another $5,000,000 on the drawing board, expressed concern over loss of Mr. Clack's services to the city.

CAN'T UNDO

"Imagine what will happen among the financial houses. They will lose confidence in a city that does not want to continue planning.

"You cannot undo bad planning. I cannot help thinking it is a step backward to lose a man like Rod Clack."

Mr. Mace also said federal government grants for urban renewal might be jeopardized by a city's failure to have "good architectural planning in advance."

Police Help U.S. Tourists

City police pitched in early this morning to help an American family find accommodation in the area.

Police radioed the Central Saanich patrol car to see if there was any vacancy out there and were told there was some space.

The patrol car agreed to meet the family on the Patricia Bay Highway and guide it to a motel.

Pink and White Theme At Wedding in St. Mark's

Standards filled with pink gladiolus and white delphinium decorated St. Mark's Anglican Church for the wedding of Elizabeth Ann, daughter of Mrs. Wilfred A. Cartwright, Washington Avenue, and Mr. Gerald Bruce Goodwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Harold Goodwin, Vancouver, B.C.

Canon Robert Willis performed the double ring ceremony and Mrs. Percy Hewitt was organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert G. Cartwright entered the church to the strains of Praise My Soul, The King of Heaven.

Nylon organza over taffeta, the floor length skirt slightly en train, was the wedding gown worn by the bride. The bodice had a sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves. Her elbow length veil, edged with mother of pearl, misted from a coronet of pearls and she carried a white bible topped with white gladiolus and stephanotis.

Maid of honor, Miss Pamela McMillan and bridesmaid, Miss Barbara Cartwright, sister of the bride, wore gowns of pink silk shantung with headpieces to match. They carried crescents of pink and white carnations.

Mr. Kenneth Goodwin was best man for his brother and Mr. Kenneth Hanson showed guests to the pews.

A three-tiered cake, made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. R. M. Cartwright, centered the bride's table at the reception in the Ingraham Hotel. Pink carnations in silver holders completed the decoration. Mr. Kenneth Elliott proposed the toast.

For a motor trip to the U.S. the bride wore a pink shantung suit, pink chiffon hat with white accessories and white gladiolus corsage. They will make their home in Burnaby, B.C.

Story-Small

A home at "Deerholme," Duncan, will follow a honeymoon up-Island for Robert Peter Story and his bride, the former Marion Hazel Small, who were married at an afternoon ceremony in St. John's Anglican Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Small, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. J. Story.

St. John's Cub Pack formed the guard of honor at the church. Mr. Small gave his daughter in marriage.

Her floor-length gown was of white peau de soie extending into a slight train. A headpiece of crystals held her four-tier illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of pink rapture roses with stephanotis.

Matching bouffant dresses were worn by Miss Helen Small as maid of honor for her sister, and her cousin, Miss Nancy Williams, senior bridesmaid. Circlets of aqua and white flowers formed their headdresses and they carried bouquets of white carnations.

The groom's sister, Miss Betty Ann Story, and Miss Gwen Riesbrow were junior bridesmaids, and chose matching dresses of white nylon with lace overskirts. They wore pink and white flowers in their hair and carried white Colonial bouquets.

Mr. Glen Jaques was best man, and the bride's cousin, Mr. Brooke Williams, ushered with the groom's brothers, Mr. Arnold Story and Mr. Bruce Story. Mr. J. Smirl proposed the toast to his god-daughter at a home reception following the ceremony.

As the couple left later on their wedding trip, the bride wore a pink floral surah dress with white accessories, and a white wool coat trimmed with fox fur.

Baines-Quesnel

GANGES — Duncan United Church, was the scene of a wedding at which Elizabeth Anne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Armand Quesnel, Ganges, B.C., became the bride of Mr. Lloyd Ernest Baines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry N. Baines, North Galiano Island.

The church was decorated with pink and white gladiolus and mixed summer flowers. Rev. R. B. Knipe officiated at the ceremony.

The fair-haired bride, given in marriage by her father wore a two-piece deep rose brocade knit suit, with small flowered hat and whimsy veil, and white accessories. She carried a bouquet of Sweetheart rose buds and stephanotis.

Mrs. Sharyn Hanson, Duncan, as matron of honor chose a three-piece blue and white knit suit with small flowered hat and veil and carried a bouquet of yellow feathered carnations. Miss Caroline Hanson, Duncan, cousin of the bride, as bridesmaid wore a printed yellow arnel dress, matching linen coat and small hat and veil. Her bouquet was of white carnations.

Best man was Mr. Roger Graham, Galiano, and ushers were Larry Quesnel, brother of the bride and William MacLeod, Ladysmith.

The reception was held at the Glamora Community Hall in Duncan. Mr. Cecil South, uncle of the bride, proposed the toast.

The young couple will spend their honeymoon on a motoring trip in the Interior of B.C. On their return they will make their home on North Galiano.

Orrico-Eddy

Tall baskets of roses and gladiolus decorated Sacred Heart Church, Lakehill, for the candlelit ceremony at which Theresa Elaine Eddy became the bride of Leonard Louis Orrico.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Edward William Eddy, Milnes Landing, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Orrico, Victoria. Father J. Planeta officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street-length dress of white brocade satin, with a chiffon veil held by velvet bow. She carried a cascade of red roses and her only jewelry was a gold cross belonging to the groom's great grandmother.

Matron of honor, Mrs. J. Van Schaik, wore blue lace and chiffon with a headpiece of blue flowers and net. She carried a bouquet of rose-pink roses.

Mr. Gary Orrico was best man for his brother and the bride's brother, Mr. Robert Eddy, ushered with Mr. Onorio Rocca. Mr. William Granow proposed the toast to the bride at a reception at Broome Hill Golf Club, where a telegram was read from the groom's aunt, Mrs. P. Perri, from Italy.

As the couple left later on a wedding trip to Washington, the bride wore a rose-pink suit of novelty weave cotton with white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

When they return to Victoria the newlyweds plan to live at 1550 Stockton Crescent.

A Ribbon Corsage For Future Bride

A ribbon corsage was presented to Miss Brenda Cary when Mrs. A. Lindsay held a shower in her Pearce Crescent home. Gifts were contained in a decorated box.

Attending were Mrs. J. Armstrong, Mrs. G. Long, Mrs. V. Cook, Mrs. M. Leach-Moore, Mrs. M. Morrow, Mrs. D. Sayers, Mrs. Y. Grant, Mrs. S. Ventnight, Mrs. P. Fraser, Mrs. J. Stubbington, Mrs. B. Kirk, Mrs. R. Baker, Mrs. D. Lawton, Mrs. C. Bailey, the Misses Judy Holt and Connie Gibson.

A decorated shower cake, made by Mrs. R. A. Smith, centred the refreshment table when she and Miss Karen Smith, the bride-elect's chosen attendant, entertained in their Woodburn Avenue home.

The guest of honor was presented with a corsage of tangerine carnations and her mother received yellow carnations. Gifts were contained in a decorated box.

Guests were Mrs. J. Sullivan, Mrs. H. Henry, the Misses Sharon and Barb Henry and Leverne Christensen.

'Bird Dog' In a Bun

GAINESVILLE, Ga., (UPI) — A chicken frankfurter called the "bird dog" has been developed in this broiler raising area which hopes it will enjoy at least some of the popularity of the "hot dog."

"It has a hot dog taste, chewy all-meat consistency," said Joe McEver, one of the producers. McEver said the bird dog is mostly chicken with pork and some beef blended in for flavor.

Latest Roman Catholic order to adopt the shorter, trimmer habit is the Sisters of Our Lady of Sion in Melbourne, Australia. The contrast is shown between old and new dress as Sister Eucharista, left, wears the modern habit, while the Rev. Mother Ambrose wears the former full-length habit of the order.—(Fednews)

ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Our beautiful 17-year-old daughter is in the bedroom sobbing her heart out. Her steady boy friend, Artie, told her this afternoon that he wants his ring and picture back. He didn't give any reason — just that he wants to date other girls and spend more time on athletics.

Do you know what it's like to hear a 17-year-old say she doesn't want to go on living? She hardly touched her dinner tonight and her eyes look like red coals. When she was telling us about her tragedy both my husband and I broke down and wept. Please say something to give us all courage. — EMPTY HEARTS.

Dear Empty: If this is a tragedy I'm a belly dancer in a kootch joint. High school kids break up by the thousands every day. Pictures, rings, sweaters, pins, and bracelets are shot back and forth like ping pong balls.

Instead of weeping with your daughter you should have told her that the cry baby who folds like an accordion when things don't go her way is in for a rough time.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: Recently you said many people who want replies in the mail enclose envelopes which they address to Ann Landers instead of to themselves. You expressed surprise that so many people make this mistake.

Why? Don't you know the average person is a moron? I've worked in our city hall for 20 years and nothing surprises me any more.

One woman who filled out a form for a driver's licence recently wrote, after the word sex, "Occasionally."

Then there are the old crows who knock 40 pounds off their weight and 10 years off their age when they fill out forms. Who do they think they are kidding? Last week a motherly type with snow white hair put down "red" to describe her hair color. When I called the error to her attention, she said, "I'm having it dyed tomorrow."

You, Ann Landers, should know that people can be awfully nutty. — OLD TIMER.

Dear Old Timer: People can also be awfully warm-hearted, generous, heroic and unbelievably kind.

And since you work in City Hall, please pass the word to someone higher up that some of those goofy forms are worded in such confusing language that Einstein would need help.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I was delighted when you told that daughter-in-law that it was up to her to write to her husband's mother. I didn't realize how much my cards meant to my mother-in-law until last Christmas. When we visited her she took out a huge bundle of cards she had saved over the years.

Sandwiched in among my own were cards written by the children. There was one scrawled by our daughter when she was 10, written in the beauty shop while she waited to have her pigtails cut off. And there was a card from our son written from the dog and cat hospital. His little dog, "Mr. Jones," had been struck by a car and he had just received word that "Mr. Jones is going to be OK."

We had a good laugh over the card we had mailed while driving through Paris, Texas. We sent it as a gag, hoping Grandma would think we were in France.

Our "Too - Busy - To - Write Daddy" was touched by my consideration for his mother. I'm sure he appreciates me just a little more — PATTY

Dear Patty: It's like I said—writing to a mother-in-law comes under the heading of being a good wife. You do it as much for your husband as for his mother. Cheers!

Presidents Set Style

Men Follow Fashion Fads, Too

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Presidents influence fashions for men just as first ladies often set the style pace for women.

Theodore Roosevelt started the fad for the panama hat when he started wearing the soft, sweeping brimmed straw of the tropics after a visit to his "baby," the Panama Canal.

Everyone recognized the high starched collars worn by President Hoover. Franklin D. Roosevelt put a lot of other men into casual, floppy-brimmed hats for sports with the floppy-brimmed headgear he preferred for sailing. President Eisenhower upset tradition for inaugurations by refusing to wear cutaway and tophat and sported a homburg instead.

Along came John F. Kennedy to put the nation's males into the two-button suit and into bareheadedness despite the apparel industry's efforts to get the jaunty young president to wearing hats.

Another modification appeared when President Johnson took office—this the Western touch in cowboy hats and boots for the leisure hours on the ranch.

The effect that heads of state, royalty, wars, depressions, and other events have had on men's styles are part of the compilation of 75 years of masculine fashions done this week by Men's Wear, the trade publication celebrating its 75th anniversary.

"The west was wild," the Chronicle begins. "The U.S. cavalry was still fighting it out with gun-slingers. In the east, Mrs. Astor presided over the socially-exclusive 400 . . .

So it was the year 1890 when everybody wore a derby and fashion began to move "from the classes to the masses." Bicycling and outings were among the few leisure activities of the average man but he "danged well" dressed for them in turtleneck sweaters, Norfolk jackets with matching caps, knickerbockers or "turnip pants" — full-length pants that turned up to knickers for pedalling.

The publication noted that the tailless evening jacket introduced in 1886 at Tuxedo Park, N.Y., by Griswold Lorillard, was still considered a novelty "fit only for stag affairs." It became the classic "tux."

The best of the "royal dudes" were King George V of England and Alphonso XIII of Spain. For others, the style was the military uniform. Civilians copied military touches with shorter suit coats, very "waisty" overcoats were belted, and hat brims went from curled to flat-set models in "trooper" style. And, the all-time classic, the trench coat, was born.

Advice to Innocents Going Abroad

STAN DELAPLANE Gives Travellers a Hand

"My parents are taking the 42-day Matson cruise in the South Pacific. Could you advise type of clothing? How formal?"

Sports clothes for daytime. Matson ships are fairly dressy at night. Cocktail dresses. And you might want one formal for the captain's dinner night. About two-thirds of the men will be in dinner jackets every night. But a black bow tie and linen jacket will do.

★ ★ ★

"We are flying east and then taking the Orcana. What clothing do we need?"

The P-and-O-Orient ships are also dressy in first-class. (But not in tourist.) Since you're flying, weight is a problem. Skip the formal gown. Your husband had better make a linen jacket do night and day duty.

And book ALL your hair appointments for these trips as soon as you get aboard. Especially captain's dinner night. That's when the rush is on.

★ ★ ★

"You mentioned a summer wine drink from Portugal . . ."

Sangria. Just get a large pitcher filled with ice and pour a bottle of dry, red wine over it. Slice in half an orange and half a lemon. Fizz it up with a half bottle of soda. Very light and good for barbecue evenings.

"Where is the best place to buy those big colorful blankets (serapes?) in Mexico?"

You get different colors and different weaves from different areas. And I like the designs from Oaxaca If you don't get to Oaxaco, have the cab driver take you to one of the big native markets in Mexico City. (These markets were operating when Cortez came to Mexico. Importing from the outside country.)

Feel the serape for a good woollen feel. If it's hard like a rug, the weaver mixed burro hair in with the wool.

★ ★ ★

"We will be in Mexico with the children. Can we rent riding horses for them?"

I never saw any riding stables in Mexico. But there are horses everywhere. You should be able to get them for a dollar or so a day. I don't know how you make sure of the horse though. In the back country they might be pretty bronco.

★ ★ ★

"We are so anxious to go to the Orient! What is the very cheapest air fare?"

There just isn't any. Air fares are fixed in the Pacific. The only way out to costs is on a tour. There are some Orient tours where the fares get somewhat absorbed with other costs. Too complicated to explain. But anyway, it does get cheaper.

★ ★ ★

"We had friends make reservations at the Savoy in London. How can we be sure it is confirmed?"

The Savoy — (and all English hotels) — are very reliable on reservations. And you must think your friends are. But if it worries you, spend a few dollars and phone. Only takes a few minutes.

★ ★ ★

"We would like to see the Changing of the Guard. How do we find out about it?"

In London, dial ASK 9211. Recorded voice tells all tourist events of the day with time and place.

★ ★ ★

"We must stay overnight in Miami (for an airline connection in early morning to the Virgin Islands). Have you a suggestion?"

I stay at the hotel upstairs in the airport. I thought it was a little expensive. But it has a good restaurant and certainly is handy.

HANNOVER, West Germany (Reuters)—Riot police broke up a demonstration by 200 students outside the Lower Saxony state parliament here Wednesday as deputies approved a Vatican agreement giving Roman Catholics the right to maintain their own primary schools in the state.

Manitoba Sets Open Season

Whale Killers Welcome

People whose appetite for killing big creatures remains unsatisfied after killing lions in Africa and tigers in India, may now kill whales in Manitoba.

To make it possible, that province has declared the first open whale hunting season.

Targets are the strange white (beluga) whales which, when mature, average 14 feet in length and weigh up to 1,900 pounds.

Hunters will operate off Churchill Bay, which is reached by train or airplane.

The limit is one whale a day; two for the season. Hunters must hire an Eskimo or Indian guide, who supplies the equipment including canoe, outboard motor, harpoon and high powered rifle.

The hunter may keep up to 25 pounds of meat from each whale and take the jawbone home for a souvenir. The remainder of the carcass goes to the guide.

Romania Joins Aviation Group

MONTREAL (UPI)—Romania Friday became the 110th member of the International Civil Aviation Organization. Romania has submitted its agreement to abide by the principles of ICAO to U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk. Romanian delegates will now be entitled to take part in the deliberations of the organization.

She Pilots Tourists

To ensure that visiting motorists don't get lost Sweden has instituted a mobile guide system. Marianne Hildebrand of Stockholm boards her motor scooter to start day's work. (Fedmaws)

Keep Out!

VANCOUVER (CP) — City council is considering a complete ban on motorcycles in Vancouver's public parks. Stanley Park trails are already closed to them, but constant tickets have not deterred violators.

New Yorkers Face Worst Drought Ever

NEW YORK (OFNS)—As the New York summer moves towards its sizzling height, citizens of this town—and millions of others living along the eastern seaboard from the New England States to Virginia — face the worst drought in memory.

With the hottest weather of the season yet to come, New York is already a dehydrated city. Lawns and flower beds are wilting because in the last few days it has become a crime, punishable by up to a month in prison, to use a hose for any reason except putting out fires

In luxury apartment houses, hotels and motels the swimming pools stand empty, like great concrete graves.

The crisis is compounded by the fact that there is no longer any chance of taking emergency supplies from the great rivers like the Hudson and the Delaware, which run close to the large eastern cities. All these waters are polluted by industrial waste to the extent that the fish can hardly survive them.

As President Johnson told Congress earlier this year: "Every major river system is now polluted. Waterways that were once sources of beauty and pleasure and recreation are forbidden to human contact and objectionable to sight and smell."

Spain Protects Visitors

MADRID (Reuters) — Spanish restaurants which have no tourist menu are going to find themselves in trouble with the law.

The tourist menu, which will offer pre-selected items at minimum prices, has been ordered by the ministry of information and tourism.

A typical tourist menu will have a fixed price for three courses, with taxes and service charges included.

The restaurants must serve bread and wine at no extra cost. And each establishment must have an official complaint book for customers.

NAMES ARE FEW

The Dutch-speaking population of South Africa is descended from only a few settlers. Nearly 1,000,000 people share only 40 surnames.

9 IN MEMORIAM

FURBANK—In memory of Clifford Furbank, died July 3, 1963, result of an accident.
More and more each day I miss him;
Friends may think the wound is healed;
But they little know the sorrow
Lies within my heart concealed.
—His loving wife, Frances.

FURBANK—In loving memory of a dear father and grandpa, Clifford Furbank, passed away July 3, 1963, as the result of an accident.
Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach;
Sweet to remember him who once was here
And who, though absent, is just as dear.
—Eileen, Frank and kiddies.

FURBANK—In memory of my loving father, Clifford Furbank, passed away July 3, 1963.
His smiling way and pleasant face
Are a pleasure to recall;
He had a kindly word for each
And died beloved by all.
Some day we hope to meet him,
Some day, we know not when,
To clasp his hand in the better land,
Never to part again.
—Sadly missed by his son Johnny and wife Donna.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREY

Tony Priday, who played for Britain in the 1961 World Championship, sent us this interesting deal from a friendly match between England and Poland, played in London. Tony's comment about the Polish team is keenly perceptive: "Their bidding is highly ambitious, but their play is good."

Vul: None

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ◇	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	4 N.T.	Pass
5 ♡	Pass	6 ♠	All Pass

Opening lead: Heart jack

Bidding a slam when the opponents hold 14 high-card points is indeed ambitious, even though North could add a point for his doubleton and South could tack on two for his singleton, plus another for 100 honors. The road opened up when North overbid slightly with his jump-raise to three spades. North has a difficult rebid over most responses once he opens with one diamond, and one club would not solve the problem. Many experts would select an opening no trump bid, despite the weak heart doubleton, to try to avoid this rebid problem. What made the actual bidding pay off was a combination of no duplication in the heart suit and a bit of forethought in the play.

How would you play the hand after the heart opening? A diamond towards dummy is a promising start, but dummy's jack wins and East drops the eight. Now spade ace and a second spade and West shows out. Continue, please.

Do you draw the last trump before you lead a second diamond? That's necessary, it's true, but something else must come first or when you lead the next diamond West will duck again and down you'll go. You can get back by ruffing a heart, but on the third diamond West steps up with the ace and gets out with a fourth round.

The Polish declarer made the most of his entries. On winning the second spade, he took a club finesse. Then he came to his hand with the third trump and led a second diamond. West's luck couldn't hurt. South came back with a heart ruff to lead a third diamond and the contract was made.

If I were to describe this delightful home in the glowing terms it deserves, the owners would probably "buy it themselves" and I'd be out a listing. The excellent floor plan comprises living room with mountain view, extra large dining room in the "L," dream kitchen with nook and view, 3 good bedrooms and 4-pce vanity bath. LAZY DAYS!! ON PIERS ISLAND!!!

Summers' here — and the Island's a busy place with frequent arrival and departure of water taxis, owner's boats and even a seaplane! The fortunate, with cottages built, enjoy life basking on their patios or one of the Island's 17 beaches or strolling the Island trails while others are busy clearing their lots, cutting shakes for the roof or building. Evening is a time for fishing or a stroll along the 2-mile country road past lush pasture where deer and horses peacefully graze on 150 acres of parkland donated to the property owners. Many of the choice large waterfront lots offer unspoiled beauty of fir and arbutus while others are cleared or in orchard planted over 60 years ago, by a pioneer owner. Waterfront lot prices from $3,000 to $4,850 depending on size. To see these lots this weekend call Mr. Biscoe, 656-3362 or weekdays, office 383-8413.

'Sell Airliners To Reds,' Johnson Asked

By IAN COULTER

PARIS—President Johnson is being asked to allow America's new jet airliners to be sold behind the Iron Curtain as the spearhead of the U.S. comeback after Russian domination of the Paris international air show.

Abandonment of America's "No jets for the Reds" policy now is seen as diplomatically and commercially necessary by U.S. air force generals who came here for the air show.

Russia's new jetliners are still considered commercially inferior to America's Boeing and Douglas planes. Only the huge Russian helicopters are admitted by the West in general and America in particular to be unapproachable.

BIG CLINCHER

It is the huge Soviet air bus, the Antonov 24, which has finally united America's generals and big businessmen to try to sell aircraft to eastern Europe.

Strangely, it is the military factor behind the apparently civil workaday air bus which has changed American thinking.

For the air experts at Paris firmly believe the huge Antonov is primarily designed not to carry Russia's masses and their goods across the steppes, but to transport ballistic missiles.

MISSILE CARRIER

A four-star general, Howell Marion Estes, commander of the world's largest military transport fleet, MATS (Military Air Transport Service), confirmed this to me in Paris last week.

"We know, as do your British experts who have seen through the Antonov, this is basically a huge missile carrier," he said.

"Next year our big jet transport, the C5, will be stretched to be as big as the Antonov."

KREMLIN JOKE

As the West's air force leaders and their technical aides went through the Antonov, they realized the Russians were having a Kremlin-style joke.

The Antonov's appearance was their way of telling the West just how confident and competent their air designers are.

New Water Repellent

Look, Ma— No Wipers!

OTTAWA (CP)—With a new silicon water repellent developed by a National Research Council chemist, you may soon be able to drive full speed on a crowded highway in an otherwise blinding rainstorm with your windshield wipers turned off—and still have good visibility.

Dr. D. F. Stedman of NRC's division of applied chemistry originally developed the water repellent for use on aircraft windscreens as a safety measure.

DEVELOPMENT

Now, after 24 years of research and development, the product is stirring real interest among airlines and can be produced commercially for the motorist.

Dr. Stedman demonstrated the repellent applied to his own car. It worked in both a light, misty rain and in a torrential downpour simulated by spraying water under pressure from jets mounted in front of the car's hood.

GOOD VISIBILITY

Without the repellent on the passenger's side of his windshield, visibility first became blurred in the rain and then completely obscured under a heavy build-up of water.

But on Dr. Stedman's treated side of the windshield, visibility remained clear. Drops of rain water hitting the windshield literally exploded on contact with the repellent and flew off in millions of tiny particles, leaving the glass clear and seemingly dry.

WIPERS OFF

The windshield wipers were not operated during the demonstration.

The repellent is a complex chemical compound with an appearance similar to black shoe polish. Applied to glass and rubbed briskly, it fuses with the glass in a tough film 1-10,000,000th of an inch thick. It is barely visible.

Blind Vets To Visit Victoria

Blinded war veterans of the two world wars will visit Victoria in the course of a week-long reunion in Vancouver next week.

A group of 350, including wives, will arrive in nine buses at 11 a.m. Wednesday, for the day.

After laying a wreath at the Cenotaph they will attend a luncheon at the Empress Hotel and will then be received by Lieutenant-Governor Pearkes and Mrs. Pearkes at Government House.

The veterans, from all across Canada, are members of the Sir Arthur Pearson Association of War Blinded, which this year celebrates the 50th anniversary of the founding of St. Dunstan's, an institution for the training of war blinded men and women. British publisher Sir Arthur Pearson, himself blinded for the last 10 years of his life, was the founder.

Lord and Lady Fraser of Lonsdale will accompany the group. Lord Fraser, who lost his sight at the age of 18 in 1916 at the Somme, has been chairman of St. Dunstan's since 1921. He will plant a tree in the grounds of Government House Wednesday to mark the anniversary of St. Dunstan's.

Convict's Diet Too Much!

JOLIET, Ill. (AP) — A prisoner who climbed to the top of a water tower at the Joliet state penitentiary 13 days ago, came down Friday, wet, weary and anxious for a change of diet.

When he scampered up the tower ladder June 20, convict Charles Thomas was well provisioned with candy bars, peanut butter and bread for an indefinite stay on a catwalk 100 feet above ground.

Prison officials, who made no effort to get Thomas down forcibly, said he was driven from his perch by an all-night rain and too much peanut butter and candy.

Thomas still had 16 candy bars when he came down.

Warden Frank Pate said Thomas shouted to guards at 4 a.m. that he was ready to descend from his lonesome perch "if you promise to give me something to eat."

The convict was given a warm bath and a breakfast of scrambled eggs, toast and milk. Then he was taken to hospital for a physical examination and psychiatric observation.

Pate said Thomas told guards after he came down that he climbed the tower because he didn't like his prison job and wanted another.

Pate said Thomas, serving 35 years for rape and armed robbery in Chicago, was assigned to a cell house cleanup squad.

Bargain Day In Queens

Four beauty queens, two from Windsor, Ont., and two from Detroit, reigned over Dominion Day parade in Windsor. The beauties are, from left, Anne Marie Lavery, freshman class queen at Windsor University; Mary Lou Dwelska, best-dressed coed at Windsor University; Mary Kay Rowe, spring carnival queen of Detroit University and Karen Kallie, Miss Wayne State University.—(CP).

Construction Totals $2,306,427

NANAIMO — Rural building permits issued for regional planning area No. 6 totalled $2,306,427 in the first six months of the year, or more than $600,000 dollars more than the same period last year.

In June 43 permits were issued totalling $441,566. These included 25 new residences.

There were two school permits valued at $106,000. These are the vocational training classrooms being added to Nanaimo district secondary school and a private school on Rosstown Road.

In the city of Nanaimo, building permits totals in June came to $123,809.

Dominion Day Protest

Nine Fined, One Jailed After Montreal Marches

MONTREAL (CP)—Of 55 persons arrested in Dominion Day demonstrations Thursday, only 13 appeared in court Friday on charges arising from the disturbances.

The remainder were freed or were under 18 and were held for later appearance in social welfare court.

The court appearances were the aftermath of two park and street marches Thursday afternoon and evening, both cut short by Montreal police massed in military formation and cruising the city in paddy wagons.

MOSTLY YOUNG

The demonstrators proclaimed themselves Quebec separatists protesting the anniversary of Canadian Confederation. Most were juveniles.

Ten of the accused, who faced such charges as disturbing the peace, refusing to move on at orders of the police and blocking the way to pedestrians, pleaded guilty.

Nine were fined sums ranging from $10 and costs to $75 and costs. The tenth, Gerry Adams, a welder with a record of convictions for such offences, was sentenced to eight days in jail at the request of Crown Prosecutor Bernard Bilodeau.

Camille Dupont, 18-year-old Montreal laborer, pleaded not guilty to charges of committing mischief by destroying a city-owned Canadian flag at fire department headquarters on the east slope of Mount Royal, and resisting arrest.

Dupont was ordered to post $125 cash bail until his trial, set for July 9.

Jean-Paul Bergeron, 22, a laborer, and Jean-Marie Breton, 20, a clerk, both of Montreal, entered similar pleas of not guilty and their hearings were also set for July 9.

Bergeron, charged with illegal assembly, was ordered held on $50 bail, while Breton, accused of refusing to move on, will have to post $25.

PARK SEALED OFF

The objective of the demonstration had been to march from mountain-side Jeanne Mance Park to Dominion Square in the city's business district. Police sealed off the park and demonstrators milled around inside it, clashing at times with police.

The park demonstration broke up at suppertime, and demonstrators gathered again as night fell in the Lafontaine Park further east, where separatists clashed with police on Victoria Day, May 24.

From this park they successfully marched as far west as St. Hubert Street in the east end, there to be stopped by police who began making large-scale arrests.

The handful of separatists who did appear at Dominion Square were cleared by the police.

Crosses Burn

Negroes March In South

JACKSON, Miss (UPI)—Ignoring a show of strength by the Mississippi Ku Klux Klan, more than 200 civil rights demonstrators staged another mass march Friday through downtown Jackson.

Two white men in a green pickup truck scattered some of the demonstrators at one point when they drove through an unmarked intersection while the marchers were crossing a street.

No one was hit, but a small Negro boy picked up a brick and hurled it at the truck, striking the rear of the vehicle. The truck slowed to a stop and then sped away again.

BURNING CROSSES

Earlier in the day authorities reported that at least 42 crosses were burned simultaneously across Mississippi Thursday night.

An anonymous caller phoned a newspaper shortly after the crosses were touched off at 9:30 p.m. to report the "White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan" were burning about 600 crosses as a reminder of the "Communist conspiracy."

Officials said the 600 figure appeared to be grossly exaggerated.

The White Knights group is one of the most secretive and militant Klan organizations in the country. Its members shun the robes and trappings of other Klan groups and meet in super secrecy.

Several members of the White Knights were among the 18 men arrested in connection with the slaying of three civil rights workers in Mississippi last summer. The 18 still face misdemeanor charges, but a federal judge has dismissed the felony counts that originally were filed against them.

Aid to Fruit Growers On Cost Share Basis

OTTAWA (CP) — The struggling fruit farmers of British Columbia learned this week they may get some help from the federal government, but Agriculture Minister Hays suggested the province will have to help foot the bill.

Three briefs were presented to Mr. Hays outlining the plight of farmers in the Okanagan, Similkameen and Kootenay valleys, many of whom lost most of their orchards during a severe storm last December.

FARMERS WORRIED

Mr. Hays told reporters he hopes "it won't be long before some sort of ground rules" are worked out which will provide relief to farmers on a continuing basis.

"I think they (the farmers) are reasonably worried and I think they require some help, too," he said.

"Of course any help we give them will be on a sharing basis with the province and the municipalities."

TO CONSIDER REQUEST

Dick Stewart of Kelowna, who presented a brief on behalf of the Association of British Columbia Grape Growers to Mr. Hays and Agriculture Minister Frank Richter of British Columbia, said Mr. Hays told thim the federal government would consider the association's request for aid "if we work with them on crop insurance."

PRESSURE ON

Mr. Stewart told reporters he understood this to mean that his and similar organizations should put pressure on the British Columbia government to cooperate with Ottawa on a program of crop insurance.

(Constitutionally, insurance is a provincial matter, but the federal government can take part in an insurance scheme through a joint board set up by the two levels of government.)

Mr. Stewart's brief said about 85 per cent of this year's grape crop will be destroyed. It requested an immediate grant of $203,000 to cover crop loss and 71,000 to replace vines, 20 per cent of which were ruined.

Arthur Garrish of Oliver, B.C. president of the British Columbia Fruit Growers' Association which represents 3,300 growers, termed the situation in the province's fruit industry "disastrous."

The growers had, as a result of the disaster, suffered a reduction of gross income of over $8,000,000."

Tax Reduction To Be Felt After Weekend

OTTAWA (CP) — Salary and wage-earners this weekend realize the first effects of Finance Minister Gordon's April 27 income tax cut.

Pay cheques from employers for any pay period ending July 1 or later were to have less deducted from them for federal income tax than the rates prevailing during the first half of the year.

CIVIL SERVANTS

Employees on weekly pay rates who receive their cheques at the monthly, such as federal civil servants, will notice the tax cut about July 15. Workers paid at the end of the month have to wait four weeks.

But the tax cut means an extra flow of about $5,000,000 a week into the public's spending power.

The tax cut amounted to 10 per cent of the "basic tax," before adding amounts collected by Ottawa for transfer to the provinces under tax-sharing arrangements.

The maximum amount of tax reduction was set at $600 a year for each taxpayer. Because the new rate went into effect at mid-year, the maximum reduction for any taxpayer in 1965 is $300.

Finance minister Gordon estimated the tax would cost the treasury $170,000,000 in the current fiscal year ending next March 31 or $265,000,000 in a full year in revenue given up.

This is the equivalent of about $5,000,000 a week.

Mr. Gordon said he expects this extra spending power to boost the economy and raise the gross national product growth rate above the figure of seven per cent he forecast before tax changes. Finance department authorities are expecting it to rise by 7½ per cent or even more and cross the $50,000,000,000 mark.

At the outset of 1965 many economists were predicting an easing in the upward surge in the economy during the latter part of this year. While the stock market faltered from mid way on, other economic indicators have held up well.

THE GIN THAT WON THE WEST

When Englishmen first came to their Western Canadian ranches their taste for LONDON DRY GIN came with them.

What more natural thing to do here — where fine grain and glacial water produce splendid spirits — than to import botanicals, such as juniper, coriander and other exotic flora, and begin distilling gin in the LONDON DRY tradition?

From this heritage comes RANCHMAN'S — the western gin with the English accent.

Next time, ask for RANCHMAN'S GIN . . . in any accent you like.

Policeman's Daughter Raped by Gang

* * *

RESEDA, Calif. (UPI)—A respected, deeply religious police lieutenant whose 19-year-old daughter was raped in a home used as a hangout for motorcycle and hotrod club members shot and seriously wounded one suspect in police headquarters Friday.

Lieutenant Tom O'Neal, 41, a 15-year career officer, fired five shots with his automatic pistol as Carl Norman, 21, was being led down a rear hallway from the jail to a waiting car at the West Valley division of Los Angeles police.

"My God, Tom, no," cried Detective Sgt. John Shublette, who was escorting Norman and another suspect when O'Neal started firing. Norman was taken to Northridge Hospital wounded in the chest, arm and hip.

O'Neal, a plainclothes officer who heads the vice detail for the university division, was overpowered by a fellow officer and booked on assault with intent to commit murder. He broke down and became incoherent after the shooting.

Deputy Chief Thad Brown said O'Neal was distraught because of his daughter's overwhelming emotional collapse after she identified two men among those who attacked her five or more times Tuesday.

Buildup May Spur Big Red Reprisals

15,000 FROM KOREA?

SEOUL (UPI)—The government Friday approved a plan to dispatch 15,000 South Korean combat troops to Viet Nam, a move which could bring massive reprisals from Asian Communists.

* * *

The cabinet gave its backing to the proposal to send a full division and "necessary supporting units" to Viet Nam. It now goes to the national assembly for final passage. The legislators will begin a special session July 12.

South Korea now has 2,600 non-combat troops in Viet Nam. They include engineering units, a security force and medical teams. The Saigon government officially requested June 14 that more soldiers be sent.

UNDER UNITED NATIONS

Technically, all South Korean military forces are under the control of the United Nations Command. Informed sources said South Korea would ask the UNC to transfer operational control of the division sent to Viet Nam.

Such a move could lead to North Korea sending units of its army to aid the Viet Cong. Communist China also could be expected to react sharply to a South Korean troops buildup in Viet Nam.

ADDS TO SECURITY

A Korean spokesman said the war in Viet Nam directly and indirectly affects South Korea's security and that by sending Korean troops into the war the government could contribute to Asia's collective security.

Red Satellite

MOSCOW (Reuters) — Russia launched another unmanned satellite in its Cosmo series Friday to continue the study of space.

Big Wave Never Came

Beaches Deserted

Coast residents from Alaska to California fled beaches Friday evening ahead of a tidal wave that never came.

The tidal wave alert was spread following a major earthquake at Umnak Island in the Aleutians at 2:04 p.m. PDT. A wave, if it came, was expected to hit Vancouver Island about 7 p.m.

EVACUATIONS

In the U.S., Seaside, Ore., was evacuated, as was part of Crescent City, Calif.

Police in greater Victoria warned swimmers off beaches at 6:15 p.m.

On the West Coast, police, radio and telephone operators flashed the alert to isolated fishing, logging and mining settlements. RCMP officers warned more than 75 campers at Green Point on Long Beach.

ALBERNI IS WARNED

In Alberni and Port Alberni, hard-hit by the tidal wave of 1964, residents were alerted by radio, but there was no evacuation of lowly-ing areas.

Alberni Valley Search and Rescue Squad stood ready, along with auxiliary policemen.

The alert was called off shortly after 7 p.m. by John Erb, provincial civil defence coordinator.

"We got a good practice out of the thing, anyway," he said later.

Surfers Wait In Vain

GEARHART, Ore. (AP) — A resident of this Oregon coastal community reported that several teenagers refused to leave the beach when warned of a possible tidal wave Friday.

The resident said the boys—all with surfboards — told police they wanted to ride a really big wave if the tidal wave actually struck.

The wave never materialized.

Despite Holes

Robbery Worth Million

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Royal Bank of Canada accountant testified Friday mutilated money taken in a holdup here was worth its $1,200,000 face value—despite three dime-sized holes in each bill.

Gordon Smith told Magistrate Cyril White: "The fact that the money has holes in it does not in any way affect its face value."

He said money punched with holes remains worth face value until it is destroyed at the Royal Bank of Canada's Ottawa head office.

SPECIAL COURT

Mr. Smith was testifying at a special court sitting aimed at having two men in Scotland returned to Canada for trial.

Joseph Percival, 37, a former Vancouver police officer, and James McDougall, 32, were taken into custody by Scottish police last weekend on warrants sent overseas by detectives here.

The warrants charge the pair with the armed robbery of a downtown CPR warehouse Feb. 11 and possession of $12,000 of the money.

LEFT CANADA

A hearing will be held in Scotland under the Fugitive Offenders Act after Scottish authorities receive transcripts of the Vancouver sitting to determine if Percival and McDougall will be returned to Canada.

The pair left Canada after being committed for Alberta Supreme Court trial in Edmonton on the possession charge.

At Friday's hearing two CPR employees, shown pictures of Percival and McDougall, said they bore "a strong resemblance" to two of the four men who staged the robbery.

The bulk of the money was recovered June 11 in a Fairfield Road garage in Victoria.

Just a Dash of Flower

Fawn still has mighty appetite after hair-raising escape from dogs that chased it over cliff at Muir Creek. Lifted to table by Inspector Don McCormick at SPCA shelter Friday, it instantly took mouthful from flower bouquet.—(Robin Clarke)

Ranking Tory Charges:

Pearson Impairing Future Probes

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative frontbencher Gordon Churchill said Friday night Prime Minister Pearson has set a dangerous precedent in asking Chief Justice Dorion to make a change in his report on the Lucien Rivard affair.

Governments in the past haven't always been pleased with reports of royal commissions and special inquiries, said Mr. Churchill who held several cabinet posts in the former Diefenbaker administration.

But the Pearson government, as far as he can remember, is the first to ask for a correction in such reports. This might make it difficult for governments of the future to recruit prominent Canadians to serve on commissions.

"If reports of royal commissions are immediately to be found fault with by prime ministers, than this might make it difficult for royal commissions to act with that independence and objectivity that is desired," he said in an interview.

Mr. Pearson has written to the chief justice asking him to correct a statement in his report on high government figures seeking to get bail set for Rivard, who was being held here on extradition proceedings. He was to face narcotics charges in Texas.

Mr. Churchill, 67, a member of the Commons since the general election of 1951, said he thinks the report is correct in its interpretation of the matter.

Flash in the Pan, Pianist on the Run

VENICE, Italy (Reuters) — Russian concert pianist Vladimir Ashkenasy interrupted a Schubert sonata Thursday night to chase a bulb-flashing photographer from the stage.

The director of the theatre calmed the pianist, explaining that the photographer had only intended to honor him, and Ashkenasy resumed his recital.

Hanoi Radio Says:

Viet Cong Reject Wilson's Mission

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi radio said Friday the Viet Cong guerrillas have rejected the Commonwealth peace mission and branded its peace effort a trick to cover up U.S. "aggression" in South Viet Nam.

"The so-called 'peace initiative' of (British Prime Minister) Wilson is but another trick aimed to extricate the U.S. aggressors from their predicament, to cover up their criminal acts of war and to divert the attention of world public opinion," the Viet Cong was quoted as saying in a broadcast heard here.

The Viet Cong stand put it in line with the Soviet Union, China and North Viet Nam in spurning the Commonwealth peace mission.

PEKING CONFIRMS

Peking's New China news agency also carried the report, made by a spokesman of the external relations commission of the central committee of the South Viet Nam National Front for Liberation (Viet Cong) Tuesday. Peking quoted the spokesman as describing the mission as a "trick of selling horse meat as beefsteak."

'IMPERIALIST SCHEME'

"The South Viet Nam National Front for Liberation holds the view that the 'peace mission' which Wilson is trying to form falls in completely with U.S. imperialism's scheme to check the advance of the national liberation struggle of the South Vietnamese people," the statement went on.

"This mission is only a signboard intended to hide the U.S. aggressive actions under cloak of peace."

Woman Walks 30 Miles

SAIGON (UPI) — A Vietnamese housewife travelled 30 miles to deliver four hand grenades to her soldier-husband and then fought side-by-side with him for their lives against the Viet Cong Communists, it was disclosed Friday.

The guerrillas were repulsed but both Pte. Nguyen Thi Nong and his faithful wife were wounded during the fighting.

* * *

The story began when Nong went home to Saigon from his post 30 miles northwest of the capital for a two-day leave.

Heading back to duty after his leave was up, Nong inadvertently left four hand grenades behind in his house. Mrs. Nong found them and went to the post to return them to her husband.

* * *

She arrived too late to get back home that night and Nong's commander gave her permission to remain overnight.

Early the next morning, Communist guerrillas attacked the outpost. The Nongs were in a foxhole. He fired his machine-gun while she hurled the grenades.

Dien Bien Phu

Historic Fort Bombed

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty U.S. Air Force planes worked over military targets Friday at Dien Bien Phu, symbol of France's defeat in the Indochina war by Communist - led guerrillas who are idols of the Viet Cong.

Strikes at the airfield and barracks of Dien Bien Phu, a jungle stronghold 185 miles west-northwest of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, highlighted a day of action on both sides of the Vietnamese border.

Pilots said they destroyed six barracks buildings, razed 12 other buildings and cratered the runway of the airfield in two 30-minute attacks.

NO OPPOSITION

They reported no opposition, air or ground, in that rugged area near the Laotian frontier where the surrender of Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries' decimated garrison to besieging forces of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap May 7, 1954, tolled the knell of the French colonial empire.

King Enters Fray: Peace for Asia

PETERSBURG, Va. (UPI)—Martin Luther King said Friday the United States must negotiate a settlement in Viet Nam and announced he was considering joining in "peace rallies" and "teach-ins."

"I'm not going to sit by and see war escalated without saying anything about it," said the Nobel-prize winning civil rights leader in his first venture into foreign policy.

The war in Viet Nam "must be stopped," King said. "It must be a negotiated settlement. We must even negotiate with the Viet Cong."

"We're not going to defeat communism with bombs and guns and gases," he said. "We can never accept communism. We must work this out in the framework of our democracy."

"We can beat communism with democracy. We must make democracy work," he told a rally sponsored by the Virginia branch of his Southern Christian Leadership Conference."

After Dorion Bomb Went Off — The Opposition Just Took Off

The House That Failed to Roar

By FRASER KELLY
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Members of Parliament have returned to their ridings leaving behind them empty halls and a session that ended with a bang — and a whimper.

The bang came Tuesday when the Dorion report exploded on the Commons scattering broken careers in all directions.

* * *

The whimper came Wednesday when the Opposition failed to mount a concerted attack on the government over the bombshell report, then sat on its hands while other business was rushed through the Commons.

But the reverberations of the report will be felt through the corridors for days, possibly weeks, to come.

Now there is an unseemly, and highly unusual fight between the government and the Chief Justice Dorion over one of its key findings. At stake is the integrity of Prime Minister Pearson. (See also Page 3.)

Charges will almost certainly be laid against several people as a result of the judge's conclusions. His scorching criticisms of the RCMP could prompt a major shakeup.

* * *

Guy Rouleau, Montreal Liberal, who was accused of "reprehensible" influence peddling while he was parliamentary assistant to Mr. Pearson, will likely resign, voluntarily or otherwise.

And the resignation of Guy Favreau from the justice portfolio will necessitate a cabinet change, if not a major cabinet shakeup.

The session that just ended was relatively short (85 days)

Some people are birdwatchers. I'm a fanwatcher. And there is one type of fan I detest above all others.

For purposes of identification, I have tabbed him the Flap-Tongued Lookbacker, genus Loudmouth.

The Lookbacker is readily recognizable by his loud voice, belligerent attitude and incessant cry of "Knock, Knock."

For that is his purpose in life. He knocks things.

Nothing about sports today is as good as it was when he was a boy. Without waiting for an invitation he'll flap up to an unsuspecting target, scream "Lookback! Lookback!" and tell you no player today could play on the same team with the iron men of his youth. No one today, coach, player or official, is doing anything right.

The Lookbacker flies from game to game, rapping everything in sight. Constant exposure to the Lookbacker has been known to contaminate a guy in the next seat, who goes home an apprentice Loudmouth and by next game is a full-fledged Lookbacker.

Victoria is infested with them. This year they are attacking Victoria Shamrocks.

Today's Tempting Target

Shamrocks are a tempting target. They've never been higher than a third-place tie in the four-team Inter-City Lacrosse League all season. They are beset by injuries, their team is spread all over Vancouver Island, and they've got a coach young enough at 24 to give the Lookbackers great sport.

You can hear them any night at Memorial Arena, cawing idiotic questions. Just for the record, here are a few answers:

Why isn't Jim McNeill playing instead of coaching? He's too damn young to coach.

McNeill isn't playing because his employers prefer that he does not. Although he is dying to play, he has quite sensibly put his career ahead of his lacrosse.

And no one can justifiably question his coaching ability, because he's never really had a chance to prove it one way or the other. How can you coach a team that has one player in Vancouver and four in Nanaimo? Just try running a practice half your club can't attend.

Why wasn't Tom Druce made coach after his fine record with the Junior Shamrocks?

Druce isn't coaching the Shamrocks because he was not the Shamrocks' choice. There has been too much bitterness between senior and junior clubs in the past to make such a move feasible.

When it came time for the directors to pick a coach, Druce's qualifications were acknowledged, but his name was not put up.

What's the argument between Ranjit Dillon and the Shamrocks, that he won't come up from the junior team?

There isn't any argument, and never has been.

Dillon is playing his final year of junior lacrosse, and prefers to stay down and try for a trip east to the Minto Cup final. Shamrocks would love to have him, but club president Buss Morgan promised Dillon at the start of the year there would be no pressure. There has been none.

Two Left to Play

Dillon has already played five of the seven senior games he is allowed without forfeiting his right to play junior lacrosse. He will play the other two whenever he is asked, providing it does not interfere with the junior schedule.

Did McNeill get the coaching job because his father is team manager?

McNeill was named coach because he was the best man available. There was no other reason, and none needed.

* * *

Those are the answers, but they will not satisfy the Lookbacker.

He'll go on screaming, and his more volatile brothers will go on slipping the knife into McNeill and the Shamrocks as long as the season lasts. Some of those knives are being flashed, guardedly of course, by people in lacrosse who are putting petty jealousies ahead of the game.

McNeill will be blamed because lacrosse hasn't produced as many outstanding players as it has in the past; because junior players are drifting off into baseball or football; because the club is still suffering financially from the spend-it-all days of the past.

The Lookbackers are getting troublesome, and when predators get troublesome the only answer is to eliminate them. Maybe that's the answer—a bounty.

One free ticket for every muzzled Lookbacker. Dead or alive.

NEW WESTMINSTER—Paul Parnell got back at Victoria Shamrocks here Friday night.

Held to one goal in Victoria Wednesday night under rugged checking, Parnell came back to score six last night, three in the final period, as New Westminster O'Keefe's beat the Rocks, 15-12, in the Inter-City Lacrosse League.

Shamrocks, who won that Wednesday night game, 12-6, had appeared to have everything going for them tonight. New Westminster was without scoring star Cliff Sepka and had to replace goalkeeper Les Norman with junior graduate Ken Ridd. Both Sepka and Norman are vacationing.

But they couldn't stop Parnell.

Ahead 2-0 at one point, the Rocks trailed 5-3 at the quarter and 10-6 at the half as goalkeeper Skip Chapman had one of his coolest nights of the season. Alf Shuker replaced Chapman in the second half, and the Rocks struck back to trail by only one goal, 11-10, going into the final period.

ALL PARNELL

Then it was all Parnell. With three goals already, Parnell brought his season total to 40 by beating Shuker three times on bounce shots. Each shot killed a Victoria rally, one of which brought goals by Reg Foster and Nirmal Dillon just four seconds apart.

Larry Clarkson scored three times for the Rocks, Reg Foster, Terry Davis and Larry Biggs twice. Ron Jay had five assists.

Tribe Takes Another Scalp

Rocky Back on Road to Success

When Kansas City gave Rocky Colavito back to the Indians, the female population of Cleveland did everything but declare a holiday.

To them, Colavito is a glamor boy of movie star stature. And, oh yes, he just might win them the American League pennant. That would be nice, too.

Colavito was at his John Wayne best Friday in Baltimore. He drove in five runs with his 19th homer, a double and a single to beat the Orioles 8-0 and allow the Indians to maintain their one-game lead over Minnesota Twins.

Lee Stange throttled the Orioles on four hits as the Indians won their sixth game in the last seven and 18th in 21.

Colavito gave Stange all the help he needed with a run-scoring double in the first inning. He added a three-run homer in the third and singled in another run in the fourth.

Jim Grant threw a five-hitter and Tony Oliva drove in two runs as Minnesota edged Kansas City Athletics. Third - place Chicago lost 5-4 to Los Angeles Angels.

For sheer muscles, though, you couldn't top New York Yankees.

They collected a total of 21 hits and stunned Boston Red Sox 16-2. Rookie Roger Repoz, starting only his second major league game, led the way with a homer, a single and a sacrifice fly to drive in four runs.

Los Angeles Dodgers lost again — for the sixth time in eight games — but despite the 4-3 loss to Houston Astros still held on to their two-game lead in the National League.

Don Drysdale took his fifth straight loss, giving up a single to Walt Bond with bases loaded and two out in the ninth to break a 3-3 tie. Joe Morgan had singled and Drysdale walked the next two men, the first intentionally.

But second-place Cincinnati again failed to take advantage of Dodger misfortune. Philadelphia Phillies won their sixth straight, beating the Reds 4-3 on a two-run homer by Dick Stuart in the eighth inning.

Colts Beat Connies In Tourney Opener

Clutch pitching by John Knowles, who retired the opposition with bases loaded in the seventh inning to preserve Colt "A" team's edge, led the Colts to a 4-1 victory over Connie Mack "A"s in a loosely-played opener of the minor league baseball tournament at Royal Athletic Park Friday.

None of the runs scored by either side was earned. Colts got three runs on walks, one on an error and gave up a run on a walk in the fifth inning.

Tom Sallaway pitched for Macks.

Involves 200 Subcontractors

Duncan Independents Target of IWA Drive

DUNCAN — The International Woodworkers of America will launch a drive to organize all subcontractors working in the Duncan area.

The union is asking for co-operation from the 20 larger operations in the territory of IWA Local 180, it was disclosed Wednesday.

This involves 200 sub-contractors and most are truckers, but none belongs to the union.

MORE PRODUCTION

The union said the only reason the larger operators engage sub-contractors is to get more production at less cost.

This drive to bring all persons within the woodworking industry into Local 1-80 does not include "stump to dump" operators who would be organized as a separate unit.

A spokesman said all workers handling logs, lumber and veneer must be members regardless of whether they own their own equipment.

The spokesman said "far too long, have so-called independent owner operators and sub-contractors been allowed to reap the fruit of union organization without participating by paying membership dues and carrying out union responsibilities."

He said the drive to organize all sub-contractors was one of the resolutions made at a recent meeting of the Western Canadian Regional Council, IWA.

All companies in the Local 1-80 area will receive notices and the sub-contractors will be approached individually. The union official said by joining the union the sub-contractors will become eligible for medical, health and welfare coverage, they will have the benefit of seniority rights, paid vacations and observance of statutory holidays.

Norman's boat tows logs into mill

A Booming Business

No 'Bums,' This Trio

NANAIMO — Three city men are making a good living proving that beachcombers aren't lazy bums.

Norman Burton, 448 Lenhart, his brother Sam and partner Al Roberts work hard on their three timber salvage boats, beefed-up to take hard use.

Every day the beaches around Nanaimo are combed for usable timber that has escaped from booms belonging to major logging companies in the area.

Norman Burton said the usual procedure is for one man to attach a "dog-line" to a log and help lever it off the beach, while his partner operates the towing launch.

LOGS TOWED

All logs are towed to the Burtons' booming ground at Protection Island where the fir is separated from the other timber, and the logs are then assembled into sections.

The logs are being sold to the Dorman Chip and Pulp Co. Ltd. on the waterfront at Stewart Road.

In the winter booms take three or four days to assemble, but during the summer with fewer storms to break logs loose it takes a week and a half.

INSURANCE

If a really bad storm hits the area and disperses a boom the Burtons are usually hired by Gulf Log Salvage, a company that insures booms, and the drifting logs are collected and handed back to the parent company.

During three years of beachcombing, Norman said, he has fallen into the water many times, which in winter can be a bone-chilling experience.

BOAT SANK

No member of the three-man team has ever become shipwrecked he said, but once Sam hit a deadhead off Gabriola Island, and the boat went to the bottom.

"We got a skin diver and a large frame and managed to raise her again."

He says that beachcombing isn't the easiest way to make a living.

At Campbell River

Victoria Man Takes Cup In Sports Day

CAMPBELL RIVER—Victorian Ron Pappenberger Thursday was named best all-around logger at the revived Campbell River loggers' sports day.

Mr Pappenberger, of 124 St. Andrew Street, showed spectacular form as he won the speed climbing event by scaling a 66-foot timber in 19 seconds flat.

He won the Tahsis Cup, presented by the Tahsis Company. If he or any other contestant wins it three times running, it will be theirs for keeps.

SPORTS REVIVED

Logging sports were revived at Campbell River after a lapse of several years.

World champion log-burler Jube Wickheim had little trouble winning his event, though two local entries gave him a good run.

Bill Baikie stayed with Wickheim for a total of 23 minutes and six seconds before losing the semi-final round in two straight falls.

KLEINER KEPT UP

In the final, Heinz Kleiner kept up with Wickheim until the log was shortened, then lost in straight falls.

Other results: Chokerman's race, D. J. McKenzie and Allan Woodraw, both of Campbell River; eye-splicing, Ernie Alexander and Jim Taylor, both of Campbell River; speed climbing, Stan Cox, Campbell River; exhibition drag saw, Harvey Dye and Braidy Brown.

SALMON DERBY

The day began with the Jaycee salmon derby. The final weigh-in at 10 a.m. gave first prize to Mrs. A. Focht of Campbell River with an 11-pound, eight-ounce spring salmon.

Top coho was caught by Sam Nazaruk at eight pounds, five ounces.

An hour-long parade at 11 a.m. had three bands. First prize for a commercial float went to the Elk Falls Company. The non-commercial float prize was won by Job's Daughters.

'They Must Come to Us'

Lab Offers to Clear Island Field Produce

Farmers and nurserymen who have been hit by an embargo on Vancouver Island products may be able to find early exemption from the regulations.

Dr. W. P. Campbell, who is in charge of the recently-opened Patricia Bay Airport laboratory to fight the Saanich golden nematode infestation, said Friday that his staff will give top priority to any requests for help.

'DO BEST WE CAN'

"We'll do the very best we can to check out fields of those affected by the ban," he said, "but they will have to come to us."

When the infestation was discovered recently at a Saanich farm, a ban preventing export was placed on all south Vancouver Island root crops, such as potatoes, and nursery products.

Dr. Campbell said that if the growers co-operate, there is every chance that individual fields can be certified as safe in advance of general lifting of the embargo.

"It is a matter of assigning priorities," he said. "We have so much work to do, and only a limited staff.

"To complete the whole soil survey will take at least until September, but if the growers get together and indicate which fields they would like to see checked first, we will probably be able to certify certain operations as safe.

"We have sent out letters to various organizations and groups such as the nurserymen, asking them to help us in this."

He warned, however, that some fields might be quarantined for a long time.

In an effort to step up the survey, meanwhile, holiday leaves for 100 plant inspectors across Canada have been postponed to make more men available.

TO BE DRAFTED

Those who have knowledge of the golden nematode will be drafted into the fight.

Dr. Campbell indicated that similar soil surveys will be carried out throughout the Lower Mainland, on the chance that the Vancouver Island outbreak has already infected farms on the mainland.

Parade Draws Praise

Holiday Was Fun But Crowds Thin in Duncan

DUNCAN—Teen-Towners had a lot of fun trying to revive Dominion Day festivities in Duncan, but their efforts didn't draw large crowds.

They organized a parade with 38 entries, including 125 participants and two bands.

But only a few spectators turned out at Pioneer Park to see performances of the Cobble Hill folk dancing group, the Mill Bay Squarenaders, various entertainers on the stage, and to take part in a bingo game.

A well advertised public dance at the city parking lot Thursday evening, according to teen town adult supervisor Jim Quaife, was "a flop."

He said the Teen Towners were praised by Duncan Mayor Jack Dobson for the parade in the morning. Mr. Quaife said next year only a parade and a dance in the evening may be staged.

"We worked very hard for it and despite the poor turnout we had a lot of fun," he remarked.

For the best-decorated bikes, three girls received prizes. They were: Shurli Eyford, Sheral Hogg, and Marnie Eyford.

Courtenay Celebrations

Ferry Link-Up Boosted Crowds

COURTENAY—Dominion Day celebrations here enjoyed sunny weather and drew one of the largest holiday crowds in many years.

With the new ferry service between Comox and Powell River in effect, 26 carloads of Powell River residents came over to join the fun. About 12 more cars were left at the Westview terminal because the ferry was not large enough to accommodate more cars.

STRETCHED MILE

Twenty nine floats and three bands made up the mile-long parade in which first prize was shared by ladies of the Royal Purple Lodge and the men of Courtenay Elks' Club.

The Cavalotti Italian lodge, Nanaimo, took second place honors, and third prize went to the Comox Valley Ski Club.

Honorable mention was given to the Soroptomist Club, Courtenay-Comox Chamber of Commerce and Rotary. Also entered were two floats from Cumberland. Kin entered one depicting the 50th anniversary of Kinsmen and the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce brought their replica of the Comox Queen, entered in conjunction with the Courtenay Jaycees.

A special judges' cash prize was awarded to Courtenay Fish and Game Club.

Road Toll Mars Big Day

COURTENAY—July 1 celebrations, part of the 50th anniversary of Courtenay, were marred by three traffic accidents, although there were no injuries.

A new car driven by Percy George Mullholland, RCAF Station Comox, was wrecked when it crashed into a ditch south of Union Bay on the Island Highway.

In other mishaps, cars driven by Doug Baird and Bruno Marocchi, both of Cumberland, collided at the corner of 8th and England and a truck driven by Herbert Smith, Cumberland, following the parade, was struck by a sports car driven by Guido Bariscaf, RCAF Station Comox.

Hampered by Climate

75 Men Tame Mountain Blaze

LADYSMITH — A forest fire that broke out in the mountains 25 miles northwest of here was reported under control Friday.

But rising temperatures and falling humidity have put B.C. Forest Service workers on the alert all over Vancouver Island.

In Nanaimo Thursday, the fire hazard was rated "extreme" for the first time this year.

Ten fires broke on the Island during Dominion Day, though all but the Ladysmith blaze were doused within hours.

A total of 75 men fought the Ladysmith fire in prime timber near Haslam Lake. They were hampered by 80-degree daytime temperatures and low humidity.

"Provided there are no high winds the fire is completely under control," Henry Berto, general foreman of Crown Zellerbach Canada's Nanaimo Lakes Division reported Friday.

Most logging crews in the central Vancouver Island area worked an early shift Thursday in order to have a three-day holiday weekend. The fire was reported shortly after crews had left the woods.

Company officials said cause of the fire had not yet been determined.

A water bomber made eight drops on the fire Thursday afternoon.

In Nanaimo humidity dropped from 100 per cent at the Mount Benson lookout on Monday to only 30 per cent by Dominion Day.

Diver Finds Missing Till

NANAIMO—An RCMP diver Thursday partially solved a four-month-old theft from the Tally Ho Motor Lodge.

A cash register—minus its $300 contents—was recovered from a pool of the Millstream River in Bowen Park.

Cowichan Show

Horse Event Attracts Record Entry

DUNCAN—Despite high temperatures Thursday a record number of 78 entries from Vancouver Island and mainland centres took part in the annual Dominion Day horse show at the Cowichan Exhibition grounds here.

The event was sponsored by the Cowichan District Riding Club which for many years has staged this event.

Champion hunter of the show was Hindu Punch, ridden by Pat Donaldson from Victoria, with Golden Aura, ridden by Ed Lister of Duncan as reserve. Champion saddle horse of the show was Lady Associate with Alison Robb from Saanich and Hindu Punch with Mrs. J. V. Donaldson of Victoria.

Fire Indicators: Serious Season

The B.C. Forest Service said Friday all indications "point to a serious fire season" in the province's forests with a total of 870 outbreaks reported so far this year.

Fighting the blazes has cost the service a total of $456,400, compared with $41,500 spent battling 485 fires by this point last year.

Eighty fires were still burning Friday, with 118 new fires having been reported and 108 extinguished.

The service said all fires still burning are "quiet."

"However, predicted high temperatures for the weekend are expected to increase fire hazards in most parts of the province."

Mars Bomber Grounded For Repairs

One of the giant Martin Mars water bombers will undergo a two to three-day repair job at Fairey (Canada) Ltd.

Fairey will replace a probe on one of the aircraft's water tanks. The probe is part of the apparatus that scoops up the water.

While this is going on, employees of Flying Tankers Ltd. will be cleaning out a fuel tank and system which took in water and gelgard—the crystals that make dropped water stick to trees—when the probe broke.

Another Mars bomber is on standby at Sproat Lake.

Folder Published

Town That Isn't Draws Tourists

Public interest in a town that doesn't yet exist has brought out a tourist folder about the spot.

Gold River, the new town being created by the Tahsis Company Ltd. on the west coast of Vancouver Island, is the subject of a two-color folder issued this week.

Tahsis president, J. V. Christensen said in Vancouver the folder was produced because of the hundreds of sightseers who have been visiting the embryo town every weekend. Some 2,800 passed through the gate at the edge of the company's tree farm licence 19 during May, and the flow has increased since.

The $15 million town is being created by the Tahsis Company along with a $60 million pulp mill on Muchalat Arm, leading in from Nootka Sound, the historic cradle of B.C.

Both are scheduled for completion in mid-June 1967. The town will be home to about 3,000 people in two years.

The folder features a photograph of Muchalat Lake, 10 miles north of the townsite, which the Company has reserved for the public. An 18-acre public camp and picnic site will be developed alongside the lake this summer and a strip of trees 330-feet wide has been preserved all around the lake.

No overnight accommodation other than the campsite will be available in the area this summer. Date of the campsite's completion is not yet fixed.

Distemper Hits Epidemic Level

NANAIMO—Distemper has reached epidemic level in Nanaimo, the SPCA warned Friday.

Many young dogs have already died from the disease. Pet owners are urged to have animals inoculated.

Puppies are especially susceptible to distemper, a spokesman said.

Port Alberni Program

Nine Streets Paved

POR.T ALBERNI — The year's paving program is two-thirds complete, says city superintendent Len Crowshaw.

Argyle Street, Fifth to Eighth Avenue, and First Avenue, Argyle to Athol, has been recapped to the full width, while nine new streets have been surfaced, most of them for the full width.

Maitland Street, Tenth to Anderson; Ninth Avenue, Morton to Maitland; Seventh Avenue, Morton to Maitland; and Third Avenue, Morton to Maitland; have been prepared for surfacing.

The sidewalk program is progressing at a good rate aided by good weather, and a dustlaying program involving distribution of 32,000 gallons of oil has been completed.

Kendall Street from Wallace to King Streets has been opened up and gravelled, according to the report.

Policeman's Daughter Raped by Gang

* * *

RESEDA, Calif. (UPI)—A respected, deeply religious police lieutenant whose 19-year-old daughter was raped in a home used as a hangout for motorcycle and hotrod club members shot and seriously wounded one suspect in police headquarters Friday.

Lieutenant Tom O'Neal, 41, a 15-year career officer, fired five shots with his automatic pistol as Carl Norman, 21, was being led down a rear hallway from the jail to a waiting car at the West Valley division of Los Angeles police.

"My God, Tom, no," cried Detective Sgt. John Shublette, who was escorting Norman and another suspect when O'Neal started firing. Norman was taken to Northridge Hospital wounded in the chest, arm and hip.

O'Neal, a plainclothes officer who heads the vice detail for the university division, was overpowered by a fellow officer and booked on assault with intent to commit murder. He broke down and became incoherent after the shooting.

Deputy Chief Thad Brown said O'Neal was distraught because of his daughter's overwhelming emotional collapse after she identified two men among those who attacked her five or more times Tuesday.

Buildup May Spur Big Red Reprisals

15,000 FROM KOREA?

SEOUL (UPI)—The government Friday approved a plan to dispatch 15,000 South Korean combat troops to Viet Nam, a move which could bring massive reprisals from Asian Communists.

* * *

The cabinet gave its backing to the proposal to send a full division and "necessary supporting units" to Viet Nam. It now goes to the national assembly for final passage. The legislators will begin a special session July 12.

South Korea now has 2,600 non-combat troops in Viet Nam. They include engineering units, a security force and medical teams. The Saigon government officially requested June 14 that more soldiers be sent.

UNDER UNITED NATIONS

Technically, all South Korean military forces are under the control of the United Nations Command. Informed sources said South Korea would ask the UNC to transfer operational control of the division sent to Viet Nam.

Such a move could lead to North Korea sending units of its army to aid the Viet Cong. Communist China also could be expected to react sharply to a South Korean troops buildup in Viet Nam.

ADDS TO SECURITY

A Korean spokesman said the war in Viet Nam directly and indirectly affects South Korea's security and that by sending Korean troops into the war the government could contribute to Asia's collective security.

Dien Bien Phu

Historic Fort Bombed

SAIGON (AP) — Thirty U.S. Air Force planes worked over military targets Friday at Dien Bien Phu, symbol of France's defeat in the Indochina war by Communist-led guerrillas who are idols of the Viet Cong.

Strikes at the airfield and barracks of Dien Bien Phu, a jungle stronghold 185 miles west-northwest of Hanoi, North Viet Nam's capital, highlighted a day of action on both sides of the Vietnamese border.

Pilots said they destroyed six barracks buildings, razed 12 other buildings and cratered the runway of the airfield in two 30-minute attacks.

NO OPPOSITION

They reported no opposition, air or ground, in that rugged area near the Laotian frontier where the surrender of Brig.-Gen. Christian de Castries' decimated garrison to besieging forces of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap May 7, 1954, tolled the knell of the French colonial empire.

Big Wave Never Came

Beaches Deserted

Coast residents from Alaska to California fled beaches Friday evening ahead of a tidal wave that never came.

The tidal wave alert was spread following a major earthquake at Umnak Island in the Aleutians at 2:04 p.m. PDT. A wave, if it came, was expected to hit Vancouver Island about 7 p.m.

EVACUATIONS

In the U.S., Seaside, Ore., was evacuated, as was part of Crescent City, Calif.

Police in greater Victoria warned swimmers off beaches at 6:15 p.m.

On the West Coast, police, radio and telephone operators flashed the alert to isolated fishing, logging and mining settlements. RCMP officers warned more than 75 campers at Green Point on Long Beach.

ALBERNI IS WARNED

In Alberni and Port Alberni, hard-hit by the tidal wave of 1964, residents were alerted by radio, but there was no evacuation of low-lying areas.

Alberni Valley Search and Rescue Squad stood ready, along with auxiliary policemen.

The alert was called off shortly after 7 p.m. by John Erb, provincial civil defence coordinator.

"We got a good practice out of the thing, anyway," he said later.

Surfers Wait In Vain

GEARHART, Ore. (AP) — A resident of this Oregon coastal community reported that several teenagers refused to leave the beach when warned of a possible tidal wave Friday.

The resident said the boys—all with surfboards — told police they wanted to ride a really big wave if the tidal wave actually struck.

The wave never materialized.

Despite Holes

Robbery Worth Million

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Royal Bank of Canada accountant testified Friday mutilated money taken in a holdup here was worth its $1,200,000 face value—despite three dime-sized holes in each bill.

Gordon Smith told Magistrate Cyril White: "The fact that the money has holes in it does not in any way affect its face value."

He said money punched with holes remains worth face value until it is destroyed at the Royal Bank of Canada's Ottawa head office.

SPECIAL COURT

Mr. Smith was testifying at a special court sitting aimed at having two men in Scotland returned to Canada for trial.

Joseph Percival, 37, a former Vancouver police officer, and James McDougall, 32, were taken into custody by Scottish police last weekend on warrants sent overseas by detectives here.

The warrants charge the pair with the armed robbery of a downtown CPR warehouse Feb. 11 and possession of $12,000 of the money.

LEFT CANADA

A hearing will be held in Scotland under the Fugitive Offenders Act after Scottish authorities receive transcripts of the Vancouver sitting to determine if Percival and McDougall will be returned to Canada.

The pair left Canada after being committed for Alberta Supreme Court trial in Edmonton on the possession charge.

At Friday's hearing two CPR employees, shown pictures of Percival and McDougall, said they bore "a strong resemblance" to two of the four men who staged the robbery.

The bulk of the money was recovered June 11 in a Fairfield Road garage in Victoria.

Ranking Tory Charges:

Pearson Impairing Future Probes

OTTAWA (CP) — Conservative frontbencher Gordon Churchill said Friday night Prime Minister Pearson has set a dangerous precedent in asking Chief Justice Dorion to make a change in his report on the Lucien Rivard affair.

Governments in the past haven't always been pleased with reports of royal commissions and special inquiries, said Mr. Churchill who held several cabinet posts in the former Diefenbaker administration.

But the Pearson government, as far as he can remember, is the first to ask for a correction in such reports. This might make it difficult for governments of the future to recruit prominent Canadians to serve on commissions.

"If reports of royal commissions are immediately to be found fault with by prime ministers, then this might make it difficult for royal commissions to act with that independence and objectivity that is desired," he said in an interview.

Mr. Pearson has written to the chief justice asking him to correct a statement in his report on high government figures seeking to get bail set for Rivard, who was being held here on extradition proceedings. He was to face narcotics charges in Texas.

Mr. Churchill, 57, a member of the Commons since the general election of 1951, said he thinks the report is correct in its interpretation of the matter.

Flash in the Pan, Pianist on the Run

VENICE, Italy (Reuters) — Russian concert pianist Vladimir Ashkenazy interrupted a Schubert sonata Thursday night to chase a bulb-flashing photographer from the stage.

The director of the theatre calmed the pianist, explaining that the photographer had only intended to honor him, and Ashkenazy resumed his recital.

Hanoi Radio Says:

Viet Cong Reject Wilson's Mission

TOKYO (AP) — Hanoi radio said Friday the Viet Cong guerrillas have rejected the Commonwealth peace mission and branded its peace effort a trick to cover up U.S. "aggression" in South Viet Nam.

"The so-called 'peace initiative' of 'British Prime Minister) Wilson is but another trick aimed to extricate the U.S. aggressors from their predicament, to cover up their criminal acts of war and to divert the attention of world public opinion," the Viet Cong was quoted as saying in a broadcast heard here.

The Viet Cong stand put it in line with the Soviet Union, China and North Viet Nam in spurning the Commonwealth peace mission.

PEKING CONFIRMS

Peking's New China news agency also carried the report, made by a spokesman of the external relations commission of the central committee of the South Viet Nam National Front for Liberation (Viet Cong) Tuesday. Peking quoted the spokesman as describing the mission as a "trick of selling horse meat as beefsteak."

'IMPERIALIST SCHEME'

"The South Viet Nam National Front for Liberation holds the view that the 'peace mission' which Wilson is trying to form falls in completely with U.S. imperialism's scheme to check the advance of the national liberation struggle of the South Vietnamese people," the statement went on.

"This mission is only a signboard intended to hide the U.S. aggressive actions under cloak of peace."

The story began when Nong went home to Saigon from his post 30 miles northwest of the capital for a two-day leave.

Heading back to duty after his leave was up, Nong inadvertently left four hand grenades behind in his house. Mrs. Nong found them and went to the post to return them to her husband.

She arrived too late to get back home that night and Nong's commander gave her permission to remain overnight.

Early the next morning, Communist guerrillas attacked the outpost. The Nongs were in a foxhole. He fired his machine-gun while she hurled the grenades.

To Go to War

Woman Walks 30 Miles

SAIGON (UPI) — A Vietnamese housewife travelled 30 miles to deliver four hand grenades to her soldier-husband and then fought side-by-side with him for their lives against the Viet Cong Communists, it was disclosed Friday.

The guerrillas were repulsed but both Pte. Nguyen Thi Nong and his faithful wife were wounded during the fighting.

King Enters Fray: Peace for Asia

PETERSBURG, Va. (UPI)—Martin Luther King said Friday the United States must negotiate a settlement in Viet Nam and announced he was considering joining in "peace rallies" and "teach-ins."

"I'm not going to sit by and see war escalated without saying anything about it," said the Nobel-prize winning civil rights leader in his first venture into foreign policy.

The war in Viet Nam "must be stopped," King said. "It must be a negotiated settlement. We must even negotiate with the Viet Cong."

"We're not going to defeat communism with bombs and guns and gases," he said. "We can never accept communism. We must work this out in the framework of our democracy."

"We can beat communism with democracy, if we make democracy work," he told a rally sponsored by the Virginia branch of his Southern Christian Leadership Conference."

After Dorion Bomb Went Off

The Opposition Just Took Off

The House That Failed to Roar

By FRASER KELLY
Colonist Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Members of Parliament have returned to their ridings leaving behind them empty halls and a session that ended with a bang — and a whimper.

The bang came Tuesday when the Dorion report exploded on the Commons scattering broken careers in all directions.

* * *

The whimper came Wednesday when the Opposition failed to mount a concerted attack on the government over the bombshell report, then sat on its hands while other business was rushed through the Commons.

But the reverberations of the report will be felt through the corridors for days, possibly weeks, to come.

Now there is an unseemly, and highly unusual fight between the government and the Chief Justice Dorion over one of its key findings. At stake is the integrity of Prime Minister Pearson. (See also Page 3.)

Charges will almost certainly be laid against several people as a result of the judge's conclusions. His scorching criticisms of the RCMP could prompt a major shakeup.

* * *

Guy Rouleau, Montreal Liberal, who was accused of "reprehensible" influence peddling while he was parliamentary assistant to Mr. Pearson, will likely resign, voluntarily or otherwise.

And the resignation of Guy Favreau from the justice portfolio will necessitate a cabinet change, if not a major cabinet shakeup.

The session that just ended was relatively short (85 days)
